Good News, and Dreams. 1,650,000 Miles an Hour. If He Returned. John D.'s $10,000,000.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

MAUD S trotted a mile in a little over two minutes and William H. Vanderbilt, who drove, was proud. An Englishman recently drove his automobile 245 miles in one hour, and flying machines have gone above 300 miles an hour.

All that is amazing. But think of Mount Wilson astronomers, "timing" stars that go 1,650,000 miles in a minute, stars distant from us 120,000,000 light years, which means the distance that light could travel in 120,000,000 years, going 186,000 miles a second.

Those swifty moving stars and nebulae are far bigger than our sun, which is a million times bigger than our earth.

Whoever believes that a universe of that size and speed has been managed by chance, without direction, for thousands of millions of years, could believe anything.

MISS CHRISTABEL PANKHURST, daughter of the courageous British suffraget, Emmeline Pankhurst, says she will live to see the second coming of Christ.

It will not mean the world's end, but there will be no doubt about it. He will not come "in poverty, weakness and humility, but in all His majesty, with demonstrations of divine power more miraculous than any of the miracles of modern science."

FIRST IT occurs to you that anything more miraculous than modern science would be very miraculous.

Second, you feel quite sure that if Christ came to earth now, preaching as He preached 1900 years ago, immigration authorities of the United States would keep Him out and advise Him to go to Russia. He told the rich man to divide his wealth among those that had nothing.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, Jr., is building in the heart of Manhattan Island, which is the heart of Greater New York, a group of magnificent buildings, to house a great radio theater, broadcasting station, offices, shops, perhaps a new Metropolitan Grand Opera House.

Mr. Rockefeller's agents have just ordered $10,000,000 worth of steel for his buildings, 125,000 tons of it. "Big Steel" will supply it.

THE ROCKEFELLER enterprise, to be finished in three years, will employ eight to ten thousand men at good wages.

It's a good thing to have many dollars, even a billion or more, assembled in one collection. That makes big things possible, just as a collection of many drops of water at Niagara creates power.

PAYROLLS ARE up throughout the United States 4.7 per cent, with employment increasing. That should cheer you. Reports come from 43,383 industrial and other establishments.

DREAMS COME TRUE. Dreamers are to achievements the future, what old pioneers were to the development of our western lands.

YESTERDAY, Democrats with long memories celebrated the ninety-fourth anniversary of Grover Cleveland's birthday. Gov. Roosevelt, of New York, praised his "rugged honesty."

The best thing about Cleveland was his belief in the United States and its ability to manage its own affairs. Nobody in England would have said to him:

"Send somebody over here, and we shall tell you what kind of ships and how many you may build."

MONEY GOES to New York and stays. Borrowing in Wall street was very easy yesterday. "Call loans" could be had in the street for 1 per cent, 1½ per cent on the stock exchange. If you wanted money for 90 days you could borrow it for 2 per cent.

There is plenty of money, plenty of raw materials, plenty of idle labor. The difficulty is to bring the three together profitably. That takes action and business genius.

IT IS GLOOMY to see men, shackled to prevent escape, at work on highways in various states. You feel that the iron rings on their ankles are on yours, and the weight on their hearts, on yours.

There was nothing gloomy about five shackled men with their guard on the outskirts of Atlanta when the convicts saw a house on fire.

The five men aroused the inmates, led them to safety, then worked in the thick smoke saving household furniture until driven out by flames.

There is little difference in the hearts of men. The difference is in heredity, environment, opportunity.

GUILTY PLEA BY WOMAN IN THEFT

Dormont Bank Clerk Admits Using Money for Lottery; Won $600, Then Lost All

Miss Pearl Ida Ferguson, 37, former teller of the Dormont Savings and Trust Company, pleaded guilty in Criminal Court today to embezzlement of $5,700 of the bank's Christmas savings funds.

Miss Ferguson said she had lost the money playing the numbers lottery.

In pleading guilty Miss Ferguson said:

"I started playing the numbers about May 1. I won $600. Then I kept playing more and more, hoping I would win and could put the money back."

Elmer Hart, of West Liberty avenue and Ray Street, and S. O. Thomas, of 2899 West Liberty avenue, were taken in custody by county detectives late todas as suspected lottery operators. They were implicated in the confession of Miss Ferguson.

Chief of County Detectives George W. Murren, awaiting instructions from District Attorney Andrew T. Park, was holding the two men.

WOMEN APPEAR

Thirty women of the Mt. Lebanon United Presbyterian Church appeared as character witnesses.

Miss Ferguson went back to the county jail in tears after Judge James H. Gray had set her bail at $10,000 and postponed sentence.

State Bank Examiner J. D. Swigart testified against Miss Ferguson. He told of her raising two checks—one from $6 to $64, another from $15 to $300—after the checks had gone through the bank, and of forging a third check for $500, using the name of Alice Blythe.

$600 RETURNED

J. Harry Schloder, an officer of the bank, told Judge Gray that Miss Ferguson had made restitution of $600. Judge Gray then asked Miss Ferguson what she had done with the money. She replied:

"The only thing I did with the money was play the numbers. I got to using the bank's money, playing more money each day. I started to play around the first of May."

Judge Gray:

"What started you?"

Miss Ferguson:

"I don't know. Everybody was doing it and I started playing a few cents. It seemed to fascinate me."

Second Faces Trial In Draves Murder

GARY, Ind., March 20.—(AP.)—David Thompson, who, with Virgil Kirkland and three others was indicted for slaying Arlene Draves, Gary girl, will go on trial April 13, it was announced by Prosecutor Robert Estill.

Kirkland has already been convicted, but is appealing his life-sentence.

RICH WORKING GIRL GUARDED

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—The New York American today said Miss Betty Gerard, working daughter of a wealthy family, had been threatened by unemployed women and had been assigned a police bodyguard.

Mrs. Julian Gerard, her mother, was quoted as follows:

"One woman who telephoned was very definite about getting even with Betty for taking a job she didn't need. In these times Communists are inclined to be more radical than ever, so when other threats came a detective was secured."

ATLANTA, Ga., March 20.—(AP.)—It's Capt. Bobby Jones now.

Word was received here today that President Hoover has appointed Robert Tyre Jones, Jr.—golfer, lawyer, radio speaker and movie star—a captain in the organized reserve of the United States Army.

PRIEST SEES CAB TRUST HERE

Challenges Public Service Commissioner to Deny Ban on 'Independents'

HARRISBURG, March 20.—The Rev. James R. Cox, of Pittsburgh, observer on the House Public Utility Investigation Committee, challenged Public Service Commissioner James W. Brown today to deny that the Parmalee Taxicab Company enjoyed a monopoly in Pittsburgh because independents are refused certificates of public convenience.

He suggested to Brown that no independents can get certificates as long as the Parmalee company opposes them. He said:

"I can give the committee the name of a Parmalee official who boasted that an independent could never get a certificate so long as Parmalee wanted to operate."

CITES INDEPENDENTS

Brown answered:

"I didn't sit in the case, but would say it is untrue. Independents holding certificates through the state out number the corporations between 10 and 20 to 1."

Father Cox again spoke out when the question of publicity for the commission was being discussed. Brown testified he couldn't explain why the commission did not get much favorable publicity to explain its position on various issues.

Father Cox said:

"The papers would be only too glad to publicize you if you gave the people a break once in a while instead of the utilities."

BROWN ADMISSION

During his testimony, Brown admitted the Public Service Commission "could have done, and should have done," more than it has in controlling the issuance of public utilities securities.

Harold Evans, attorney for the committee, obtained the commissioner's opinion on the securities control by referring to the Clarion River Power Company, which has been frequently mentioned during the House and Senate committee hearings and which was the subject of inquiries by the Federal Trade Commission. He liked Brown's interpretation of the Pennsylvania law and was told by the comissioner that the state body has the right to investigate securities issued on "fictitious values" and certify such companies to the state attorney general for legal action.

Commissioner James S. Benn, who succeeded Brown to the stand, blamed the Legislature for not giving the commission power over the issuance of securities of public utilities.

Shouse Warbles Peanut Melody For Senators

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

We will describe peanut politics. It's whistling on another guy's stand.

Peanuts are dug out of the ground. When you have a lot of them you have a bagful. And when you have a bagful you are on the relief committee for the squirrels.

Shouse claims that Senators Hebert and Glenn played goober diplomacy with Senator Wagner's unemployment bill and whirled it around like a haystack in a Kansas twister.

ACCORD IS SEEN ON POLICE BILL

A coal and iron police bill, satisfactory to all concerned, will be the probable outcome of today's conference with Gov. Pinchot in Harrisburg, in the opinion of County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern, one of a group of police, industrial, public and labor leaders, invited to the state Capitol for a conference on the administration bill. The conference was hurriedly called by the Governor following the introduction of the Musmanno bill in the House.

Asserting that he did not believe there was any great breach existing between Musmanno and the administration, McGovern said that it was unfortunate that both sides did not get together before the introduction of the divergent measures.

Kline Opposes Rooney Bill on School Change

Mayor Charles H. Kline today announced his opposition to the Rooney bill, which would rip out the present Board of Education and supplant it with a paid elective board.

After reciting his interest and efforts in establishing the present system and his opposition to anything that would tend to dwarf its effectiveness, the Mayor said:

"I never saw the Rooney bill. I did not know it was to be introduced. I never asked a living soul to support it. I am opposed to its passage and to any others which would change our present system."

SOLIDIFIES OPPOSITION

The Mayor's statement, coming as the Chamber of Commerce prepared for a pilgrimage of a large delegation to Harrisburg to oppose the bill, was expected to solidify the opposition to the bill.

Protests coming from civic organizations, parent-teachers' associations and from prominent citizens mounted today as plans

A derailment at Brookline Junction delayed trolley traffic 16 minutes.

Mabel Normand's Estate to Be Closed

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP.)—Lew Cody, film actor, asked final distribution of the $66,437 estate of his wife, the late Mabel Normand, in a petition filed in Probate Court today.

Cody was willed $1 of this, it being stated he already was provided for, and the balance, consisting chiefly of Beverly Hills real estate and jewelry, will go to Mrs. Mary Drury Normand, mother of the actress.

HOOVER'S SHIP HITS SQUALLS

ABOARD U. S. S. ARIZONA, March 20. — (INS.) — President Hoover, journeying to Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands on a 12-day vacation cruise, had a taste of unpleasant weather today when the Arizona ran into a rain squall soon after breakfast time.

News from the bridge indicated squalls would be encountered intermittently throughout the day. The sea, however, was calm.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—Springing another of her surprises, Mrs. Herbert Hoover last night camped with Mrs. Ray Lyman Wilbur at the latter's lodge in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

It had been expected Mrs. Hoover would go to Asheville, N. Monday night she is to deliver a radio address to the Girl Scouts after which she plans to go to Asheville.

CITIZENS GET REPORT ON FINDINGS

Discoveries by Examiners In Department of Supplies Declared to Be 'Startling'

BULLETIN.

Startling irregularities have been uncovered by the auditors conducting the probe into the Department of Supplies, it was learned late today.

The information has been turned over to the Citizens Committee. No one connected with that committee would discuss the revelations, but it was learned that during the last few days a large amount of valuable information has been uncovered.

The contention that the low bid of the Neptune Meter Company was "unbalanced" was scored by justices in Supreme Court today hearing the appeal of a taxpayers' suit filed by Edward E. Pearlman against the City of Pittsburgh and the Pittsburgh Equitable Meter Company.

The suit is expected to have an important bearing upon the probe into city purchasing methods. Arguments were concluded shortly before noon.

Former United States Senator George Wharton Pepper appeared in behalf of the plaintiff. Assistant City Solicitor Thomas M. Benner represented the City of Pittsburgh and Attorney Lawrence E. Blair, the Equitable Meter Company.

Indicating their apparent disfavor with the lower court's refusal to grant an injunction to prevent the city from awarding a contract for water meters to other than the lowest bidders, the judges frequently interrupted defense counsel.

BIDS "UNBALANCED"

Attorney Benner presented his arguments that the bid of the Neptune Meter Company was ignored by the city because it was "unbalanced." Justice John W. Kephart interrupted him, commenting:

At another point Chief Justice Robert S. Frazer injected:

"Don't you think the small difference between the bids would remove any grounds for

Dreiser Punches Lewis At Literary Dinner

By DAVID P. SENTNER

International News Service.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Sinclair Lewis and Theodore Dreiser, America's two great literary lions, exchanged verbal unpleasantries and Dreiser slapped Lewis twice in the face.

The incident, which occurred following an elite dinner to a small group of the literati last night, was revealed today by several who were present.

The clash between "Red" Lewis, author of "Main Street" and Nobel prize winner, and Dreiser, author of "An American Tragedy," culminated a feud extending over a period of years.

The hostilities at the dinner followed the refusal of Lewis to make a speech because, he said, there were "three men here antagonistic to me and whom I don't like."

Lewis expressed some opinions of Dreiser and Dreiser then slapped the face of Lewis with a resounding smack which went up and down the corridors of literary circles.

Lewis smiled and repeated the expression—in fact it included one short word.

"I said in a speech this afternoon that you are the greatest living American writer and, although I am going to continue to call you that, you are a —— and ——."

Classes Resume at W. & J. After Student Strike

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 20.—No disciplinary action is planned against Washington and Jefferson College students who went on strike demanding the resignation of Dr. Simon S. Baker, president of one of Western Pennsylvania's oldest educational institutions, Dr. Baker said today.

If the students who walked out when Dr. Baker arose to address them in chapel Wednesday morning are to be reprimanded in any way, such action must be recommended by the board of trustees, Dr. Baker said. The board will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday in Pittsburgh, and, it is understood, will consider the student petition demanding Dr Baker's ouster.

Dr. Baker said that the "backbone" of the strike had been broken. Classes were resumed this morning, although the attendance was small. "Cuts" for those absent will be filed in the usual manner, Dr. Baker said, with the final decision in their disposition left to him.

The decision to make an attempt to conduct classes was reached by faculty members who met yesterday at the call of Dr. Baker. The faculty was reported divided on the decision.

ATTORNEY'S ARREST ORDERED IN PLOT TO 'FIX' JURY

2 OTHER MEN SEIZED BY POLICE

Accuse Zappala of Conspiracy For Acquittal of Robber; Defendant Found Guilty

Warrants for the arrest of Attorney Frank Zappala and two other men on charges of embracery and conspiracy, in connection with an alleged attempt to fix the jury hearing a case which Zappa defended in Criminal Court, were to be issued today by Alderman George J. Anderson.

This action followed a conference this morning between Judge James H. Gray and District Attorney Andrew T. Park. Information for the arrests drawn by Assistant District Attorney Harry R. Phillips were turned over to Chief George W. Murren of county detectives.

Barney Gardina, 43, and Bartholomew Bordonaro, 36, Tarentum fruit merchants, the others implicated in the alleged fix, are being held in jail. Zappala, taken from his home to the district attorney's office last night, was released on his own recognizance and ordered to have his bond ready when the information is filed today.

ACCUSED BY JUROR

The investigation started yesterday when Clifford H. Sober, millworker of 103 West Tenth avenue, Tarentum, a juryman on the case, reported to District Attorney Andrew T. Park yesterday morning that Gardina had approached him Tuesday night at his home and had asked him to help the defendant on trial, Samuel Molesa, of 1013 Webster avenue.

Molesa was found guilty on all of five charges of robbery and one of carrying concealed weapons in a sealed verdict returned yesterday morning before Judge C. M. Culver, of Bradford County. He was charged with the holdup of five members of a section gang on the Pittsburgh and West Virginia Railroad last October.

EACH JUROR QUIZZED

County Detective J. E. Weber went to Tarentum and brought in Gardina. Meanwhile Judge Gray, the presiding judge in Criminal Court, interviewed each one of the jurors, but only Sober had been approached, the District Attorney said. After the jurors had been dismissed at 5 o'clock, Judge Gray and District Attorney Park and his assistants, Roy T. Clunk, E. T. Adair and J. E. Kalson, questioned Gardina. District Attorney Park said that they obtained from the suspect the name of Bordonaro, who was then brought in for questioning.

Gardina, according to Park, said that Bordonaro had requested him to see Sober in an attempt to "fix" the case. Bordonaro, Park said, declared that he had been delegated by Zappala to see Gardina and arrange for him to see Sober. Attorney Zappala and the two others were questioned for more than four hours, after which Zappala was permitted to go home and the others were lodged in jail.

POLE FLIER OFF TO HUNT VIKING CASTAWAYS

Bernt Balchen and 2 Others Hop for Icy Waste Where Movie Ship Exploded, Sank

BOSTON, March 20.—Bound on an errand of mercy, and daring icy gales raging over the North Atlantic, the Viking disaster rescue-relief airplane, carrying Bernt Balchen, famous polar birdman, and two intrepid flying companions, took off at 10:52 a. m. today on a 1,000-mile dash to the frozen wastes of Newfoundland.

Balked for more than 24 hours—first by insufficient gasoline capacity of his plane, and then by adverse flying weather off the Canadian coast—Balchen, Randy Enslow, co-pilot, and J. Merion Cooper logged the first leg of their dramatic and hazardous northward flight, to succor possible survivors of the blast-burned picture expedition ship Viking, from East Boston airport to the flying field at St. Johns, N. B.

400-MILE HOP

From St. Johns, if the icy gales, snow, rain, sleet and "low ceilings" permit, the flight will continue onward to Newfoundland.

The giant amphibian was due in St. Johns, 400 miles away, in approximately four hours, according to estimates. Head winds, but otherwise fair flying conditions, prevailed between Boston and St. Johns.

Roy Gates, another airman, had planned to make the air trek into the ice wastes to search for survivors or bodies of survivors of the Viking, but at the eleventh hour it was announced that he was not going.

'27 WENT DOWN WITH SHIP'

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Twenty-seven of the 28 missing members of the Viking movie ship's company are believed to have gone down with the ship after it exploded Sunday, a message to Bowring & Co., owners, said today.

The message was sent last night by Eric Bowring, at St. John's, and received this morning. It said:

"Imogene today landed men with food supplies and got Viking survivers off to the Sagona. Is tightly jammed in effort to reach island, but hopeful change of conditions will free. Have done splendid work. Twenty-eight unaccounted for. Believe all these, with possibly one exception whose tracks show he was drowned, went down with the Viking."

RESCUE FLIGHT LAST HOPE

ST. JOHNS, N. F., March 20.—(INS.)—With 127 survivors of the destroyed sealing ship Viking safe aboard rescue ships near Horse Island, the last hope for the finding of 28 missing members of the Varick Frissell film expedition in Newfoundland's ice-jammed region was centered today on the air rescue expedition, under Bernt Balchen, organized in Boston.

Rescue parties from three sealers dragged food and medical supplies over five miles of treacherous ice to the hungry victims sheltered in five fishermen's huts on the bleak shore, but further clues as to the fate of Frissell and A. G. Penrod, his assistant, were not available.

Doctors administered first aid to those injured in Sunday's explosion, which shattered the stern of the Viking before fire burned the 50-year-old vessel to the water's edge. Later all of the survivors, who had been subsisting on rations of tea and biscuits, were transferred to the rescue ships Imogene and Sagona.

VERNE SEES WILKINS' SUCCESS

'What Man Can Imagine, Man Can Do,' Author's Grandson Tells Explorer

Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 20.—"What man can imagine, man can do!"

Sir Hubert Wilkins, explorer, who is preparing to sail a submarine boat under the ice to the North Pole, received that message from Jules Verne today.

The message was delivered by the celebrated author's grandson, Jean Jules Verne, who arrived from Paris on the Lafayette to christen the Wilkins ship of adventure Nautilus, after the vessel which the elder Verne guided 20,000 leagues under the sea" through two novels.

"SURE OF SUCCESS"

Jean Verne, after repeating the message concerning human ability to vindicate human imagination, explained:

"My grandfather told me that, and I transmit it to you. I was a boy of 12 when he died, but I have never forgotten it.

"I wish to express my admiration for you in attempting this feat. It almost surpasses anything that my grandfather dreamed of. I am sure that it is not only possible—but that you will succeed."

Asked if he would not like to join the polar party, M. Verne, who is a small, slim, thoughtful man, brightened at the suggestion, then after a pause, explained:

"But I am the advocate—the district attorney—at Rouen, and my duty is there—and is not the full crew of the ship enlisted?"

Capt. Wilkins smilingly assured him there was no room for another man, and M. Verne expressed pleasure at that condition. They chatted for an hour at the Hotel St. Moritz where the visitor hurried, after leaving the Lafayette, guided by Mrs. Sloan Danenhower, wife of the commander of the submarine.

NAUTILUS DELAYED

Sir Hubert had hoped that the Nautilus would arrive in New York yesterday in time to greet the Lafayette down the bay. But the submarine was held at Clayton, Del., by adverse weather conditions.

The adventure ship will be christened at Brooklyn Navy Yard on Tuesday morning. M. Verne said this was his first visit to America and declared he planned to follow the itinerary of his famous ancestor, who came across on the steamer Great Eastern and went as deeply into the "interior" of the United States as Washington and Niagara Falls.

DENIES BOAST IN PRISON FAKE

ERIE, Pa., March 20.—(AP.)—Attorney Samuel Y. Rossiter denied today at his trial on a conspiracy charge that a "speech" he made after alleged liquor smugglers pleaded guilty in Federal Court at Pittsburgh concerned the case of the alleged smugglers.

Joseph Warner, a government witness, testified yesterday that Rossiter stood on a table in a room at the Fort Pitt Hotel in Pittsburgh after Warner had pleaded guilty to the liquor charge and said:

"We put it over."

Rossiter testified today that the "speech" was only a recitaton of a brief, humorous poem. The government charges Rossiter, Lester Beals and Joseph Donovan conspired to have Warner plead guilty to the liquor smuggling charge as a substitute for Stanley Wells, of Colburg, Ont. The government claims Wells was the man arrested on Lake Erie by Coast Guards and that Warner subsequently was substituted for him to serve a 60-day jail sentence.

Attorney Max Schoonmaker, of Pittsburgh, testified he was in the Fort Pitt Hotel room and heard Rossiter speaking from atop a table. He said he did not hear him say, "We put it over," and that the discussion had nothing to do with the liquor smuggling case.

The disturbance that was centered over Colorado is now centered over Oklahoma, lowest barometer, 29.64 inches, at Oklahoma City. It is producing cloudy weather over the entire South and light and heavy rain in Southern Kansas and Oklahoma. The disturbance that was centered over West Virginia is now over the Middle Atlantic Coast. It is still snowing in Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey. High pressure is centered over the Great Lakes and covers most of the eastern half of the country. It is attended by clear skies over most of the lake region and the Ohio Valley states. Temperature changes were upward colder over the eastern half of the country.

FOOD SUIT WON BY CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, March 20.—The City of Cleveland has won its suit against A. K. Hoare, former city purchasing agent, and other defendants charged with defrauding the city of $12,155 through overcharges on foodstuffs furnished the city hospital. Also named in the suit were Edward and Nate Heiser and the Heiser Brothers Company, commission merchants.

The city claimed in its suit to recover the money that Hoare conspired with Heiser Brothers in overcharging the city from 1924 to 1926. Testimony was introduced that the city was charged $75 for a bushel of beets delivered by the Heiser Brothers Company.

The fraud hearing began February 16. During the trial "beets for $75 a bushel," ran like a theme song. The defendants denied there was conspiracy to defraud the city or overcharges or shortages on foodstuffs purchased by the hospital.

In addition to the finding for recovery of the $12,155 from Hoare and the merchants, the jury brought in an award of $500 against the Royal Indemnity Company, which bonded Hoare.

Supreme Court Jurists Criticize Defense in City Meter Bids

suspicion by the director that the lower bidder could not fulfil his contract?"

Benner admitted to the court that the Neptune Meter Company had put up a bond for the fulfilment of its contract. He also admitted that the company was financially responsible and said that the South Pittsburgh Water Company had used hundreds of meters.

$12,000 INVOLVED

The bid of the Neptune Meter Company was 42 cents per meter lower than the Pittsburgh Equitable bid, involving, according to counsel, about $12,000 difference on 25,000 meters expected to be supplied city customers during the next few years.

Justice Kephart, at one time inquired as to the location of the two companies, to which Chief Justice Frazer replied:

"It is not a question of location or how many people employed. It is a question of high and low bids."

Attorney Blair in his arguments undertook to explain "unbalanced" bids. He said that companies frequently bid low on items which it considers the prospective purchaser has overestimated, and submits a high bid on parts he thinks has been under-estimated. The three justices commented that this did not apply in the pending case.

CHARGES FAVORITISM

Senator Pepper in his arguments declared that the award of the contract to the higher bidder was "an example of favoritism in an objectionable form," adding:

"This is not a proper exercise of official discretion as allowed by law. I have seldom seen a case that calls for a reversal of the court below more than this case."

He contended that the Neptune bid was not "unbalanced" as the law defines "unbalanced" bids.

Concluding, Pepper charged:

"It is not the bid that was unbalanced—it was the discretion of the director."

NEW SPECIFICATIONS

New specifications for materials bought by the city, procured by Controller James P. Kerr from a number of distant municipalities, were being adopted today in the Department of Supplies by Kerr and Col. W. R. Dunlap, director.

The work will take several days, according to the Controller. He said that when the job is finished any possibility of competition being stifled on bids will be eliminated.

When irregularities in the department were charged several weeks ago, resulting in the dismissal by Mayor Kline of Col. Bertram Succop, director, Dr. Kerr queried a number of cities for specifications on materials. So far he has received complete lists of specifications from the state, the United States Department of Commerce, New York City, Cincinnati, Detroit and other cities.

Under the old regime, according to Dr. Kerr, the specifications were inadequate. Bidders were unable to determine what the city desired and what materials or supplies should be furnished. The inadequacy was also admitted by Mayor Kline when he sent a letter to Council reporting on his secret investigation at the department's methods.

Replying to a question concerning reports that contracts have been awarded by the Department of Supplies for political reasons, Assistant District Attorney William H. Colvin, who is in charge of the county's probe, said:

"That is the vital thing and those questions will be gone into. They are not going to catch me without any information."

Will Rogers Balked As Hot Dog Seller

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP.)—Will Rogers is going to stick to the joke business. Recently he bought some beach frontage and later decided the location was ideal for a gasoline station and a hot dog stand. He asked for a permit, whereupon residents living near the property began filing protests. So many came in that Rogers withdrew his request.

CHAMBER HITS COUNCIL STAND

The Chamber of Commerce, voicing strong disapproval of the action of City Council in refusing taxpayers an open hearing on the conduct of the Department of Supplies, last night declared for a complete investigation by the public, and directed the officers and directors to support all movements to bring about greater efficiency of operation to the departments of administrative Pittsburgh.

The chamber's action declared the public interest shown in demanding an explanation of alleged irregularities in the Department of Supplies should be commended as an evidence of good citizenship, and that Council, in refusing an open investigation, denies the rights of citizens.

The chamber has declared it will support all efforts to obtain a public hearing.

Mt. Lebanon Home Damaged by Fire

House furnishing, valued at $25,000, were damaged and partially destroyed today when flames swept the Mt. Lebanon residence of L. W. Griffith, district representative of Armour & Co., 64 Mt. Lebanon boulevard. Calls were sent to the Dormont fire department, but the Mt. Lebanon firemen stated they were able to control the fire unassisted, which was confined chiefly to the upper floor. Hysterics and suffering from shock, Mrs. Griffith was taken to a neighbor's home.

Army Flier Killed As Plane Crashes

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—(INS.)—Second Lieut. August C. Norris Favors Pinchot Or Roosevelt for '32

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—The governors of Pennsylvania and New York equally fit Senator Norris' pattern of "Another Roosevelt" for the White House.

Norris, the chairman of the recent Progressive conference, said today his statement that the country needed "Another Roosevelt" for President was merely rhetorical and reiterated the assertion that he had no particular individual in mind at the time. He said:

"I meant the country needs a President who stands for the things Theodore Roosevelt stood for."

In answer to a question, he said Gov. Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, "most emphatically" met that standard. Likewise Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, a Progressive Democrat, Norris added, could be considered in the same category.

Norris emphasized that he did not consider the two governors as being any more progressive than other leaders in the movement in their respective parties.

He said:

"There are other Republicans in the Senate who come just as close to Theodore Roosevelt's principals as Pinchot, and I have no doubt but that there are Democrats in the country who are as progressive minded as Gov. Roosevelt."

Already conceding President Hoover's renomination by the Republican party in 1932, Norris has refused to say whether he would repeat his bolt of 1928 to the Democratic party in the event Roosevelt is nominated.

Coolidge Urges Fair Chance for Railroads

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 20.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

Among the other sources of surplus now appears transportation. With the decline of trade the movement of passengers and freight has decreased about 25 per cent. The railroads have 650,000 idle freight cars.

Mr. Coolidge

This situation is aggravated by the motor bus and truck. The country has expended large amounts in the past 20 years for hard-surfaced highways. This provides a free right of way for the commercial motor. With the present low cost of gasoline even after paying the tax, with no regulation of rates and service, with some overloading and consequent injury to roads and bridges, this is a competition which the railroads charge is unfair. They want their competitors placed on an equal basis with themselves, either by removing the restrictions on the railroads or placing similar restrictions on motors.

There is much force in this proposal. Both services might benefit by some division of long and short haul, heavy and light freight. The railroads are a public necessity. The government, in taking charge of them, has rendered them unable to protect themselves. Public welfare demands an equal chance for them in a fair field.

Rushing Work on U. S. Dirigible That 'Red' Planned to Wreck

INSTALLING AT AKRON, O., EIGHT MAYBACH MOTORS THAT FROM WITHIN GREAT BAG WILL DRIVE PROPELLORS OF "U. S. AKRON" ON 17-FOOT SHAFTS

Nationwide Air Plot Laid To Reds; Destruction Of Dirigible Foiled

CLEVELAND, O., March 20.—(AP.)—Discovery of the alleged plot to wreck the giant dirigible Akron was the outgrowth of an investigation of a reported widespread sabotage plot against aircraft in this country, it was revealed today.

C. F. Barndt, general manager of the Great Lakes Aircraft Corporation, said the crash of a Navy bombing plane at San Diego September 28, 1930, started the investigation, which was climaxed at Akron last night with the arrest of Paul F. Kassay and his alleged confession of plans to wreck the huge dirigible.

PILOT KILLED

One of the pilots of the bombing plane was killed when the ship mysteriously crashed. It was one of 18 planes built and delivered last spring by the Great Lakes company in Cleveland.

Paul Kassay

Subsequent investigation, Barndt said, showed that someone had weakened the wings so that eventually they would collapse. Two planes which had already passed rigid factory inspection were found to be defective.

Investigators of the San Diego tragedy followed the trail back to the factory where Kassay had been employed as a mechanic. He later went to work on the Akron dirigible and while the investigation continued the alleged plot to wreck this big craft also was discovered.

CONFESSES PLOT

Kassay, trapped by Department of Justice agents, confessed, they said, that he meant to see that the dirigible never took to the air. William J. McDermott, assistant U. S. district attorney, said Kassay planned to weaken the top of the dirigible's metal skeleton by omitting rivets and had planned to get into the control room before the scheduled launching of this ship early this summer.

The Akron, now in final stages of construction, is designed to be the world's most formidable fighting ship and is to be operated by the United States Navy.

Kassay was described as a Communist and as a war-time captain in the Austro-Hungarian Navy.

Legion Thanks Greek Premier for Favors

ATHENS, Greece, March 20.—(AP.)—Premier Venizelos was presented today by Anthony Blase, president of the Athens post of the American Legion, with a copy of a resolution passed by the executive committee of the legion at Indianapolis last November, thanking him for granting a site for an American community center in Athens and a site on which can be built a monument to American friends of Greece in its war for independence.

PRINTER SEIZED IN SONG 'THEFT'

Deputy United States Marshal John F. Austin confiscated a double printing plate in a printing shop at 1200 Webster avenue today and arrested Victor Frediana, 24, on a charge of infringement of the copyright law, upon complaint of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers that he had printed and sold popular songs which were copyrighted.

"Hello, Beautiful," published by Donaldson, Douglas & Gumble, was the specific song mentioned in the complaint. The society informed the Department of Justice that during the past two years $1,500,000 has been lost to composers and publishers because of the activities of printers and distributors of popular song sheets which are sold on the streets. It claims that 150,000 of these sheets are sold in the Pittsburgh district each month.

Dorothy Sills Weds; Daughter of Actor

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Miss Dorothy Sills, daughter of the late Milton Sills, screen actor, became the bride of Robert Swayze Way, son of Mrs. Glover Way, of East Orange, N. J., at the Little Church Around the Corner yesterday. The marriage was performed by the Rev. Randolph Ray, rector.

Headache Champ Feeling Better, May Lose Job

CHICAGO, March 20.—(AP.)—It doesn't sound reasonable, perhaps, but Theodore Roberts was unhappy today because he was feeling so well. It looks as though he's going to lose his job as the champion headache producer.

Since January Roberts has been getting his board and room and $50 a month at the University of Illinois research hospital, where the doctors have been seeking the cause and cure for migraine headaches. He was chosen from among 750 applicants as having the biggest and best migraine on record.

But now Roberts has heard the sad news from the doctors that he hasn't a migraine at all. He's had lots of aches, but they have all yielded to ordinary treatments.

ADMITS FIRING STEAMBOAT

Admitting that he had set fire to the steamer Greater Pittsburgh, Robert Taylor, 26, Negro, of 7618 Somerset street, was held for court on an arson charge today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court.

The Greater Pittsburgh, formerly the excursion steamer Homer Smith, moored in the Ohio river at the foot of Paige street, North Side, burned to the water's edge a week ago.

Taylor was taken in custody by police yesterday after he had accosted Patrolman Harry Stroup, declaring, police say, that he had fired a number of houses "for a thrill." Taylor is said to have told police that he set fire to a Pennsylvania Railroad freight car near Nadine, a cottage at New Kensington and a house in Verona. Detectives say a check-up had confirmed his confession.

WALKER'S CASE BEING STUDIED

ALBANY, N. Y., March 20.—(INS.)—Gov. Roosevelt may reach a decision within a few days on the charges filed with him demanding the removal of Mayor Walker, of New York, it was persistently reported today at the Capitol.

Unless there is a last-minute switch in his plans, the Governor will motor to his country home at Hyde Park, either late today or tomorrow morning. He will take with him a copy of the charges filed against Walker by the Rev. John Haynes Holmes and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, chairman and vice chairman of the City Affairs Committee.

Regardles of what action Gov. Roosevelt may take in the Walker charges, Republican leaders at the capital are still confident that before the present session of the Legislature adjourns early next month, a resolution providing for a legislative probe of New York City will be adopted by the Senate.

End Hunt for Flier In Panama Jungles

COLON, Panama, March 20.—(INS.)—Search was abandoned by the United States Navy today for Pilot Berne Warren Harshman, Navy flier missing since he took off from the deck of the aircraft carrier Langley on Tuesday. Two hundred army and navy planes had unsuccessfully scoured the Panama jungles for the missing flier.

PRISONERS FIGHT FOR FREEDOM

Men Confined in Cell Block Smash Glass, Clamor for Release; Warden Testifies

JOLIET, Ill., March 20.—(AP.)—Prisoners in cell house "F" at Stateville sought to stage a riot and escape from their cells today. The riot was short-lived. No prisoners were released. The disturbance consisted principally of breaking of glass in the cell bars and yelling and cursing.

The disturbance was in cell house "F," the northerly block of the four circular houses in the new prison.

The outbreak came while state legislators were hearing the testimony of Warden Henry C. Hill, in his office at the old penitentiary. A messenger brought word to the warden. With Col. Frank D. Whipp, state prison superintendent, and all extra guards, Warden Hill rushed across the river to the scene. The special legislative committee adjourned without formality and took automobile to Stateville to see the riot first hand.

Boos greeted the legislators at the old penitentiary as they made the tour accompanied by prison guards, leaving Warden Henry C. Hill, Superintendent of Prisons Frank D. Whipp and State Director Rodney Brandon, of the Department of Public Welfare, in the prison office.

Solitary cells in both prisons, the "screen"—a milder sort of solitary, the "chairs," the dining room and a sample of prison food, were visted on the tour, in addition to the scenes of fire and riot damage.

Hunger apparently made all, except 680 prisoners, who have thus far refrained from trouble-making, more surly—and the disrespect they hurled through the bars at the legislative committee quickened the steps of the lawmakers and sent them for longer visit in other places beside the cell blocks.

SIFT 2 MURDERS OF HUSBANDS

NEW YORK, March 20.—New York, blase to sudden death by machine gun, revolver and dagger, today was confronted with two murder mysteries, each committed by a common household utensil—a hammer in one case and a screwdriver in the other.

The victims in both murders were husbands leading an average middle-class existence. The wives in both cases were undergoing grilling by police today.

The "hammer murder" involved Hyman Diller, druggist, who kept a "sleeping apartment" in addition to the home in which his wife, Mrs. Mamie Diller, and their two children lived. He was found beaten to death in his home.

A petite young blonde was being hunted by detectives for questioning in connection with the murder.

In the "screwdriver murder," Cornelius Kahlen, 61, real estate man, was found dead in his apartment with 40 wounds. Kahlen lived quietly and was reported to be a millionaire.

Mario Morimarco, youthful handyman and protege of Mrs. Kahlen, has taken the blame for the murder.

3 NATIONS HUNT U. S. FLIERS

MANILA, March 20.—(AP.)—While hope was virtually abandoned for two American fliers believed to have plunged to their deaths off Mindanao Island, three governments joined today in a search for another pilot unreported since he took off from Macao, China, early yesterday on a 600-mile flight across the China Sea to Manila.

Glenn W. Brophy, Los Angeles aviator, left Macao at 8:45 a. m. yesterday. He was to have arrived at Manila yesterday afternoon. Today he was sought by airplanes, fast United States warships and Philippine and Portuguese officials.

F. A. Diekhoff, of San Francisco, and William Scott, Manila, generally were regarded as dead. A pontoon of Diekhoffs hydro-airplane was found in the Pacific ocean off the bleak eastern coast of Mindanao last Saturday. No other trace of the fliers was found.

TAKES OFF FOR WEST IN PLANE

Explains Journey Is Mixed Business-Pleasure Jaunt; Will Visit Hearst Ranch

After spending the morning in Pittsburgh Senator James J. Davis took off this afternoon by airplane from Bettis Field for the West, first denying that he was considering resigning his office to enter the motion picture industry. He will arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow night.

The western trip is for business and a vacation. He explained that, while Secretary of Labor, he collected considerable data on the picture industry and that he intends to add to this store now. He acknowledged that he had had several offers of positions in the picture business—in fact, several years ago the late Marcus Loew asked him to play a part in a picture Loew wanted to make of Davis' autobiography, "The Iron Puddler."

The Senator arrived at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Station and was met by his secretary, Fred W. Jones. He then went to his office in the Farmers Bank Building.

Answering the question as to what difference he noticed in the responsibilities of being a Senator and a members of the President's cabinet, Senator Davis said:

"As a Senator I don't have anything to do until December 1. When I was a member of the cabinet I always had something to worry about."

While Senator Davis is in the West Mrs. Davis will be searching for a summer home near Valley Forge. The family plans to rent a home in the state for the summer months rather than spend their vacation at Atlantic City, as they had previously done.

As Davis left Washington late yesterday, the Senate Lobby Committe announced that its investigation of charges of lobbying in the interest of a sugar tariff, demanded by Davis, could be postponed indefinitely.

While in California Senator Davis plans to visit William Randolph Hearst, at whose ranch he will be a guest for several days. The trip will last about three weeks.

STATE POLICEMEN POSTED IN THE WOODWORK SHOP AT JOLIET; RIOTING CONVICTS DID THEIR WORST TO THE PLACE

DID NOT ACCUSE GOV. PINCHOT --MUSMANNO

Assemblyman Denies He Charged Executive With Favoring Coal Operators

Denying that he had questioned the sincerity of Gov. Pinchot in a discussions of industrial police, as was quoted in dispatches from Harrisburg, Representative M. A. Musmanno today issued the following statement:

"A telegraphic dispatch from Harrisburg has quoted me as saying, 'It seems Gov. Pinchot has chosen to throw his lot with the coal industries rather than with the people of Western Pennsylvania.' This quotation, attributed to me on the floor of the House, is incorrect, as an examination of the stenographic records of the House Official Journal will show.

"I have at no time questioned the sincerity of Gov. Pinchot in his desire to rid Pennsylvania of the coal and iron police evil. In every utterance of mine, where I have disagreed with the Governor on this subject, I have always prefaced the statement with the declaration of my belief in his sincerity and integrity.

STANDS FIRM FOR PLAN

"This does not mean, however, that I must abandon a plan which those of Western Pennsylvania, who know the situation best, have indorsed as being the logical solution of the problem, merely because the Governor does not approve it. Just before the beginning of the Governor's administration, he told me that I was entitled to my opinion as much as he was entitled to his, and, in this spirit of honestly differing with each other, I proposed my plan and now he has proposed his.

"I honestly believe his plan to be untenable and unacceptable, especially to those in the mining regions, who have suffered so much from the depredations of the coal and iron police. I honestly believe that under the present Pinchot plan the industrial police would have less restraint placed upon them than under the original coal and iron police law of 1866. I honestly believe that if the Pinchot bill were to pass, it would mean retrogression instead of progress in this field.

SEES PINCHOT SINCERE

"Gov. Pinchot does not think this way and he is conscientious in his conclusions. I certainly do not intimate that he is influenced by any other cause than a desire to do what in his honest opinion he deems best for the people.

"I think that House Bill No. 1 solves the coal and iron police problem fairly from every angle and I intend to devote every energy to the passage of that bill, and I hope to call on Gov. Pinchot's friends to help me pass it, without, in any way, asking them to decrease their admiration and respect for him, in which I also participate."

O'Neill, superintendent of police of the Carnegie Steel Company.

Attorney Grier said he did not plan to attend the conference.

Fagan said yesterday that he would support the Musmanno bill. He insists that the measure of Gov. Pinchot is not effective for the reason that under it private police are given the same prerogatives as township constables. The Musmanno bill, on the other hand, Fagan said, confines the coal and iron police to the property where they are employed.

Others in the delegation who this morning were en route to Harrisburg, said they were going to Harrisburg with "open minds."

KLINE OPPOSES SCHOOL BOARD CHANGE

Executive Declares Against Rooney Bill; Delegation Takes Fight to Capital

for the demonstration were being made.

Senator Frank J. Harris, in a statement declared that he was going to do all in his power to defeat the bill. The Chamber of Commerce has gone on record as opposing the Rooney bill and also opposing a similar bill proposed by Representative Root of Philadelphia. The Root bill is declared to be milder than that proposed by Rooney and it does not set the salaries.

MEETING MONDAY

A campaign against the Rooney bill will be started Monday by the Pittsburgh Parent-Teachers Association at a meeting to be held in the administration building of the Board of Education. Representatives of the various units of the organization will be asked to send telegrams to members of the Legislature voicing their objections to the bill.

The Chamber of Commerce is planning the pilgrimage. There will be numerous delegations representing the various civic, educational and groups. James Rae, president of the Chamber, declared that the elective school board system was simply the demand by some politicians to furnish them with additional office holders to be made pawns and favors of political factions.

Requests for a public hearing on the bills were made at a meeting of civic and educational groups yesterday in the William Penn Hotel. The meeting was held through efforts of the Civic Club of Allegheny County. A joint committee to demand the public hearing was named. Telegrams were sent to Gov. Gifford Pinchot and to Chairman Thomas B. Wilson of the House Educational Committee.

HARRIS STATEMENT

In his statement Senator Harris said:

"The bill now before the Pennsylvania Legislature, which aims to change the present school system of Pittsburgh by wiping out the Board of Public Education appointed by the court, in my opinion, is an unwise piece of legislation, and should be defeated.

"I do not hesitate to announce unqualifiedly that I am opposed to it, will cast my vote against it, and will devote all the energy I possess and whatever personal influence I may have among my friends in the House and the Senate to defeat it.

"The public school system must not be drawn into politics. Let politicians keep their hands off and let every citizen of Pennsylvania, who has at heart the interests of the state and of the people, rally to defeat any attempt to interfere with our public school system.

"The Board of Public Education, as at present constituted, and in the past, is and has been composed of men and women of the highest integrity, finest intelligence and undoubted ability. They have all given freely of their time and their energy, without pay, to the upbuilding of the splendid public school system we have today.

NO PUBLIC DEMAND

"I find nowhere any public demand for the proposed change. On the contrary, there is every evidence that public sentiment is aroused against any such change, and is very strongly in favor of permitting the Board of Public Education to continue the very praiseworthy work it has been doing.

"Should this bill be passed by the House, before which body it is now pending, it will then be sent to the Committee on Education of the Senate. I happen to have the honor of being a member of this committee, and if the bill comes before us for consideration, I promise you I will do my utmost to have it defeated in committee. Should it be reported out of the committee, I will oppose it on the floor of the Senate with all the vigor I can command. The taxpayers of Pittsburgh may rest assured it will never be enacted into law without a determined and earnest fight against it all along the line."

The organization represented in the fight and members forming representation on the joint committee are the Civic Club of Allegheny County, President Maurice R. Scharff, Arthur Scully, Dr. Ralph Boots and K. D. Magruder; Principals' Association, president, Elizabeth Wolfe; Pennsylvania State Educational Association, John H. Adams; Pittsburgh Parent-Teachers Association, president, Mrs. C. A. Rehtmeyer; Pittsburgh Teachers Association, president, Miss Adline Van Kirk; Association of Administration of Women in Education, president, Miss Grace Swan; Allied Boards of Trade, A. V. Snell, C. V. Shoup and President Harry Bastow; Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, Thomas Dunn and Donald Howard; Allegheny County League of Women Voters, Mrs. C. B. Gould.

Two members of the Board of Public Education, Dr. A. L. Lewin and N. R. Criss, attended the meeting at the request of the Civic Club.

Following a listing of the organizations represented, the telegram to Chairman Wilson read:

"Their representatives today voted unanimously to oppose House bills 845 and 36 and request a public hearing before your committee at its earliest convenience, at which all the above organizations and other residents of Pittsburgh interested in keeping school system out of politics desire to be represented and heard."

Kline's Objections to Rooney Bill

Senator Clarence C. Kline today declared his objections to the Rooney bill, which would throw the school board into politics. Following is the Senator's position in the matter, as announced in a letter to electors:

1—I have always regarded our non-sectarian public school system as the bulwark of all our greatness as a free people.

2—Throughout my public career I have been a stout and unyielding champion of our public schools, particularly in the legislative halls of Pennsylvania, where I repeatedly fought for larger appropriations for our entire educational system, to the end that our boys and girls might enjoy benefits not surpassed by any in the world.

3—When the people of Pittsburgh showed unmistakable signs of desiring a change from the old elective system, as a member of the State Senate, I supported the bill which gave them our present appointive board and during the remainder of my term in that body opposed any change that would dwarf its activities for good.

4—Under the appointive board system, which I helped to create, Pittsburgh public schools have made marvelous progress and today have reached a point of efficiency which are second to none.

5—During my five years as Mayor, I have co-operated with the present appointive school board whenever called upon, as members thereof will state.

6—I have been and am opposed to permitting any political management of our public schools.

7—I never saw the Rooney bill. I did not know it was to be introduced. I have never asked a living soul to support it. I am opposed to its passage and to any others which would change our present system.

8—I have never authorized any statements which would justify newspaper comments which picture me as anything but a firm and abiding friend of our American public schools.

Dead Congressman's Son Urged for Office

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—A young writer of modern fiction may represent one of the oldest constituencies in a proud southern state as the "baby" of the Seventy-second Congress. Barely meeting the constitutional requirement that House members be at least 25 years old, James B. Aswell, Jr., son of the veteran Louisiana Democrat who died Monday, has been deluged with requests from friends that he run to succeed his father.

FEAR 250 DEAD IN SHIPWRECK

SHANGHAI, March 20.—(AP)—Unconfirmed waterfront reports today said 250 persons drowned when the French steamer Chantkiarie struck a rock and sank in the China Sea off Amoy March 16.

The Chantkiarie carried 300 passengers and crew. Of these, reports said, only 50 were saved.

Millionaire Colony Threatened by Fire

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., March 20.—(AP)—A fire which threatened to devastate a part of the Montecito millionaire colony near here was brought under control by 200 men early today after it had burned 2,000 acres of grass and brush.

MD. BLUE LAW FOES PUSH BILL

ANNAPOLIS, March 20.—(AP)—Baltimore moved one more step toward Sunday entertainments when the House of Delegates adopted a favorable report of the Baltimore delegation on the second D'Alesandro measure, exempting the city from operation of the ancient statutes in that one respect.

The vote of the House was 67 to 42, more than a constitutional majority needed for final passage. The first D'Alesandro measure was held by its opponents to be unconstitutional in that it delegated legislative powers to the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore.

The second bill was drawn as an exemption of the city from operation of the blue laws and providing restrictions and a special license for persons operating moving pictures on the Sabbath.

Bliss Art Works Go to Institutions

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—Fifteen institutions receive famous works of art from the Bliss collection under terms of the will of Miss Lizzie P. Bliss, art patron and daughter of Cornelius N. Bliss, a member of President McKinley's cabinet.

Four New York charitable institutions receive $350,000, while large cash bequests are left close relatives.

Sunshine, Showers In Court; Must Be Spring

Woman Once Capital Society Figure Dies

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—Mrs. Edward Lawrence Hunt, wife of the Rev. Edward Lawrence Hunt, founder of the Good-Will Union, and daughter of the late Senator Benjamin F. Rice, of Arkansas, died at her home yesterday.

Her girlhood and early married life were spent in Washington where during the Harrison, Cleveland and McKinley administrations she was active in social affairs.

4TH TRY MADE TO FREE DAISY

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP)—Daisy De Voe, former secretary to Clara Bow of the films, serving an 18-month county jail sentence for theft of funds of Miss Bow, made her fourth attempt to obtain her liberty.

Her attorney filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the District Court of Appeals, alleging the probation statute giving a trial court power to imprison a defendant in the county jail as a condition of probation, was unconstitutional and void.

VOTING BOOTH STIRS PROTEST

A new galvanized voting booth built recently at the end of Lager street, near Hatteras street, Troy Hill, is causing considerable agitation in the neighborhood.

L. A. Stephen, 1547 Hatteras street, claims the booth was built without consulting nearby property owners, and that the county did not post zoning notices for the erection of the building. He said:

"In the next block we have a playground of several acres where this voting booth could have been placed to better advantage."

Neighborhood children had created a miniature park on the spot where the booth now stands. They had planted trees, flowers and grass, and put a bench there.

Radio Lulls Man To Sleep, Pipe Fires Clothes

SHARON, Pa., March 20.—"Slumber Hour" lived up to its name for Paul Shingledecker, of West Middlesex, who fell asleep setting in front of the radio. The program was all over when excessive heat awakened him. His pipe had set fire to his clothes. Shingledecker was badly burned before he and his son could extinguish the blaze.

SETON ATTAINS TRAINING LAND

SANTA FE, N. M., March 20.—(AP)—Ernest Thompson Seton, noted naturalist and writer, announced that, effective May 1, the headquarters for the Woodcrafters League of America, of which he is the head, will be moved from New York City to Santa Fe, N. M. He said:

"This marks the achievement of a dream conceived more than 40 years ago."

Seton has purchased the old De Vargas land grant, four miles from Santa Fe, and there has started construction of a model Indian village where leaders in woodcraft and outdoor organizations of youth will be trained.

JOSEPH HORNE CO

Your Easter Hat

"Hallelujah, Hallelujah," sang the choir overhead,
"Hardly knew you! Hardly knew you," was what she thought they said.

As long as any of us can remember, Easter and New Hats have been synonymous. If a woman had nothing else, she must at least have a new hat for Easter Sunday.

As little girls, our Easter hat was our greatest concern, and we never grow so old that we cease to be interested in looking our prettiest this day.

There should be no hesitancy, therefore, in the decision to choose our Easter hat early, and to choose it at Horne's. Here we are absolutely assured of all the elements which make for happy choice — variety, originality, individuality, and highest style authenticity. The Horne reputation for millinery is traditional. But it is founded on more than a tradition. It is by far the largest and most popular millinery department in Pittsburgh, and one of the largest and most famous in the whole country.

Hats are essentially a part of the spring picture this year. Worn well back on the forehead, down on one side, and up on the other, they accentuate the individuality and femininity of this season's silhouette.

Trust Horne's to have all the smartest variations of the Spring Hat as expressed by the leading designers of Paris, in the greatest possible selection, as to sizes, shapes, colors, and materials.

The price may be $5.00, $7.50, $10.00, $15.00—or higher, although the preponderance of selection is at these prices.

There are hats at less than $5.00, in our Inexpensive Tailored Hat Section.

Alma Rubens Saved From Police Squad Raiding Party by Mysterious Stranger

By ALMA RUBENS

CHAPTER XLIII.

The millionaire was young and naturally good-looking.

He was a graduate of one of the great eastern colleges. He had a beautiful estate, in Long Island and a winter home in Florida. It was nothing for him to lease a palace at Mentone, or Monte Carlo, for the season and fill it with 20 or 30 friends as "smart" and clever and good-looking and well dressed, and as rich as he.

The millionaire's bride was a beauty—even yet—although a pair of sharp eyes would have observed quickly enough that her young beauty was being rapidly blighted by some secret and deadly process.

Miss Rubens

They were both hopeless drug slaves.

"Where have you been, Alma?" said Midas — that wasn't his name, but I will call him that in this chronicle.

"Where have you been, Alma?" said Ada, the beautiful blonde young woman.

Her name was not Ada, but I will call her so here.

"We have telephoned and telephoned," said Ada. "Why there are three telegrams on the floor! Someone must have thrust them under the door. You haven't even opened them."

Midas tore open the telegrams.

"Yes," he said, "two of them are from us. We were worried about you."

Back in Game

"Don't worry anymore," I said, "I'm back in the game again."

And then we sat and talked it all over. I told them of the desperate fight I had been making.

Midas laughed.

"Sounds natural, doesn't it honey?" he said.

"We've made the same fight three different times. We've given it up now. It's no use. We're going to the end of the road together."

We all cried together, like foolish children—tears of hysteria.

Then we all took a shot and went out for a drive.

That night Midas and his bride took me to a new kind of a party.

It was a dope party, to be sure, but there was something else about it that was absolutely new to me.

A rich friend of the couple had brought the idea home from the dregs of Paris.

I will not go into the details of that party.

There were about 30 couples present.

All in magnificent evening dress—some old, some young, some clever, and some dull, most of them fashionable society people.

Two or three actresses, two lawyers, one well-known doctor and a sort of clownish fellow who talked like the most ignorant Cockney.

I had met him at dope parties before. He could hardly write or read, but when he was full of "snow" he was what we call a scream.

This party began like most of the others, with a great glass bowl full of liquid morphine.

Mad Dance Begins

When we were down in the depths of the morphine, sleepy, our senses dulled and life outside that room just a dul ache—the cocaine and the heroin were brought around and then the mad, half-naked dancing began.

We were all crazy as bedlam. We screamed and laughed and writhed and leaped like the figures in a madman's dream. Then a whisper went around. The treat of the evening was to come.

Something new, something wonderful.

I cannot describe the horror of that episode.

It is enough to say that at the end of it a young girl lay on the floor where she had been whipped and beaten into a dead faint.

They carried her into another room, and dazed and crazy as I was, I followed her.

She was sobbing and shaking from head to foot.

I knelt down beside her.

"It's all over now, my dear," I said, "you will soon be better. Come, I will take you home, and get a doctor for you."

The poor wretch gave a crooked smile.

"Don't worry," she said, "I'll get $500 for this night's work." And sure enough the host of the occasion came into the room and handed the poor, degraded wretch five crisp, brand new, one hundred dollar bills.

I went home deathly ill.

I heard afterwards that the party lasted two days and nights.

Sick, Disgusted

I was sickened, disgusted, horrified—but I was a dope slave.

So I went on to more parties, and more parties, hoping every time that my last shot would be the end of life for me.

But I lived on, and on—and on.

One night we had a Harlem party, about 30 of us.

In the midst of our insane revels there was a pounding on the locked doors. The Negro orchestra players clutched their instruments and vanished like ghosts.

"Run!" yelled the giant Negro who ran the place. "beat it, it's the cops!" And beat it we did.

My $3,000 ermine wrap was under a pile of coats and dresses where I had thrown it, when the "snow" began to work. I clawed and pawed through sable, chinchilla, ermine, through velvet, satin and lace and found my coat, but this had taken me three or four minutes, and all the guests, but me, had disappeared.

A lithe, slender brown man clutched me by the arm.

"Come on," he whispered, "I'll get you out of this!"

Award Announced For Cancer Work

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—Dr. Sofie A. Nordoff-Jung, Washington woman physician, announced the award of her biennial $1,000 cancer prize to Dr. Alexis Carrell, French-American surgeon of Rockefeller Institute, New York.

The award was for expansion of methods of cancer tissue culture, an outgrowth of Dr. Carrel's original discovery that animal tissues, even some of the vital organs, can be kept alive indefinitely after they have been removed from the body. That discovery won him the 1912 Nobel Prize for the most useful advance in medicine.

DISCUSS ALIBI FOR 'HYMIE'

CLEVELAND, March 20.—(AP.)—Attorneys for "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin, who goes on trial Monday charged with slaying former Councilman William E. Potter, had their final opportunity today to present the alibi they are expected to claim for him.

Mrs. Mary Outland Woodfield, held as a material witness, has maintained that she and Martin were in Dormont, a Pittsburgh suburb, the night of February 3 when Potter was shot to death. Under the new Ohio criminal laws, the defense must give three days' notice if it intends to offer an alibi, and Martin's attorneys were required to serve notice today if they planned to rely on "Akron Mary's" story.

William E. Minshall, of Martin's counsel, said it had not been determined whether such a statement would be filed or whether a postponement will be asked.

WOMAN, 3 MEN HURT BY AUTOS

A "hit-run" motorist this morning struck and upset the the automobile of R. D. Burtner, of 3100 Pinehurst street, Dormont, while Burtner was driving in Schenley Park. Burtner was treated at Montefiore Hospital for body bruises. Frank Seville, of 1518 Park boulevard, Dormont, a passenger in the car, escaped injury.

Another "hit-run" driver was sought by police for striking two men who were crossing Bigelow boulevard at Washington street early today. The men, Oscar Hatten, 23, a Negro of St. Louis, and Clyde Anderson, 17, a Negro of Laurel, Miss., suffered severe lacerations and body bruises.

Suffering concussion of the brain and a punctured lung when struck by an automobile at Craft avenue and the Boulevard of the Allies last night, Mrs. George Collins, 54, of 306 Craft avenue, was in a serious condition today in Magee Hospital.

Lawrence Burr, 46, of 1440 Center street, Wilkinsburg, driver of the machine, took the victim to the hospital, police said. He was arrested and released on bond.

Treasure Hunters Will Salvage Sunken Ship

PORTLAND, Ore., March 20.—(AP.)—Lured by stories of a sunken fortune, Curtis Brothers, Portland and Seattle house movers, seek to salvage the passenger steamer Islander, which went down in Stevens passage, Alaska, August 15, 1901, with a loss of 72 lives.

Frank Curtis was here today to get figures on machinery and equipment. He said the chief prize sought was $3,000,000 in gold dust, said to be locked in one of the ship's safes.

$5,000,000 Proposed For Bank Publicity

NEW YORK, March 20.—(INS.)—A proposal to raise a fund of $1,000,000 a year for five years for publicity for banks will be considered by the general convention of the American Bankers Association this fall.

GROUP TO MEET GREEK ACTRESS

A delegation of prominent Pittsburghers of Greek descent of birth were to meet Marica Cotopouli, foremost Greek actress, at the Pennsylvania Station today, welcoming her to Pittsburgh.

Miss Cotopouli is to play the leading part in "Agnos Glentgess," a play to be offered in the Greek language at the Nixon Theater, tomorrow night.

Coming to the United States for the first time, Miss Cotopouli has been mourned by the Grecian press. In leaving Athens, she left her theater dark and her company idle. In Athens, she maintains a repertory of more than 200 plays.

Her arrival in the United States was regarded as so important, it is said, by American Greeks, that the Greek ambassador to this country and a special delegation went to New York to greet her.

WHALEN COMING FOR DINNER

Grover Whalen, former police commissioner of New York City, is to be one of a number of distinguished guests at the testimonial dinner in honor of Albert Horne Burchfield, in the William Penn Hotel on Saturday, April 4, in celebration of the 60th birthday of the Joseph Horne Company president.

Mr. Whalen.

Whalen, one of the most colorful and picturesque figures in the public and business life of America, is a personal friend of Mr. Burchfield. As general manager of John Wanamaker, of New York, Whalen is one of the outstanding business executives of the country.

W. M. Jacoby has been elected secretary-treasurer of the executive committee arranging for the dinner. Headquarters have been opened in the Farmers' Bank Building, where reservations are being made. T. Clifton Jenkins is general chairman.

ANCIENT HOMES FOUND IN UR

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—(AP.)—A picture of Ur of the Chaldees as it was in the days of Abraham is afforded by archeological discoveries described in a report from the joint expedition of the University of Pennsylvania Museum and British Museum.

More than a score of dwellings, together with warehouses, chapels and shops, all approximately 4,000 years old, have been uncovered by excavations carried on at a uniform level over a wide area, the report states.

One of the buildings, thought to be a school house, contained clay tablets resembling literary documents, and numerous clay copybooks, on which the early Sumerian students were believed to have learned to write.

U. S. Job Hunters Shy at Pick, Shovel

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—Thirty civil service jobs are going begging.

The reason seems to be that the jobs call for the applicants to apply themselves vigorously toward ironing out the wrinkles of a roadway with pick and shovel.

The Civil Service Commission has sent several men to Director Grant, of public buildings and grounds, but their interest vanished when they discovered the jobs called for manual labor.

The work is in constructing a roadway connecting historic Rock Creek and Potomac parks.

PARIS EXPRESS WRECKS, 5 DIE

ETAMPES, France, March 20.—(AP.)—Five persons were killed and 20 injured when two cars of the Paris-Bordeaux express left the rails as it tore past the station here and crashed into a local train waiting on a siding.

There were no Americans among the dead or the seriously injured railroad officials said.

Most of the victims were in the diner when that car and the one ahead of it jumped the track. The injured were taken to hospitals here.

Witness Identifies Slaying Suspect

SHAMOKIN, Pa., March 20.—(AP.)—Jack McGraw, returning here from Camden, N. J., where Felix Bocchicchio is held awaiting extradition, charged with the murder of John Malloy, of Little Creek, said he positively identified Bocchicchio as the man who shot Malloy on March 1.

Malloy was shot when, with McGraw and several others, he was leaving the roadhouse of Gerald McGraw between Mount Carmel and this city. Police said Bocchicchio was arrested on an anonymous "tip." He was on parole from a 10-year term in the Eastern Penitentiary when Malloy was shot, officers said.

Bankrupt Liabilities Highest in Penna.

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—Liabilities in commercial bankruptcies during January were reported by the Department of Justice as being greater in Pennsylvania than any other state in the Union.

The liabilities in Pennsylvania totaled $9,214,237. The department, which is conducting a bankruptcy investigation, was informed by R. G. Dun & Co., co-operating in the inquiry, that Pennsylvania liabilities exceeded those in New York by nearly $1,000,000.

Daughter of '61 War Aide Presents Bust

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—A marble bust of the late Col. Thomas A. Scott, assistant secretary of war in 1861, was received by the War Department from Mrs. Edgar Scott, of Bryn Mawr. The bust was placed in the reception room of the assistant secretary of war.

Butler Man Found Guilty of Extortion

BUTLER, Pa., March 20.—(AP.)—James C. King, former Butler pipe line superintendent, was convicted of extortion here. Defense counsel asked for a new trial. The charges grew out of letters written C. Everett Spang, local manufacturer.

Mrs. Cora B. Quigley, a character witness for King, was fined $25 by Judge James O. Campbell for contempt of court. She was alleged to have talked with two women jurors regarding the character of the defendant.

AID FOR ILLEGAL RAID VICTIMS

PHILADELPHIA, March 19 (AP)—A committee of 15 attorneys has been named by City Councilman William W. Roper "to render free legal assistance to any citizens who feel they have just cause for complaint by reason of improper searches of their homes by the police." In a statement Roper said:

"Illegal raids on the homes of law-abiding citizens of Philadelphia must stop. Present methods of the police in trying to enforce the prohibition law compare to foul plays in the world of sport."

The committee is headed by Joseph S. Clark, Jr., Philadelphia, chairman of the Crusaders, a national anti-prohibition association. Others include Owen J. Wister, son of the novelist, and Francis B. Bohlen, Jr., son of the Liberal party's candidate for United States senator last November.

AMBRIDGE RIOT TRIALS HELD UP

BEAVER, Pa., March 20—The five Communists indicted for rioting in connection with the unemployed parade at Ambridge recently may escape trial at this term of court through a technicality.

Henry H. Wilson, Beaver, counsel for Edith Briscoe, Frank Roberts, George Bailey, Paul Korsarch and Joe Kolfich, all of Ambridge, moved that the indictments be quashed, charging they are defective. The indictments were returned by the grand jury on informations sent to court by Justice of the Peace Vincent Lewis, Ambridge. Each information charges one individual with riot and according to the law Wilson said, it takes three persons to make a riot. Judge Frank E. Reader withheld his ruling.

The cases, scheduled for trial yesterday, have been taken off the list. It was said at the district attorney's office that if the indictments were quashed, new ones would be sought.

Legion Post Adopts World War Orphans

BLOOMFIELD, Ind., March 20—(AP)—The Bloomfield Memorial Post of the American Legion has adopted two orphans of a former World War veteran. The post has expressed the hope its action will be taken as a precedent by other posts. The orphans are to be carefully looked after with respect to their health, education and general welfare.

Unemployed School Reports Job Gains

A gain in employment in the Wilmerding district is indicated, according to officials of the Wilmerding University for the Unemployed, by the withdrawal of a number of students because of their projected return to work. Registration in the school is still near the 400 mark. The school is conducted, free of charge, for the vocational and cultural instruction of unemployed workers.

5 BODIES TAKEN FROM TUNNEL

QUINCY, Cal., March 20.—(AP.)—Dug from the muck and shale which crushed them to death in a railroad tunnel cavein near here, the bodies of five workmen were brought to Quincy for an inquest.

A new cavein endangered the lives of eight rescue workers and delayed recovery of the bodies. Both slides were attributed to heavy rains, which loosened shale and turned earth into mud.

The men killed in the slide were Gus Lund, Hugo Johnson, Arvid Falk, Aaron Edmondson and John Hagenson. Falk, survived by a widow and daughter in Portland, Ore., was the only married man in the group.

NEVADA EASES DIVORCE LAWS

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 20.—(AP.)—Bills legalizing gambling and providing that divorces may be obtained after six weeks' residence, were signed by Gov. F. B. Balzar.

The new divorce law was hurried through the State Legislature by supporters who feared that $3,000,000 worth of annual business might be lost to Arkansas and Idaho. Both of the latter states recently passed legislation making it possible to obtain a divorce after three months' residence.

Reno, largely because of a three months' residence law, which will remain in effect until May 1, has become known as the nation's divorce capital. The new divorce law also provides that grounds for the action need not contain any particulars unless the case is contested.

Even before Gov. Balzar signed the gambling bill numerous operators in Reno began installing equipment to accommodate several hundred players.

Ohio Gets Measure To Count Fish in Lake Erie

Count the fish in Lake Erie.

Under a resolution recommended for passage by the Ohio General Assembly, a survey of the number of commercial fish in the lake would be made by two members of each house. Under the resolution they would undertake another fairly hard job—count the number of rabbits, squirrels and other wild life in the state, to ascertain the effect of the drought on animal life.

WIFE WILL SUE CIRCUS OWNER

FERRIDAY, La., March 20.—(AP.)—Accusing Col. Zack T. Miller, owner of the 101 Ranch Shows, of slandering her, and declaring their divorce decree had not yet been made final, Mrs. Margaret Miller, wife of the showman, said she intended filing a character damage suit against Col. Miller for $100,000 and would fight for custody of their two children and a property settlement.

The divorce decree awarding custody of the children, Zack, Jr. and Blevins, to Col. Miller was reported granted, but Mrs. Miller said:

"No divorce decree has been given and it will not be given until Friday in Harrisonburg."

Rock Fall Kills Miner as Two Sons Watch

BELLAIRE, O., March 20.—Patsy Rocco, 50, was killed in a mine accident at Stewarts. As his two sons, Frank and Tony, looked on, a section of rock slid from the rib of coal at the side of the room and crushed Rocco to death.

HONOR TREATY FLIER IN DEATH

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—A Distinguished Flying Cross was awarded posthumously to Lieut. William W. Caldwell, of Oakland, Cal., killed while racing against time from the Pacific Coast with the Japanese ratification of the London naval treaty.

The award was announced by the War Department. It will go to F. C. Caldwell, father of the flier.

Caldwell lost his life last October in an attempt to fly through a blinding snowstorm over Wyoming.

OFFICIAL GUILTY IN RUM PLOT

WICHITA, Kan., March 20.—(AP.)—Everett C. Minner, former Ford County prosecutor, was convicted on a federal liquor conspiracy charge brought in connection with a Southern Kansas liquor ring, several leaders of which previously had been convicted.

The jury found Minner acted as an agent for Marcus Gorges, of Wichita, chief of the bootleg ring, in efforts to buy "protection" from John D. Madden, an assistant prohibition enforcement director. Madden said the transactions were a part of his enforcement work.

English Earl Scores U. S. Radio Programs

LONDON, March 20.—(AP.)—During a discussion of broadcasting in the House of Lords the Earl of Crawford vigorously defended the service of the British Broadcasting Company, comparing it with what he called "the grotesque, deplorable and laughable state of broadcasting in the United States." The earl did not amplify his opinion of American broadcasts.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES GO ON RADIO HERE IF 'JACKETS' WIN

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

Paul Miller and the boys at KQV have their fingers crossed. If the Yellow Jackets maintain a play-off position in the International Hockey League by defeating Buffalo tonight KQV has the privilege of broadcasting the championship opener from Duquesne Garden next Tuesday night. The idea of broadcasting a hockey game was suggested first to Pittsburgh stations by this column. We have twitched our fingers nervously listening to vivid hockey descriptions from Canadian stations and we believe once the custom is introduced here it will "take." Of course a lot depends on the announcing and the way the situation is handled. Hockey is Pittsburgh's coming sport. Let's make this first broadcast (we're confident) an impressive one.

Leatrice Joy

"L'Amour, Toujours L'Amour," the best of soprano selections sung by the best of radio's sopranos—Jessica Dragonette—on WCAE at 8. Or Leatrice Joy on KDKA at the same hour in "The Lilac Tree." Which?

* * *

Next best: Dorothy Stone, WCAE, and dramatization of News Events, WJAS—both 10:30.

QUESTION A DAY:

I hear police station signals from many cities outside Pennsylvania but never our state police. I understand Pennsylvania state police have many stations. Why can't I hear them?—W. K., New Brighton.

Answer—The 23 police stations on the air in other states operate on waves close to the broadcast band, ranging from 1,500 to 2,500 kilocycles. Pennsylvania state police stations operate on low wave (257 kilocycles) and may be picked up only on a specially equipped short wave set.

STUDIO LIGHTS

Don Bestor returns to KDKA on April 17 . . . "20 Fingers of Sweetness" and their radio sponsors have split . . . A special American Legion program takes the place of Real Folks on KDKA next Monday night . . . Dick Powell, back on KDKA at 6:30 tonight after his illness, hardly looks to us like he should go on with the show, yet . . . Sisters of the Skillet do their stuff for WJZ, WLW, WJR listeners Saturday night at 11:30 . . . NBC has been deluged with letters protesting the "cutting" of Ludwig Laurier's "Slumber Music" . . . Lee Morse (new program, WJAS at 10) hails from Allen, Okla., where her father is a minister and her mother director of the church choir.

Pleased with the performance of parabolic "mikes" at the American premiere of "Wozzeck" last night, Leopold Stokowski announced today that preparations would be made immediately to radio an opera by television.

* * *

TODAY'S TID BIT:

"Cheerio" spreads lots of sunshine in our home where we have a mother ill, near 70. Mother was amused particularly yesterday when "Cheerio," calling out a list of names of people celebrating their centenary, remarked that these people would have little chance of reaching their second hundred.

"I don't know," interrupted a centenarian in the studio, "I feel a lot stronger now than I did when I started on my first hundred."

WHY 4-PILLAR TUBES?

A natural question, and here's the answer:

THE NEW

Notice the four strong pillars. With this solid foundation, the many fragile parts in the tube can be assembled with watch-making accuracy, and cannot move a hair's breadth from their fixed position!

THE OLD

In ordinary tubes, the many delicate parts have only a two-legged foundation. Two supports instead of four! Jolts, bumps, vibration from dynamic speakers—all can impair their vital accuracy.

The radio service-man, who keeps your set in repair, is a technical expert . . . he knows tubes! He can explain the value of the 4-pillar principle, and demonstrate it, in your own radio set.

TUBES are the heart of a radio. Poor tubes, weak or old ones, all detract from the real performance your set can give. And the vital parts of a tube are its elements. If they are not anchored firmly and accurately in place, the tube will not perform as it should, and reception will suffer.

In Eveready Raytheon Tubes, the elements are anchored in place with four sturdy pillars . . . one at each corner of a square. All other tubes use only two supports! The knocks and bumps of shipment, and the vibration of dynamic speakers, can't harm 4-pillar tubes!

You must hear these tubes to realize what a wonderful difference 4-pillar construction makes. No electrical test in a dealer's store can tell you.

Free home demonstration

National Carbon Company, Inc., has arranged with its dealers to give you a free home demonstration with a complete set of 4-pillar tubes. Call the nearest Eveready Raytheon dealer. If your present tubes are a year or more old, you can't afford to miss this opportunity.

Friend's old warehouse is located at 817 Penn Avenue, and is only a 20-foot front building, nine stories high. It has served its purpose for years, but it is inadequate for the vast reserve stocks FRIEND'S increasing business makes necessary.

ANOTHER EXPANSION STEP!

Last year, on June 6th, the NEW FRIEND'S became Pittsburgh's newest and most beautiful furniture store. 35 years of honest service and loyal patronage made this greater store possible. Today, just a little over 9 months later, we wish to publicly thank you, the people of Pittsburgh and vicinity, for the wonderful way you have received the modern, NEW FRIEND'S. You have been very kind. A substantial increase in business has necessitated new and larger warehouse quarters to serve you even better. This is the second great expansion step within a year.

Vacating This for This

FRIEND'S WAREHOUSE SALE

We're vacating our old warehouse for a much larger, modernly equipped warehouse. Before stocking our new warehouse with all new furniture, we want to dispose of our present warehouse stock to escape the expense, labor and annoyance of moving it. RADIO NEWS AND PROGRAMS

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, March 20.—The Surface Has Only Been Scratched. The radio titans are unusually alert in transferring to the microphone the more significant aspects of American civilization.

The lesser phases, however, of the hilarious and kaleidoscopic spectacle that stretches from Gotham to the Golden Gate have yet to be awarded radio representation. There is a vast amount of material in the grist mills of the American scene yet to be captured for the loudspeakers.

For example, why not in this age of commercialism a broadcast from the leading cigaret endorser of Madison Square Garden, the principal perfume endorser of Hollywood, the most conspicuous soap endorser of Newport? With endorsing rapidly attaining the status of big business, is there not room at the microphones for its more prominent representatives? What does an endorser do in his spare time? How does he spend his rewards? These are questions radio might answer.

And while they are about garnering the unusual, the broadcasters might put their restless fingers on the tucked-away items in the press. The radio procession, as a result, might be even more varied than it is at present.

The microphone moguls might snare the New Bedford woman who has spent 64 of her 72 years in one mill, the justice of the peace in Houston, Tex., who has kissed only one bride of 7,000; the most prosperous conductor of "rooms-for-tourists" on the Santa Fee Trail; the leading camera-detector among the patrolling force of the West Point reservation, the most successful rum sniffer in the Detroit-Windsor ferry service, the ex-office boy of ex-Senator Heflin, the traffic cop who answers foolish questions at Columbus Circle, the newsreel photographer who succeeded in persuading John D. to pose for sound talkies, the justice of the peace in Stroudsburg, Pa., who collects the largest fines from speeding motorists, the inventor of the drug store sandwich, the steelworker who placed the needle atop the Chrysler Building, the soil-tiller of the Ozarks who tunes in most often to the song "Just a Gigolo."

Cross sections of American life distant from the music masters of Broadway and Harlem and Fifty-seventh street should have a place on the broadcasting schedules. Having it, they should go a long way toward satisfying those listeners who are wearied of jazz, tenors, sopranos, quartets, string ensembles and viewers-with-alarm.

Defend Wife Beater Sentenced to Lash

BALTIMORE, March 20.—(AP.)—Neighbors of John Kowalski, 40-year-old blacksmith, sentenced to jail for 30 days and to receive 10 lashes at the whipping post for beating his wife, planned today to appear before the judge and ask the sentence be suspended.

They will, they said, present a petition signed by housewives in the neighborhood. A neighbor said the husband had been beaten by his wife during the 17 years of their married life and that on the evening on which she accuses him of beating her, she first hit him with a shoe, inflicting a wound that required surgical treatment.

Brewsters Rewed, Seek New Fortune

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP.)—Eugene V. Brewster, 58, former magazine publisher and Corliss Palmer, 25, film actress, were on their second honeymoon today.

In their cottage home, in the rear of a larger house they own and rent, Brewster laid plans to recoup a fortune estimated at $3,000,000, which dwindled to a few thousands after their first marriage in Ensenada, Lower California, five years ago. Miss Palmer hoped to help by obtaining work in motion pictures.

Rachmaninoff Mum On Boycott Report

NEW YORK, March 20.—(INS.)—Sergei Rachmaninoff, Russian composer, declined to comment today on a report that his works had been boycotted by Soviet Russia. The musician has refused to visit Russia and joined in an appeal recently asking Americans to refrain from buying Soviet goods.

Propeller Blamed In Maddalena Crash

PISA, Italy, March 20.—(AP.)—A variable propeller of a type, which Col. Umberto Maddalena always favored, was blamed today for the disaster which yesterday took the lives of Maddalena and two companions, Capt. Cicconi and Lieut. Damonte. None of the bodies has been recovered.

An inquest commission today found that the propeller had broken, cutting the fuselage in two when the plane was several thousand feet in the air.

Stokowski Leads Premiere Of Sensational Opera

By DEEMS TAYLOR
Famous Composer and Music Critic.
(Copyright, 1931, Universal Service, Inc.)

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Before an audience that filled every available square foot of space in the Metropolitan Opera House the Philadelphia Grand Opera Company last night gave Alban Berg's three-act opera, "Wozzeck," its first performance in America. The work was sung in German, under the baton of Leopold Stokowski, who conducted the entire personnel (116 players) of the Philadelphia Orchestra, together with an additional stage band of 25 members of the Curtis Symphony Orchestra. The production was staged by Wilhelm von Wymetal, Jr., and the scenery and costumes were designed by Robert Edmond Jones.

Since its sensational premiere at the Berlin Staatsoper on December 14, 1925, "Wozzeck" has had performances throughout Germany and Austria and has become the talk of Europe. No opera since "Pelleas et Melisande" has been so savagely attacked or so fanatically defended. Composers, performers and critics from virtually every music center in the East and Middle West flocked to the opening here.

The libretto was arranged by the composer from a drama by Georg Buechner, a tragic young genius who was by turns a scientist, a mathematician and a poet, and who died in 1837, at the age of 24. The original manuscript was lost at the time of the author's death and was not found until 1879. It was in the form of some 20-odd short and loosely-connected scenes, which the composer has compressed into 15, distributed equally through three acts.

It is almost impossible in a hasty review to gather one's impressions into such form as will do even approximate justice to the composer of such music. Its impact is too strong and too recent, its details too multifarious for ready assortment. This much I am sure of: "Wozzeck" is a true musical drama, written by a dramatic artist of the first order.

NOTES SPEED SLAYER HUNT

SAN DIEGO, Cal., March 20.—(INS.)—Spurred by three taunting notes presumably written by the slayer of 10-year-old Virginia Brooks, police today began a search for two more suspects.

Names were not revealed, but search began shortly after receipt of a third mysterious note signed "The Gorilla." Crudely pencilled on brown wrapping paper, it said:

"I have defied you experts—Ha, Ha!

"Another girl will disappear within a week.

(Signed) "The Gorilla."

Authorities continued to hold in custody Neal James March, 31. March was once arrested on a charge of having attempted to strangle a San Diego woman, police said. Search was begun for an automobile March owned recently. Detectives hope to compare the tire tread of this car with plaster casts of automobile tracks found near the girl's body on Camp Kearney mesa.

The child's body was found on the mesa wrapped in a burlap bag a month after she vanished on her way to school.

HUNT SLAYERS 'DEAD OR ALIVE'

Search for two Broughton youths wanted in connection with the slaying of State Police Sergt. John N. Frye, near Albany, on Wednesday, was being pressed here today by county detectives.

The accused youths are William Schemnitzer, 19, and Stanley Chero, 19, who, leaving their homes 10 days ago, said they were going to seek work on lake boats near Cleveland. According to reports received here, the two were arrested near Albany and en route to jail one of the youths was alleged to have shot Frye with a revolver which he snatched from the holster of Patrolman Edward C. Updyke, who was accompanying Frye.

ALBANY, March 20.—(INS.)—A force of 600 state troopers combed the state of New York today in search of the two Pennsylvania youths who shot and killed Sergt. Frye.

The search centered near the Catskill Mountains south of here, where the two men were reported seen. Orders were given to get the youths, "dead or alive."

Faith Healer Jailed After Patient Dies

GREENSBURG, March 20.—Edward Reigard, 54, Hempfield Township, self-styled faith "healer," convicted here of practicing medicine without a license, began serving a three-month jail term today after he had withdrawn an appeal to Superior Court.

Reigard, it was alleged, gave a prescription to a Greensburg woman last April when she came to him for treatment. She died several days later.

Count and American Bride on Honeymoon

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Count Alain de Falaise, brother of Gloria Swanson's estranged spouse, and the former Margot Webb, of Philadelphia, are en route to Hollywood on their honeymoon. He was a literary agent in Paris. She was "Miss Atlantic City" in the 1927 beauty contest. They were married abroad a month ago.

Germany's Former Chancellor Sinking

BERLIN, March 20.—(AP.)—Former Chancellor Hermann Mueller was reported sinking at midnight, after his condition had grown critical. He remains in a coma most of the time. Further complications have arisen from inflammation of the right lung. Mueller had been gravely ill for several weeks, and underwent an operation for gallstones.

Jealous Suitor Kills Sweetheart

FOND DU LAC, Wis., March 20.—(AP.)—In a fit of jealousy, Alton Balthazar, 26, shot and killed his 21-year-old sweetheart last night, seriously wounded his brother and slightly wounded two other persons. The dead girl was Ruth E. Smith, Curtis, Wis. She was shot three time through the back.

ARRANGE HONOR FOR WOMAN, 90

Mrs. Anna Morrison, of 292 Thirty-ninth street will celebrate her ninetieth birthday as the honor guest at Sunday morning services in the Lawrenceville Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Morrison is the oldest member of the church with a membership of 57 years. The Rev. B. M. Paul, pastor, will officiate.

Mrs. Morrison

Mrs. Morrison, mother of four children, has lived in the same house for 62 years. Born in Bavaria, Germany, she came to America when 7 years old. She lived in Lawrenceville since she was 17.

She reads her Bible every day and attends church whenever she is able. She does not wear glasses, hears well, is in good health, and helps with the housework.

Her four children, John H. Morrison, Bonvue street; Thomas J. Morrison, Center avenue, Wilkinsburg; Mrs. W. E. Ray, Niles, O., and Miss Emma Morrison, will attend services with her. She has six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She has been a widow for 50 years.

Peanut Melody by Shouse

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

The situation has been dramatized for the radio and the next time you hear the peanut vendor's mournful squeak you can picture it as a filibuster set to music.

In the old days when Paul Revere was getting 20 miles to a gallon of oats nobody ever asked you what you wore at night.

We understand that G. Washington, Esq. wore a nightie that didn't improve the looks of his bunions. It flapped around in the breeze like a torn awning. But G. Washington posed for his paintings in it.

But times have sure changed since grandma chewed tobacco. Now you ain't anybody unless you wear pajamas.

They started wearing 'em on the beach in Florida and California. Right along the ocean. And they don't wait for low and high tide in Akron, St. Louis or Trenton.

They wear 'em everywhere. On the beach, in the street cars and at picnics. Why, they even have something they call hostess' pajamas that are as formal as a dowager's upper lip.

We will concede they are beautiful satin and velvet. That's all we saw. We're a gentleman and a gentleman takes three quick looks where a rude person would stare.

They wear 'em to dances. We piped a lady at the Mayfair dancing in silk pajamas the other evening. She was beautiful, okay. But that costume was enough to make the Blue Book fade to a sunburned ochre.

Same with theaters. Even Ziegfeld had to quit his famous living pictures on the stage when he saw his chorus girls staring at the audience in amazement.

Everywhere you go you see 'em wearing pajamas. You don't know whether you are going to an opera or a Turkish bath. They say it is only a fad. So was the World War.

But don't think we are complaining. We're just making a note for future generations to read how old-fashioned we were.

If it's all right with them, it's all right with us.

But it has almost reached that stage when we can expect the next roll call of Congress to be interrupted by the Senator from Arkansas getting up and yelling:

"Boys, don't give your right name."

IRISH TO HAVE STATE SEAL

DUBLIN, March 20.—(AP).—The Irish Free State is to have an international seal of its own corresponding to the great seal of England.

The American State Department pointed out that the seal on the credentials of Michael McWhite, Free State minister, was the same as that on the credentials of the British ambassador. Thereupon the Free State began discussions with the British government and was granted a seal of its own.

KILLER SUSPECT FEARED INSANE

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP).—Believing a man giving his name as George Pierce Tucker and confessing a five-year-old Washington (D. C.) murder, may be deranged and on the verge of suicide, police placed extra guards around his cell.

Tucker said he choked to death Mrs. Emma Kirk, 68, in Washington in 1926.

The man first gave his name as Harry Jones, then George Pierce, and in his latest confession said his name was George Pierce Tucker.

URE DRUGGIST

This symbol in red and white says,
"Here is Your Druggist"

YOUR community now has a good drug store . . . the kind that is really a community institution . . . where you are served with a friendly spirit of service, plus good value for your money . . . always possible because of a genuine interest in your needs.

You may easily know which is this desirable drug store . . . Look for the red and white "Ure Druggist" symbol prominently displayed on the front windows.

This famous emblem tells you that here is, financially, a really independent druggist, who successfully conducts a serious and important business, with rigid standards that point the difference between drug stores.

More than good intentions are required to faithfully operate a really good drug store such as Ure Druggist maintains the year 'round. And as you note the difference in Druggist service, plus the splendid values there, you see why he has become your standard of comparison amongst all retailers in your community.

Ure Druggist service is voluntarily given in hundreds of ways, without question, and without asking. You trust your children on errands to his store. Ure Druggist knows that public confidence, and fair dealing make and keep him a strong, independent druggist.

Always have your prescriptions filled by Ure Druggist. And buy all your drug store needs from him with safety. You will receive full value for your money plus a service that makes your trading there a pleasure.

U. S. TOPS ALL GOLD RECORDS

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—The largest amount of monetary gold ever held by any country is now concentrated in the United States, the Federal Reserve report issued yesterday shows.

With gold holdings totaling $4,685,000,000, the 1927 record was shattered and a margin of $1,000,000 over the four-year record established.

Currency in circulation throughout the nation is now backed more than dollar-for-dollar. Gold wealth of the United States is more than seven times that reported by the Bank of England.

STUDENTS ROUT 'RED' ORATORS

LOS ANGELES, March 20.—(AP)—Efforts of alleged Communists to address students of the Roosevelt High School as classes ended yesterday resulted in the complete rout of the would-be orators in a free-for-all fight that ended when police reserves appeared.

Ten women in the group were set upon by girl students, while the eight men were rushed by the boys. Police arrested three Communists, explaining they did so for their protection.

The demonstration was supposed to be a protest against the recent suspension of Joe Lutsky, a student, for refusing to salute the flag.

1,500 FARMERS STORM CAPITOL

DES MOINES, Ia., March 20.—(AP)—More than 1,500 Iowa farmers marched into the State Capitol yesterday protesting the compulsory cattle tuberculin testing law.

Adjournment of the House, demanded by the farmers, was granted and they were accorded an open hearing to air their objections to the statute. Gov. Dan Turner appeared at the hearing, pleaded for law obedience and enforcement, and was accorded a hearty ovation by the protesters.

Paul Moore, one of the leaders of the delegation, declared the bovine testing law was costing taxpayers thousands of dollars and said that every farm baby was born with a debt of $1,500 over its head. Other spokesmen asserted the testing law constituted confiscation of property.

CONTEST ENDS TOMORROW

The food investigation may go on forever, but the Sun-Telegraph's macaroni-spaghetti contest closes tomorrow.

Are you among the tardy ones who for some reason or other have neglected to send in their favorite recipes on the preparation and serving of these delicious dishes? If so, remember a lot can happen between now and noon tomorrow, the final receiving time of recipes.

Get busy and write out that recipe. It may help some poor housewife, who's racking her brain for a suggestion of a new dish for dinner, gain everlasting gratitude of her hungry family, tired of the spaghetti or macaroni cooked the same way day after day.

Awards amounting to $100 and many prizes in the form of assorted packages of macaroni will be given those submitting the best recipes for serving these dishes. Hurry along and don't be one of those who will regret they failed to take part in this contest—it closes tomorrow.

Contest Rules

1—Each contestant may submit as many recipes as she wishes, calling for macaroni or spaghetti.
2—A part of the wrapper of a package of any brand must be enclosed with your recipe.
3—Write on one side of the paper only. Be sure your name and address are on each sheet of paper you submit. This is important.
4—Mail recipes to Macaroni Contest Editor, care of the Sun-Telegraph.
5—The contest closes at noon on March 21.
6—The names of the winners will be announced soon after that date. The prize-winning recipes also will be published.

THE PRIZES

(Macaroni Contest)

Third prize—Five dollars in cash and six assorted packages of macaroni products.

Twelve prizes of $1 each in cash and two packages each of macaroni products.

Spaghetti Contest

Third prize—Five dollars in cash and six assorted packages of spaghetti products.

Twelve prizes of $1 each in cash and two packages each of spaghetti products.

Twelve prizes of one dozen assorted packages each of spaghetti products.

In addition to the above prizes, each contestant submitting one or more recipes calling for macaroni or spaghetti will receive a macaroni timer free.

DRESS UP!
Spring Is Here
Even the Calendar says so

OF COURSE, we expect plenty of technical people to disagree with us and say tomorrow is Spring. But we don't care. Everybody likes Spring, so we welcome it a day ahead of time.

Whether it's today or tomorrow, there is only one way to greet the new season . . . and that is with new suits and topcoats that harmonize with the color and Spirit of Spring.

Gray is THE color . . . and gray in every shade, weave and pattern is awaiting your selection at Richman Brothers . . . in every style, size and model.

Blue is always a popular favorite . . . so blue we are showing in every new tone, every new design, every new fashion.

Stylists say pastel tones are the coming vogue . . . We say we have them now, when they are new and different. The new pastels are novel gray greens, sand tans, coffee browns . . . and a world of colorings that defy description.

Factory to you . . . without middlemen's profit . . . now means not only more quality and more value, but more style too.

USED CAR TEST BILL APPROVED

Passage of the Blumberg bill which requires official inspection of used automobiles before car licenses are granted, was urged today by John M. Rice, chairman of the legislative committee of the Pittsburgh Motor Club. The bill introduced to the Legislature by Representative A. M. Blumberg, of Philadelphia, has been referred to the Highways Committee of the House. If it is passed, official inspection stations will be designated by the secretary of revenue.

The Motor Club also urged passage of the Musmanno bill to ban altering of figures on automobile speedometers, making it a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of $200 or six months in jail.

Segrave Trophy Won By Kingsford Smith

LONDON, March 20. (AP.)—The Segrave trophy, given each year to the British subject who accomplishes the most outstanding demonstration of the possibilities of transport by land, air or water, was awarded to Wing Commander Charles Kingsford Smith. The award was made for his trans-Atlantic flight and his flight from England to Australia.

Officer Convicted In Extortion Case

NEW CASTLE, Pa., March 20.—A verdict of guilty was returned by the jury against Robert Glass, deputy constable of Ellwood City, charged with extortion, conspiracy and impersonating a state police officer. The charge grew out of an alleged booze raid on the home of Mrs. Anna Aceta, this city. The testimony was to the effect Glass took $106 as hush money.

WAR VET ENDS LIFE IN HOTEL

PHILADELPHIA, March 20. (AP.)—Alfred G. Wormser, 60, was found dead in his room at the St. James Hotel Annex with a bullet wound through his head. In one hand he clutched a pistol. He had been dead several hours. Police said he had committed suicide.

Little was known of Wormser at the hotel, where he had lived more than two years. Attaches said he spent most of his time around the hotel and always appeared to have sufficient money for his needs. No notes or letters were found in the man's room.

Police said they had learned Wormser was a former resident of Harrisburg. They said he had inherited a fortune years ago from his parents, but that recently his principal source of income had been a Spanish-American War pension.

Kotex fits securely

It is shaped to give inconspicuous protection

GOWNS fit smoothly when Kotex is your sanitary protection. Corners are rounded and tapered so that Kotex fits securely and comfortably.

Kotex is safe. It absorbs laterally. The long, delicate fibers of which Kotex is made carry moisture swiftly away from the surface, leaving the protective edges dry and comfortable. It can be worn on either side, with equal protection, with no possibility of embarrassment from wrong adjustment.

Kotex is soft, too. Not merely an apparent softness that soon becomes chafing hardness, but a delicate lasting softness. And, of course, Kotex is disposable. That's the reason millions of women first adopted this modern sanitary protection.

'MONARCHY' HERE ASSAILED

Robber Shoots Youth for Joking

SIDEWALKS of PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

Ah, well, we're through quoting Mark Twain ... We named a couple of his characters not so long ago and got them mixed up ... We had them in the wrong stories, and we've just recovered from the abuse which poured in ... You certainly missed a good bet if you didn't take advantage of the opportunity to call us up or write in and exclaim.

William Pfarr

Speaking of being wrong, Jim Clark, the safety director, is just about the best friend show business has in town ... Clark makes the management remove a couple of scenes from "Lizzie," and immediately business jumps. ... The people think they're going to see something, even deleted ... A couple of months ago Clark closed a couple of cabarets, and a few days later he reopened them ... A couple of years ago he closed all the cabarets (but one) on the grounds they were violating the closing-hour law ... And now what? ... The director certainly stands by his popguns.

There's a new slot machine in town, a noiseless one, and it's painted up in a half-dozen colors. . .However, it still doesn't pay any oftener than the old ones...And that automatic piano racket must not have paid any do-re-mi, for most of them are out of the speakeasies....

If you don't bother him, Art Rooney, the North Side athlete, is the mildest guy in the world. ...But when he was running the Wheeling club in the Mid-Atlantic League a few years ago he admits he was the toughest ball player in the circuit...Once he put a new umpire named Smitty on the pan...He thought he had Smitty properly squelched, and he told his ball players not to take it on the chin from the ump ... Well, when Art stepped onto the field the next day, Smitty walked up to him and piped, "Rooney, you're fined ten bucks"...And Art admits that after that Smitty was the best ump in the league...Art's brother, Dan, incidentally, is studying for the priesthood in New Jersey.

If you're looking for a speaker who'll put 'em in the aisles, sign M. A. Musmanno, the assemblyman. . . . The young man let go a blast at Harrisburg at the blue-law hearing which still has the boys and girls talking. . . . Musmanno became interested in the blue laws when a newspaperman suggested to him, just before his first term, that it was a good issue. . .One of the three or four books on Gov. Pinchot's desk is "The Dry Decade," by Charles Merz. . . . And some of the stuff in it doesn't make Prohibition look so good. . . . Joe Armstrong, the commissioner, rides in the front seat right alongside the chauffeur. . . .

Joe Rubin, who runs that black-and-tan on the Hill which all the society girls like to see for slumming purposes, insists this economic depression is good for his business...Joe claims the people must forget their cares....And he denies the rumor that Amos 'n' Andy will make a personal appearance in his spot...

Dr. E. P. Greenawalt was married recently to Miss Margaret McClenahan, but the night before the wedding the diamond circlet wedding ring he was carrying was lifted by a pickpocket. . .And at the last minute the good doctor had to chase over town getting another. . .Every accountant in town was perched on Controller Kerr's doorstep trying to get that audit job.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 20.

To the Editor Sun-Telegraph:

Just before Mr. Hoover left for Porto Rico he had a long private conference with Senator Borah, and Borah told him to go ahead and enjoy himself. You can't afford to get on the outs with Borah, that is if you want to get anything done in this country. There is an awful lot of people that would like to see Bill Borah president, and I would too. Course I don't believe he would take it, for he would have to make too great a sacrifice of prestige and authority. It would be sorter like Mussolini being only the king.

MY EXPERIENCES IN THE WORLD WAR

By JOHN J. PERSHING

Commander-in-Chief, American Expeditionary Forces

Succeeding chapters of "My Experiences in the World War" will appear daily and Sunday exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph.

CHAPTER LXVIII.

The Meuse-Argonne offensive opened the morning of September 26. To call it a battle may be a misnomer, yet it was a battle, the greatest, the most prolonged in American history. Through 47 days we were engaged in a persistent struggle with the enemy to smash through his defenses.

The attack started on a front of 24 miles, which gradually extended until the enemy was being actively assailed from the Argonne Forest to the Moselle River, 90 miles.

In all more than 1,200,000 men were employed, and the attack was driven 32 miles to the north and 14 miles to the northeast before the Armistice terminated hostilities. The numbers engaged, the diverse character of the fighting and the terrain, the numerous crises and the brilliant feats of individuals and units make a detailed description of the battle extremely complicated and necessarily confusing to the reader.

The outstanding fact that I desire to emphasize is that, once started, the battle was maintained continuously, aggressively and relentlessly to the end.

All difficulties were overridden in one tremendous sustained effort to terminate the war then and there in a victorious manner.

Gen. Pershing

After three hours' violent artillery preparation the attack began at 5:30 a. m. At the same time, to divert the enemy's attention elsewhere, local raids and demonstrations were made on the Meuse-Moselle front. French 4th Army (Gouraud) to our left on the west of the Argonne Forest began its attack half an hour later.

The battle opened favorably. Our attack at that particular place and at that time evidently came as a surprise to the enemy, and our troops were enabled quickly to overrun his forward positions.

Death Car Driver Paroled by Judge

Dean Mitchell, 33, of 532 Brushton avenue, was paroled for two years by Judge James H. Gray, in Criminal Court, when he pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Hugh Gallagher, 25, 1131 North Lang avenue, who was run down by Mitchell's automobile at Braddock and Frankstown avenues December 28. Mitchell said he was driving about 35 miles an hour and that Gallagher had stepped in front of his car.

'Y' Club to Inspect Atlantic Refinery

A trip through the plant of the Atlantic Refining Company will be made tomorrow afternoon by members of the Know Club, of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. They will meet in the "Y" at 1 o'clock, and then will go to the Butler street plant of the company. This is one of the weekly inspection trips being made by the club through local plants.

TRAFFIC GROUP URGES CURB CUT-BACKS

Pedestrian Islands, Stop And Go Signs Proposed At Committee's Meeting

The construction of 13 curb cutbacks and four pedestrian islands from a special unemployment emergency fund, and the installation of six school type stop-and-go signals were recommended by the Better Traffic Committee at a meeting in the City-County Building yesterday.

School type signals were proposed for installation at Fifth avenue and Boquet street, Westborn and Schimmer streets, Penn and Atlantic avenues, Brighton road, Second avenue and Elizabeth street, Lockhart and Nash streets, and East, Evergreen and Venture streets.

The curb cutbacks proposed would be at Beeler and Forbes streets, Baum boulevard and Liberty avenue, Baum boulevard and Craig street, Baum boulevard and Morewood avenue, Penn and Center avenues, Brookline boulevard and Pioneer avenue, Fifth and Wilkins avenues, Penn and Collins avenues, Dallas and Penn avenues, Grant street and Sixth avenue, Bigelow boulevard, Webster avenue and Tunnel street, Sixth avenue and Forbes street, and the island in the entrance to the Liberty Bridge approach at Forbes street.

THUG ANGERED AT OFFER TO BUY GUN

Holds Up Four; Victim Hit In Leg; Telegraph Office Looted in Another Holdup

A lone highwayman early today shot and wounded one of four men whom he held up in Washington boulevard. The robber took $27 from them after he had shot Anthony Mitchel, 20, of 7231 Tioga street, in the leg. Mitchel was treated in Pittsburgh Hospital.

The highwayman approached the four as they were entering their machine, and pointed the revolver at Mitchel, demanding $25. Mitchel joked with the robber and asked him if he cared to sell the revolver.

Without answering, the robber shot Mitchel, then proceeded to search the four men.

ROBS TELEGRAPH OFFICE

Miss Carrie L. Vincent, 22, of 1446 Greenmont avenue, Dormont, a clerk, was alone in the office when the man entered and walked behind the counter. The thug, drawing a pistol, ordered her to remain quiet.

Emptying the cash register of its contents, the robber backed out of the office and disappeared in crowded Federal street. Police, summoned by Miss Vincent, rounded up several suspects, but they were released when the clerk failed to identify them.

BURGLAR SUSPECT HELD

Entering the service station of the Sun Oil Company, at Hamilton avenue and Julius street, an armed thug ordered George Brady, of 5620 Broad street, and Joseph Larkins, of 207 South Millvale avenue, the attendants, to hold up their hands while he rifled the cash register of $15.17.

Answering a burglar alarm early today, police from the Center Avenue station captured an alleged burglar attempting, they say, to force entrance into the clothing store of Daniel Sheffler, at 1524 Center avenue. The suspect, armed with a screwdriver, was trying to jimmy a rear door, police say. The prisoner identified himself as Milton Turner, 29, a Negro, of 2909 Orbin street.

Two robberies, totaling $425, were reported to city detectives today. Ben Fink said that 17 suits and overcoats, valued at $300, were stolen from his tailor shop, at 1611 Penn avenue, during the night. Entrance was gained through a rear door.

W. C. Freehling, of 1118 Woodlawn avenue, reported his house entered during the night and $125 stolen.

PATRONAGE DENOUNCED IN FORUM

Civic Club Discusses City Manager Bill, Hears Expert Score Political Methods

Pittsburgh's present form of government comes closer to monarchy than democracy, Walter J. Millaird, of Cincinnati, field secretary of the National Municipal League, charged yesterday before an open forum on the city manager bill at a meeting of the Civic Club of Allegheny County in the William Penn Hotel.

Citing that political patronage must now follow an election to strengthen the executive's position for the next election, the speaker declared:

"And in the building up of his support there comes the testimonial dinners. There is the dirtiest racket we have had as yet. The little storekeeper is among the sufferers of this racket. He must buy tickets for the occasion. And when the money is all collected, only a small part goes to the actual dinner. The rest has been collected for another purpose."

A telegram was before Gov. Gifford Pinchot today from the Civic Club of Allegheny County urging veto of the Coyne bill giving Pittsburgh City Council power to increase the salaries of the city cabinet members.

That an increase should await the return of "decent city government" was the attitude expressed in the message sent by Maurice R. Scharff, president of the civic group. Asking Pinchot to disapprove the bill, the wire continued:

"Majority of present Council controlled by same political organization now being investigated for mismanagement of city business. No increased salaries should be authorized until decent city government has been restored in Pittsburgh."

Cloud Appointed Dormont Secretary

Harold J. Cloud, Bethel Township, was appointed borough secretary of Dormont at a Council meeting last night. He succeeds Frank Manns, who resigned March 1.

The meeting was perhaps the shortest in the history of Council, requiring but three minutes.

Fishermen to Give Casting Exhibition

A demonstration of fly and bait casting will be presented by members of the Isaac Walton League of Pittsburgh at a meeting of the Boys' Division of the East Liberty Y. M. C. A. tonight. The demonstration will be followed by motion pictures of wild life. A junior chapter of the league may be organized among boys of the division.

County's Right to Divert Water Course Argued

The county of Allegheny does not have a right to divert the channel of a natural water course for a public improvement, according to the argument before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania here on the appeals of Clifton F. Schmidt and Martha W. Schmidt, his wife, and Margaret Grall, who unsuccessfully sought an injunction in Common Pleas Court to prevent the county from diverting Girty's run across their properties in Shaler Township in the construction of Babcock Boulevard.

Other appeals argued from Allegheny County were: Arthur Hoffman against the City of McKeesport, appellant; John Miller against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, appellant; appeal of Margaret A. Marshall in re estate of Annie V. Houghton.

Westmoreland County appeals heard were: Frank S. Moran, appellant, against H. R. Bair and others; Lottie Pore against Philip and Mary Duke, appellants.

Shuns Testimonial, Urges Fund Be Given Needy

Suggesting that money to have been expended in giving him a testimonal birthday banquet by the Fifth Ward Republican Club at the Roosevelt Hotel March 25 be spent for relief of the unemployed, Louis A. Schwartz, inspector of city engineers, today declined the honor. He said:

"I appreciate the honor about to be bestowed upon me, but in view of widespread unemployment, I suggest that money to have been used for the banquet might serve a better purpose if used for unemployment relief. I therefore respectfully decline the honor."

VOTE MACHINE RIVALS TO REPEAT DEMONSTRATION

EACH ASSERTS OTHER COULD BE 'CHEATED'

Mixup Cancels Chance to Show Flaws; Officials Get Second Look at One Type

Deliberations of the County Commissioners in their selection of a type of voting machine apparently have irked the representatives of the two competing companies. The rival salesmen are understood to have threatened to reveal how their opponent's machines can be "cheated" when balloting is in progress and in making the total tally for election day.

The Automatic Voting Machine Company has bids before the County Commissioners for a "leg" type machine at $966.31, and a "cabinet" type machine at $1,106.31. The types are distinguished by the machines' supports. The People Engineering Company has a bid before the commissioners for an American voting machine, "cabinet" type, at $1,019.

THREE MACHINES SHOWN

The three machines were demonstrated by company representative Wednesday to an audience including the three commissioners, their office staff and other spectators in the commisioners' meeting room.

Engineers of both companies became involved in an argument after the demonstration and each side cited ways in which the other's machine could be "cheated." Commissioner C. C. McGovern heard of the dispute and arranged for another demonstration yesterday, at which representatives of each company would be given an opportunity to show how the other's machine could be improperly manipulated.

The time set was for noon, but McGovern asked delay until 3 p. m., as he had a luncheon speaking engagement.

ARMSTRONG ABSENT

McGovern was the only commissioner present at 3, but was joined at 4 by Commissioner Edward V. Babcock. When it was learned Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong would not be present representatives of the Automatic machine demonstrated their own device. Later it was said representatives of the American machine were not present.

H. D. Hirsh, attorney for the latter concern, said his clients were present at noon and left without being told the time had been changed. Hirsh said an effort would be made to arrange another demonstration Monday.

UNION ROOFERS GO ON STRIKE, 100 IDLE

Fail to Reach Agreement With Contractors on New Scale; Wages Not Issue

More than 100 members of Composition Roofers Local No. 37 are on strike today, Charles A. Hazlette, secretary of the Roofing Contractors' Association, stated. According to Hazlette, the workmen failed to agree with the contractors' association on a new working agreement to supplant one which expired last month.

The old pact had been continued by mutual agreement until the strike was called. Hazlette said the offer of the contractors to continue it until May 31, was rejected. Hazlette said no wage question was involved in the strike but the union refused to sanction the employment of day laborers as helpers for journeymen roofers. The roofers receive $12 a day.

Charles A. Aquadro, business agent for the roofers' union, said the union men were working for independent contractors but not for the association. He said the dispute was partially over sending men on out-of-town work.

COUNTY RAISES ARTIST-CLERK

The appointment of George W. Layng, 5457 Coral street, as deputy register of wills, was announced yesterday by Register of Wills Joseph C. Mackrell. He succeeds Henry Erisman, Jr., of Dormont, who died recently after 29 years' service.

Layng has served 28 years in the register's office and two years in other county employ. He was chief clerk prior to his promotion.

Layng is also an artist and some of his paintings have attracted public notice.

MURDER TRIAL GOES TO JURY

Eugene Batdorf, 20, of McKees Rocks, may hear the jury pronounce its verdict today in the murder case against him, which has been on trial all week in Criminal Court before Visiting Judge Norman T. Boose, of Somerset County. The jury retired this morning after Judge Boose completed his charge.

Evidence was completed and the arguments of the attorneys were made before court adjourned last night, and the jury went to its quarters in the jail building with a plea for first degree with the death penalty, made by Assistant District Attorney Roy T. Clunk, ringing in its ears.

Batdorf was charged with having participated with George C. Skidmore, who has not been captured, in the robbery September 20 of the Liberty Bell gasoline station in Warrington avenue, during which Skidmore is alleged to have shot and killed Charles Hamon, the crippled attendant.

Batdorf, in his testimony, said he remained back near the automobile and did not take part in the robbery, but admitted accepting $50 as his share of the loot from the cash register. He confessed his part to the police after they got on Skidmore's trail and got his name from Skidmore's family.

Former Pastor Here Dies at Berlin, Pa.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., March 20.—The Rev. N. L. Brown, 72, retired minister of the Methodist Church, who served 11 years as secretary of the Pittsburgh Conference, died today at his home in Berlin, Pa. He had served the California Avenue, Brighton, Mt. Washington, Liberty Street and Waynesburg charges.

Two Women Held In Store Thefts

Accused of the theft of two dresses valued at $24 from a downtown department store, Mrs. Susan Chelsa, 39, of 722 Rural road, and Mrs. Susan Mortonick, 42, of 209 Bell avenue, both of McKees Rocks, were held for court charged with larceny by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court.

Harmony Bus Line To Add 2 Coaches

The Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation Company's service will be augmented the first week in April by two new 29-passenger Yellow coaches, it was announced today by Davis I. McCahill, president. The coaches will be used in the Pittsburgh-Butler route, and represent the first delivery of a new series.

A. C. Gumbert's Kin Found Dead in Bed

J. L. Gumbert, 51, of 204 Kline avenue, Wilmerding, cousin of the late County Commissioner A. C. Gumbert, was found dead in bed this morning. Heart disease was the cause given my the coroner. Mr. Gumbert was employed in the shipping department of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. His two brothers living in East McKeesport are C. W. Gumbert and S. Clyde Gumbert.

2,000 IN COUNTY GIVEN JOBS

The Allegheny County Emergency Association has placed almost 2,100 persons in its three-day-a-week employment system, according to latest tabulations. A check of its files shows 2,091 families on the association's payroll. Prospects for the employment of more than 1,500 men are seen in a list of city improvements about to be started, it is said.

A survey of the six employment registration stations of the association shows that 5,828 work application blanks have been issued. Only a slight decrease in the number of applications filed daily is seen. Of the blanks issued, nearly 3,000 have been signed by the last regular employers of the men and returned to the stations that issued them. These are being sorted and will be filed, in the order in which they were received, with the 5,566 applications already received through relief agencies.

FETE RETIRING PATROLMAN

Retiring after 30 years of service, Patrolman Bernard Corcoran was presented with an armchair and a smoking stand at the Oakland Police Station last night.

For 20 years Corcoran was a traffic officer at Sixth avenue and Wood street. The presentation last night was made by Inspector Albert Beebe. Speakers at the affair included Inspector James N. Hoey, Capt. John W. Barry, Lieut. James Early and Magistrate James O'Connor.

10 Held in Slaying Of Mission Women

SHANGHAI, March 20.—(AP)—The arrest of 10 suspects in the slaying of Mrs. Vera Mosebar White, of Battle Ground, Wash., and Mrs. Victoria Marian Miller, of Spokane, Wash., missionaries, at Yunnanfu as they slept Sunday night, was reported to the Seventh Day Adventists mission here today. The report said the 10 included the principal culprit, who had confessed.

LONGER LIFE FOR SILK HOSE

To find a way to make silk hose and undergarments wear longer means money in women's pockets. A New York fashion expert has discovered the secret.

She found that washing with soap and water alone did not remove the body excretions which rot silks. So she adds a tablespoonful of Energine to every quart of lukewarm, soapy water. Then she washes and rinses the articles—as usual. The result is a new cleanliness—a pleasing freshness—revived colors—all with practically no rubbing.

But the most amazing result is the longer life it gives to silks—an economy every woman will appreciate.

Try this method the next time you wash silks. You'll be delighted. Remember, too, that millions of women save money by using Energine for removal of spots from suits, hats, dresses, gloves, shoes, etc. Large can 35 cents at any drug store.

REPRESENTATIVE AND HIGHLY ILLUSTRATIVE PICTURES SELECTED FROM THE 248 PHOTOGRAPHS OPEN FOR PUBLIC VIEW TOMORROW IN 18TH ANNUAL INTERNATIONAL PHOTOGRAPHIC SALON AT CARNEGIE INSTITUTE ART GALLERIES, OAKLAND

Camera Art in Preview Tonight Selected by Exacting Jurors

An international exhibition, without benefit of an expensively acquired foreign jury, will be opened tonight at a press view in the Carnegie Institute.

The eighteenth annual international salon of the Academy of Science and Art includes only 248 items selected by the three jurors—Francis O. Libby, of Portland, Me.; Ira W. Martin, of New York, and William M. Rittase, of Philadelphia—from the 1,600 submitted.

Penelope Redd suburbs.

"The jury was particularly severe. They had no desire to make our catalogue impressive by adding to the number of foreign countries contributing. They were as ruthless in rejecting prints from Java as from our own suburbs.

"This exhibition seems to have swung away from the modernistic type of photograph, which stressed pure design regardless of subject interest."

MANY INDUSTRIAL VIEWS

Conspicuously absent, also, are the many near-nudes of previous exhibitions. Industrial subjects and modern skyscrapers probably predominate in number.

There is, on the whole, less emphasis on the consciously picturesque, and increased desire to photograph with disarming simplicity.

The foreign contributors, by and large, send national scenes or genre subjects from England, Spain, France, Denmark, Austria, Italy, Canada, Belgium and Poland.

The single Czechoslovakian, Drtikol, from Prague, does a tantalizing fantasy in "The Soul," a sort of metaphysical phantom in geometric symbolism.

PITTSBURGH EXHIBITORS

From Pittsburgh, in addition to Archer, there are represented F. R. Altwater, H. Monroe Baker, W. J. Bemus, Byron H. Chatto, David and Eleanor Craig, Chester O. Henry, John Horst, Walter C. Jarrett and Jacob Yoder.

Among the distinctive groups is that comprising a score of Japanese photographers from the West Coast. The majority of them carried on the pictorial conventions of their traditional native art.

Eminent as direct portraitists are Dooner, of Philadelphia, and Dorothy Wilding, of London. Alex Keighley, of England, in a Spanish folk series; C. J. Crary, of Warren, Pa., in "Coptic Monastery"; John H. Kiem, of East Orange, N. J., in "Down Cape Cod Way," and Thomas C. Sheckell, of New York, in "Castles of Manhattan," revitalize subjects oft cameraed.

CHARACTER STUDIES

"On Guard," by Dr. H. W. Abbott, of London, a miser with his hoard, and "Patricia," by William Mortensen, of Hollywood, a child with haunting appeal, are typical of the fine character studies.

Of the many superb landscape prints, it is difficult to indicate a choice. However, "Pastoral," by Edwin W. Moyer, of Reedsburg, Wis., and "The Brook," by G. S. Becker, of Cleveland, had the impress of Wordsworthian sincerity.

While the years have not been many since the floating daguerrotype studio plied the rivers about Pittsburgh, the technical progress has made photography one of our vital, educational assets. The current exhibition adds to that a genuine aesthetic stimulus.

ALWAYS DEAD TIRED?

How sad! Sallow complexion, coated tongue, poor appetite, bad breath, pimply skin and always tired. What's wrong? Chances are you're poisoned by clogged bowels and inactive liver. Take this famous prescription used constantly in place of calomel by men and women for 20 years—Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. They are harmless yet very effective. A compound of vegetable ingredients. They act easily upon the bowels, help free the system of poison caused by faulty elimination and tone up liver.

Rosy cheeks, clear eyes and youthful energy make a success of life. Take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets, nightly. Know them by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c. All druggists.

Dinner to Honor Retiring Deputy

HARRISBURG, March 20.—(AP.)—A testimonial dinner will be given for J. Lord Rigby, of Media, here on the night of April 1, the day on which his resignation as deputy secretary of the Department of Revenue becomes effective.

The dinner will be given by employes of the Auditor General's Department, State Treasury and Department of Revenue, Rigby having been employed in all of these departments.

Borah's Increased Pay Starts April 1

WASHINGTON, March 20.—Senator Borah will receive an increase of $208.33 in his monthly pay check on April 1. The Idahoan was entitled to the raise six years ago when Congress increased the salary of senators and representatives from $7,500 to $10,000 a year. But he refused to accept it then, saying he had been elected to a $7,500 job. Borah was re-elected last November and now feels he can accept the boost.

Lift the Ugly Veil of Blemishes from your skin

RADIANT complexion beauty lies just beneath the surface. But millions of men and women suffering from constipation have a pasty, dull, sallow complexion—marred with pimples, blotches, etc. What a difference a few days' proper care will make!

Stuart's Calcium Wafers will often work wonders for such people. They help to remove the cause: a septic condition of the blood resulting from intestinal stasis. Doctors and nurses know this condition. They call such cases Septics.

Septics frequently do not realize their condition. It comes on so gradually. No one will tell them of the body odor and fetid breath. Your mirror will tell the story: Skin blemishes are Nature's danger signals.

Try This Week-end Test

A ten-cent package of Stuart's Calcium Wafers, from any druggist—and follow directions for three days. What a difference! Eyes bright! Complexion clear—and with radiant natural color! Skin healthy, soft, and silken! Let one dime open this easy way to skin beauty for you.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Many Social Affairs To Honor Newlyweds Returning Tuesday

Many entertainments will be given in honor of the junior Frederick G. Bannerots, who will return on Tuesday on the Saturnia from their wedding trip. Their marriage took place on February 17, I'm sure you recall, and the bride was Mary Frances Palmer, daughter of the George O. Palmers, of Miami Beach, Fla.

Mrs. Frederick G. Bannerot, mother of the bridegroom, will give a tea for the bride in the Hotel Schenley on Saturday. Among other events honoring the young Bannerots will be a dinner Henry Wilmer, of the Schenley Apartments, will give on Friday, and a dinner-dance in the Pittsburgh Country Club A. B. Cline III of Ellsworth avenue will give in their honor on Saturday night.

In spite of the supposed dullness of the lenten season, there seems to be any number of informal affairs and entertainments to divert folks, and one that will prove most amusing is a presentation of George Bernard Shaw's comedy, "Androcles and the Lion," which the Arnold School Dramatic Club is to present in the Pittsburgh Athletic Association tonight. I have already told you a few of the patronesses and today I can tell you quite a few more who have lent their support. Among them are Mrs. J. Fred Lisslefelt, Mrs. Alexander Mann, Mrs. Elder W. Marshall, Mrs. Watson Marshall, Mrs. W. S. McClintic, Mrs. J. Horner McCready, Mrs. J. S. McCormick, Mrs. T. E. McMurray, Mrs. I. D. Metzger, Mrs. J. M. Phillips and Mrs. A. C. Pollock.

Others include Mrs. Cornelius D. Scully, Mrs. Kenneth Seaver, Mrs. Theodore F. Smith, Mrs. Willibald Trinks, Mrs. G. C. Watt, Mrs. C. D. Weltach, Mrs. O. R. Wikander, Mrs. Robert E. Withers and Mrs. J. Merrill Wright.

News of Travelers

Many Pittsburghers may be found at Ormond Beach, Fla. At a dinner dance the Paul J. Myers, of Hamilton, Ontario, gave Tuesday evening at the resort, were the Arthur L. Humphreys, who plan to return on Monday, and the Frank Faber Brookses, who returned home last night.

Included in other parties at the same hotel were the junior John M. Ricketsons, Miss Sarah Ricketson, Mrs. Halsey Williams, Mrs. Albert D. Fell, Grant McCargo, Miss Emma and Miss Elizabeth McCargo, Mrs. James W. Brown, the Joseph W. Marshes, and the John MacGregors.

Miss Romaine Clark, who is at the Hotel Soreno in St. Petersburg, entertained Tuesday evening with a supper bridge.

Mrs. James W. Henry and her daughter, Frances, are expected home next week from Miami Beach.

The G. Cook Kimballs are expected home this week from the South. Their daughter, Marjorie, has returned after a sojourn in New York.

Rebecca Follansbee, daughter of the John Follansbees, is home from Miami where she was the guest of her fiance, Mifflin W. Blackistone and of his mother, Mrs. Robert D. Blackistone, of Washington.

Society Returns

Mrs. Blair Childs, of Beeler street, who has been the guest of her parents, the Samuel Robinsons, of Santa Barbara, Cal., for the past month, is expected home in early April.

The Charles A. Wilsons and their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, are spending some time in Havana. Next week Mr. Wilson will return home and Mrs. Wilson and their daughter will go to Miami to remain until the first of May.

MENACE WHEN OVERDONE, BUT PLAIDS ARE IN

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, March 20. — We won't have to plead for plaid this season, rather some of us will no doubt plead to be relieved of it. For plaids are in, there is no doubt about that, and unless one is color blind, one is going to meet them everywhere. The really wise woman won't overdo this plaid thing. She'll use plaids in clever touches and seldom, if ever, will she have a print of it for an entire frock. If overdone, then plaids will become a menace and will be treated as such by the moguls of the mode.

BUT A LITTLE plaid woolen jacket with a dark skirt is charming and irresistibly young and fresh; and so is a dark suit with a plaid scarf and touch of plaid in the little hat or accompanying handbag. No fashion should ever be done to death and surely plaid, with its lines and endless variety of color schemes deserves a better fate than that. And so let there be no danger note in the gathering of the clans, but remember that there is terror in the tartan. But don't let this diatribe stop you from your share of plaid.

PREMET IS ONE of the houses that uses plaid with discretion and taste. Ideal for a young woman is the smart street ensemble. There is an overblouse and scarf of red and blue plaid woolen with a circular skirt and narrow belt in dark blue woolen. The scarf is detachable and the sleeves are cl[ose]-fitting.

* * *

TO THE RIGHT will be found a sketch of a new and most youthfully engaging coat by Lanvin. It is of beige homespun and the collar is of matching beige lamb. There are large pouch pockets at each hip. The tipped waistline and flared skirt give the youthful note to this most useful as well as orn[a]mental garment.

YALE HONORS PITTSBURGHERS

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 20.—(AP.)—Honor students for the first term at Yale University totaled 699, it was announced at the college. The total represents 27.5 per cent of the undergraduate enrollment.

The class of 1932, with 210 honor students, led the list; the class of 1931 had 199; the class of 1933, 120, and the class of 1934, 170.

Among the seniors who received high honors were Henry J. Heinz II, of Pittsburgh, business manager of the Yale News; John T. McClintock, Jr., Huntington, W. Va., business manager of the Yale Literary Magazine.

Among the sophomores on the honor list were Paul Block, Jr., New York, son of the publisher, and Nicholas V. F. Munson, Muncy, Pa., member of the crew, boxing, football and wrestling teams.

DOG FACTOR IN WENDEL WILL

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—The New York Times today said the late Miss Ella V. Wendel, last of her clan, had bequeathed to Flower Hospital a considerable share of an estate estimated at $100,000,000.

While her will has not yet been filed for probate, the Times said it had learned definitely that the estate had been divided into 200 parts and that 35 parts would go to the hospital.

Back of the gift is a story of a dog that broke its leg. Many years ago, it is said, one of the Wendel sisters took the current Tobey, one of a long line, to the hospital and a surgeon obligingly set its broken limb. Thereafter, the family contributed a total of $60,000 to the institution.

Third Party Talk Still Stirs Politics

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP.)—Third party talk continued in political circles as an aftermath to the recent Progressive conference, despite denials from leaders of that meeting that they plan such a movement.

Senator J. Hamilton Lewis, (Dem.), of Illinois, predicted a third party would result from the Progressive movement initiated at that conference, which will hold the balance of power in this country. Claiming the leadership of both old parties is being challenged, Representative Collins (Dem.), of Mississippi said a third party may be formed if the Republican and Democratic parties "place reactionary nominees and platforms before the people."

PRUDENCE PENNY'S RECIPES

GRILLED MACARONI — Two cups quick cooking macaroni, 4 tablespoons butter, 3 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup.

Put macaroni into a pan with butter and seasoning. Cook 5 minutes and served with grilled tomatoes. To make the grilled tomatoes, dip rather thick slices of unpeeled tomatoes in flour and fry until brown.

NOODLE LOAF — Two cups cooked noodles, 1 cup hot milk, 1 cup bread crumbs, 1 cup grated cheese, 3 tablespoons butter, melted, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 tablespoon minced green pepper, 1 tablespoon minced red pepper, 3 beaten eggs.

Combine the ingredients in the order given, folding in the stiffly beaten whites at the last. Butter a loaf pan, add the noodles, and set it in a pan of hot water. Bake in a slow oven for 40 to 45 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce.

CURRY OF MACARONI — One and one-half cups quick cooking macaroni, 1½ cups sliced cold meat, 2 tablespoons meat drippings or butter, 1½ cups gravy, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons curry powder, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 apple, cut or chopped fine.

Break the macaroni in pieces and cook 5 to 8 minutes in boiling salted water. In the meantime melt the shortening and add the onion and apple. Cook slowly until the onions begin to brown. Add the flour and the curry powder and stir over a slow fire for 2 or 3 minutes. The amount of curry powder used depends on the taste. Stir in the stock, vinegar and enough salt and pepper to season. Put in the meat, cover closely and simmer for 15 minutes. Drain the macaroni and pile in a hot dish. Pour the curry over and around it and serve hot.

CHOCOLATE NUT FUDGE CAKE—Half cup fat, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 eggs, ½ cup milk, ½ cup boiling water, 2½ squares chocolate, cut fine, 2 cups flour, 1 cup nuts, broken, 2 teaspoons baking powder.

Cream fat and sugar. Add vanilla, salt, eggs and milk. Beat three minutes. Mix chocolate and water. Heat slowly until blended. Cool. Add with rest of ingredients to sugar mixture. Beat 3 minutes. Pour into 2 layer cake pans. Bake 25 minutes in moderately slow oven. Cool and frost.

FROSTING—Three tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons hot coffee, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1½ squares chocolate, melted, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 2-3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar, 2 tablespoons cream.

Mix all ingredients and beat 2 minutes. Let stand 2 minutes, then beat until very creamy.

GRAPEFRUIT APPETIZER WITH GINGER—Cut the grapefruit in halves. Run a grapefruit knife between the pulp of the fruit and skin. Make incisions on each side of each section. Remove the separating membrane and the center core at the same time by clipping at the base with a sharp scissors.

Add 2 tablespoons of powdered sugar to each grapefruit. Cut 5 pieces of preserved ginger in small pieces and fill the center of the grapefruit with it. Pour 4 teaspoons of ginger juice over the grapefruit and chill for an hour before serving.

BAKED NOODLES, CHEESE AND HAM — Two tablespoons flour, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2½ cups cooked noodles, ¾ of a cup grated cheese, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup evaporated milk diluted with 1 cup water, 1 cup cold ham, coarsely ground.

Mix the flour, salt and pepper with a little of the diluted milk to a smooth paste. Add it to the remaining milk and bring slowly to the boiling point, stirring constantly. Put a layer of noodles in a great casserole, sprinkle with cheese and ham and pour the sauce over it. Then add alternate layers of noodles, cheese, ham and sauce until all the ingredients are used. Cover and bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Serve eight.

CHINESE MOLDS — Two eggs, 1 cup cooked rice, 1 cup grated cheese, ½ cup evaporated milk diluted with ½ cup water, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper.

Beat eggs, add diluted milk and remaining ingredients. Mix thoroughly and put into greased custard cups. Place in a pan of hot water and bake in moderate over (350 degrees F.) 45 minutes. Serve six.

(Note—May be served in molds or turned out and arranged on platter.)

FROZEN FRUIT SALAD WITH HONEY DRESSING — One-half cupful diced canned pineapple, ½ cup sliced oranges, ½ cup fresh strawberries and ½ cup canned or fresh cherries mixed thoroughly and chilled.

Soak 1 teaspoon gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold water for 5 minutes. Dissolve over hot water and put into the dressing made by whipping 1 cup cream and adding 2 tablespoons strained honey, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1-16 teaspoon salt. Add the prepared fruits, put in a mold and freeze. Serve on lettuce garnished with fresh strawberries.

JAM CAKE WITH WHIPPED CREAM—Cream ½ cup of butter with 1 cup sugar, and add the beaten yolks of 3 eggs. Dissolve ½ teaspoon soda in ¼ cup buttermilk. Sift 1½ teaspoons baking

Carrots Known to Be Rich In Vitamin Content

To get vitamin C, eat this vegetable raw as some of this content is lost in the cooking.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.,
Former Health Commissioner of New York City, United States Senator From New York.

"Eat carrots and you will have curly hair." Were you ever told that? I was and believed it when I was a child. I will not say what effect this saying had on my youthful mind, but its application didn't curl my hair. But, unfortunately, children must be coaxed to eat lots of things that are good for them.

It has been used for centuries. But in late years the cultivated variety we now use has become popular. This vegetable is extensively consumed, to a greater extent in Europe than in the United States.

RICH IN VITAMINS

The young, tender carrot is most desirable, both for flavor and for its vitamin content. Carrots contain vitamins A, B, C and G. When young, the presence of the vitamin C is greater than in the old carrot.

If you can eat them raw by all means do so, as most vegetables lost some vitamin C in the cooking. Then you are getting all the vitamin content.

For the young child or invalid serve a grated raw, tender carrot for variety. A dish of carrot salad is advised by many physicians as part of the diet in certain cases of diabetes. Creamed or buttered carrots are wholesome and for this either the young or the old carrot may be used.

If you are striving to lose weight and wonder what to eat, include in the diet a carrot omelet, made of mashed carrots and an egg. This offers a welcome change from your routine diet.

INDISPENSABLE VEGETABLE

Though I cannot assure you of the value of the carrot as a hair tonic, I can highly recommend it as an indispensable vegetable. It is one which should grace our tables as frequently as possible.

One of my friends has a little daughter who does not like carrots. This wise mother mashes up this vegetable and mixes it with others the child does like. From the combination, attractive sandwiches are made.

We have to use strategy sometimes to solve the vegetable problem. There can be no doubt that too many of us, old as well as young, are neglectful of the vegetable diet. We need the elements the gardens supply.

Sacred Heart Church Gets $10,000 Gift

Sacred Heart Church will receive a gift of $10,000 from an anonymous donor, Easter Sunday, if the congregation donates a like sum, according to the Rev. Thomas F. Coakley. Wage-earning members of the congregation will be asked to contribute $5 towards the sum. This is the thirteenth time in six years that the parish has received a gift on similar terms, Father Coakley says.

Girl Balks Towing Of Car; Arrested

PHILADELPHIA, March 20. — (AP.) Miss Lillian May Rote, 23, of Lancaster, Pa., was arrested here because she refused to leave her automobile when a police towing squad wanted to tow it away.

She had driven here from Lancaster for shopping and parked it on Chestnut street above Sixteenth. She was seated in it when a towing squad arrived. They ordered her out and she was arrested and charged with breach of the peace when she refused to obey. Friends obtained her release on a copy of the charge.

powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon all-spice, and ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg with 1½ cups flour.

Add 1 cup of jam to the sugar and butter mixture. Then add the flour and milk alternately. Add 1 cup chopped nuts and ½ cup chopped raisins. Lastly fold in the beaten whites of the 3 eggs. Bake in a moderate oven in 3 layers. Use a butter filling and icing and serve with whipped cream.

RIVIERA APPETIZER—Toast or saute round of breads on both sides. Remove bones from one 3½-ounce can of sardines, add the yolks of 4 hard-cooked eggs and mash together thoroughly. Moisten with mayonnaise and season to taste with salt. Spread on rounds of toast. Put thin strips of the white of the hard-cooked eggs cross-wise over the top with a small stuffed olive in the center. Make a border around the edge of the toast with finely minced pimento. This makes 12 to 16 appetizers.

CALIFORNIA LEMON PIE—Pour eggs, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup sugar, 3 tablespoons water, 1 lemon (juice and rind).

Cook yolks of eggs, ½ cup sugar, salt, lemon juice and grated rind and water in double boiler until thick (8 to 10 minutes, stirring constantly). Remove from fire and stir into whites beaten stiff with rest of sugar. Put in baked shell and bake in hot oven (375 to 400 degrees F.) until nicely browned.

WESTERN JELLY PIE—Two cups milk, 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 egg yolks, beaten, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 5 tablespoons instant tapioca, 2 egg whites, ¼ teaspoon salt, ½ cup shredded cocoanut, 1 cup currant or apple jelly.

Scald milk in a double boiler; add mixed tapioca, sugar and salt. Cook over flame until tapioca is transparent, stirring frequently, then remove from the stove and pour on beaten egg yolks. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture is thickened. Add cocoanut and vanilla and cool. Fill baked pie shell with tapioca mixture and spread with a layer of jelly, about ⅛ inch thick. Fold sugar into stiffly beaten egg whites and spread over the jelly. Return to slow oven (300 degrees F.) to brown meringue. Serve cold.

SOUTHERN MACAROON PIE—One-half cup sugar, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, 3 eggs, ½ dozen macaroons.

Blend sugar, cornstarch and salt together. Stir in well-beaten yolks and milk. Cool over hot water until it is thick as cream. When it is cool, add finely rolled macaroons. Then put in baked pie-shell and bake in a moderate oven till firm. Cover with meringue (3 egg whites) beaten stiff with 6 tablespoons sugar. Scatter ¼ cup blanched and shredded almonds over top of pie. Replace in slow (300 degrees F.) oven and bring to a golden brown.

SAVORY LETTUCE SALAD—Cut one canned pimeto into very thin strips. Add ½ teaspoon onion juice, 1 tablespoon minced olives or stuffed olives, ¼ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper and ½ cupful diced cucumber. Mix well, add 2 tablespoons crisp diced bacon and strew over the shredded lettuce. Have lettuce marinated in French dressing. Serve with French dressing.

CREAMED COTTAGE CHEESE PIE—Line a deep pie plate with prepared pastry and add the following: Three well-beaten eggs, 1 cup creamed cottage cheese, 1 cup of shredded cocoanut, 9 tablespoons of sugar, 1 teaspoon of nutmeg, 2 cups of milk or enough to fill the pie plate. Bake as you would custard pie, being careful to reduce the heat to prevent its becoming watery.

FROZEN STRAWBERRIES AND MARSHMALLOWS — One cup sugar, 1 quart strawberries, ¼ cup cold water, ¾ cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons gelatine, 2 cups whipped cream, 15 marshmallows.

Mix sugar, water and strawberries and boil five minutes; add the gelatine which has been soaked in the cold water and stir until dissolved. Chill. Add whipped cream and marshmallows, which have been cut in quarters. Freeze.

STRAWBERRY PARFAIT—Boil 1 cup of sugar and 1 cup of water until it threads (about five minutes). Pour gradually over the stiffly beaten whites of 3 eggs, stirring constantly. Stir in 1 pint of cream, whipped, and 1 tablespoon vanilla. Lastly fold in 1 pint of fresh, well-washed strawberries that have been cut in quarters. Reserve a few for the garnish on the parfait. Freeze for four hours or longer.

GRAHAM CRACKER CAKE

1 cup brown sugar.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 egg.
1 cup sour milk (you may use a little more sometimes).
1 small teaspoon soda (dissolved in milk).
2 teaspoons baking powder (stir in with crumbs).
30 graham crackers rolled in crumbs.

Cream the shortening and sugar; add the beaten egg, then milk, and stir in the cracker crumbs.

Bake in two layers.

Filling.

½ cup sugar.

Pour hot water over dates to remove the thin skin, then cut in small pieces and cook—not too much.

MOLASSES SPICE CAKE

½ cup granulated sugar.
½ cup lard.
2 eggs beaten lightly.

Scald 1 teaspoon baking soda in ½ cup coffee or water.

2 heaping teaspoons baking powder.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2½ cups flour.

Mix flour, spices, salt and baking powder together and add to this 2 ounces of broken nut meats and ½ cup seedless raisins.

Stir this into the first mixture and bake in moderate oven for 45 minutes.

LAST-MINUTE APPLE CAKE

Line a pan with sliced apples.

Sprinkle with sugar, cinnamon and butter.

Make a batter of 1 cup of flour.

1 egg.
½ cup of sugar.
1 tablespoon of butter.
½ cup of milk.
1 teaspoon of baking powder.

Pour mixture over the apples.

Bake half an hour.

Turn it over and serve with whipped cream or sweet sauce.

ZWIEBACK NUT CAKE

4 eggs.
½ teaspoonful baking powder.
1 cupful grated zwieback.
1 cupful chopped walnuts.
1 teaspoonful vanilla.
½ pint double cream.

Beat the yolks of eggs well with the sugar.

COTTAGE PUDDING

¼ cup butter.
2-3 cup sugar.
1 egg.
1 cup milk.
2¼ cups flour.
4 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt.

Cream butter, add sugar gradually, and egg well beaten.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt.

Bake 35 minutes.

Vanilla Sauce

½ cup sugar.
1 teaspoon cornstarch.
1 cup boiling water.
2 tablespoons butter.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
Few grains salt.

Mix sugar and cornstarch, add water gradually, stirring constantly.

Boil 5 minutes.

Remove from fire, add butter and vanilla.

BRAN MUFFINS

1 cup sifted flour.
3½ teaspoons baking powder.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons sugar.
1 egg, well beaten.
¾ cup milk.
3 tablespoons butter, melted.
1 cup Bran Flakes.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again.

Combine egg and milk.

Add flour, stirring as little as possible.

PINEAPPLE UPSIDEDOWN CAKE

1 cup brown sugar.
1 medium can sliced pineapple.

Melt butter slightly in heavy frying pan. Spread over this the brown sugar and then lay on pineapple rings.

3 eggs.
1 cup sugar.
5 tablespoons pineapple juice.
1 cup flour.
1 teaspoon baking powder.

Beat egg yolks, add sugar pineapple juice, flour sifted with baking powder. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour over first mixture and bake in moderate oven. When done, place cake plate on top of pan and reverse. Serve with whipped cream. (Pan should be 11 inches in diameter and 3 inches deep.)

"I LEARNED TO DUNK IN JUST 12 MINUTES"

Says Mrs. O. Duncan Dipmore, of Podunk

And you, too, can master this graceful social art—quickly and easily, if you put your mind to it. Just take a Uneeda Biscuit and hold it firmly between the thumb and forefinger. Immerse it (without wetting the fingers) in coffee, tea, cocoa, milk—or any other wholesome beverage. Allow four seconds for soaking to be completed. Then go ahead—and joy be with you!

You'll be a Dunketeer from then on—a source of solemn pride to the American Society for the Promotion of Dunking.

THE BETTER WAY TO PREVENT CONSTIPATION

YOU MUST look out for the health of your family. Often a faulty diet leads to constipation. Headaches, dizziness, loss of energy follow. Husband and children become irritable. Serious disease may develop.

You can prevent this by including roughage in the diet. A pleasant way to supply this roughage is with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious, ready-to-eat cereal.

Two tablespoonfuls daily, for each person, will prevent and relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases, use with each meal. Do this instead of giving them habit-forming pills and drugs.

ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron to enrich the blood and lend color to cheeks and lips. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PITTSBURGHER HELD IN CRASH

WASHINGTON, Pa., March 20.—George R. Crim, 45, of 7425 Ammon way, Pittsburgh, was being held in the city jail here pending a hearing today on charges of violating the automobile laws. Highway patrolmen said Crim was responsible for an automobile accident involving four machines on the National Highway last night.

John Clark, 30, of New Philadelphia, was injured seriously when his car was struck by Crim's automobile, police reported. Mrs. Clark and two children riding in the Clark machine escaped injury.

Crim's car then struck that of Matthew R. Mahoney, of Castle Shannon. Frank Capers, of Tridelphia, W. Va., was driving by at the time, and his machine is said to have struck the three automobiles. All four cars were badly damaged.

Highway patrolmen said Crim was intoxicated.

PLANES MOVE ARTILLERY

PANAMA CITY, March 20.—(Universal.)—The movement of a field artillery battalion by air, the first such undertaken in the history of the world, will take place here today.

The equipment and personnel of the Second Field Artillery battalion are to be loaded on bombers at France Field here, and flown to Rio Hato, 85 miles away on the North Coast. They are scheduled to be unloaded and put in action a half-hour after the takeoff.

Decree to Restore Liberties in Spain

MADRID, March 20.—(AP.)—Premier Aznar announced that he had sent to King Alfonso in London a decree restoring all constitutional guarantees and said he expected the king to return it with his signature immediately.

Real Estate

The Kelly-Wood Real Estate Company, East Liberty brokers, has sold for S. Lando & Son to C. M. Kelly a new 8-room house with three baths and a two-car garage on lot 36x150 feet at 1016 Murrayhill avenue. The house, according to the realtors, was held at $22,500. The same brokers have sold for Grace D. Jams to G. F. Huff, Jr., a modern nine-room residence with two baths and garage at 6122 Callery street. The lot is 40x125 feet.

A total of 344 mortgages representing a value of $1,526,788 were placed on record from March 12 to, and including, March 18, according to the weekly report of C. C. C. Stotler, secretary-treasurer of the Title Guarantee Company. Twenty-four, amounting to $91,301.25, were purchase money mortgages, the report showed. Straight mortgages numbered 320 and had a valuation of $1,435,486.75. Ninety-four mortgages were to corporations, 148 to building and loan associations and 78 to individuals.

George Brothers, renting agents for the Investment Building, Fourth avenue, have increased the leased space of the building by approximately 50 per cent within the last five months. A total of 15,000 square feet has been leased to 25 tenants since October 11, 1930. The rooms can be arranged in suites or divided off into separate and compact offices by means of adjustable partitions.

A home in Standish boulevard, Mt. Lebanon, with eight rooms and two baths, has been sold by A. N. Crouch, builder, to C. C. Patterson through the offices of the Stevenson-Williams Company, South Hills brokers. The same brokers report that 30 homes with a total valuation of approximately $400,000 have been sold by them within the past few months.

The Peoples Building and Loan Association, of McKeesport, the Eureka Savings and Loan Association, Carnegie, and the Anchor Building and Loan Association, Carnegie, have applied for admission to the United States Building and Loan Association. The applications will be acted on next week.

W. A. Bode & Co. has sold to Homer G. Kraber a brick home in Sunset Hills, Mt. Lebanon, for $10,700.

Pattern 2124
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

An unusual smart cotton frock for a small girl, adopts the semi-fitted bodice and full flared skirt from the grown-up mode. The narrow front panel is cut in one with the skirt, and forms a smart attachment for the bodice where it is slightly gathered. Pattern 2124 may be made with short kimono sleeves, or with the long puffed sleeves so smart this season. The collar ties softly in a pert knot at the neckline.

May be obtained only in sizes 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 requires 1¾ yards of 36-inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

IT'S EASY TO WIN! WRITE 15 BEST USES FOR BAB-O

THE BAB-O $5,000 Cash Prize Contest is open to all. It is easy to win and everybody has an equal chance. Read how. How would you like to receive the first prize check for $1,000?

Just write a list of 15 best BAB-O uses.

In this announcement are many suggested uses for BAB-O to help you win. Each paragraph in the "Suggested Uses" at the right will be accepted as one use. You can substitute some new uses if you desire, but send in only 15 uses.

Prizes will not be awarded on handwriting or spelling. You can use pencil, pen or typewriter, but write on one side of paper only.

YOU CAN WIN

Time is no essence in this Contest. The last list sent in stands just as good a chance to win a prize as the first list. Artistic, fancy or uniquely arranged lists stand no better chance than your plain list. The Judges are impartial household economic authorities. No one connected with B. T. Babbitt, Inc., makers of BAB-O, or members of his or her family can enter this Contest.

The $5,000 Cash Prizes will be given to those who submit the list of 15 best uses for BAB-O in the opinion of the Judges, whose decision will be final.

To win a cash prize you do not have to be a user of BAB-O, the wonderful magic powder for enamel, porcelain, etc.

If two or more contestants tie for any prize, each of those tying will be given the full cash amount of that prize. The Contest will end June 15, 1931.

Be sure to read carefully the Suggested Uses for BAB-O just to the right of this paragraph.

ENTER THE CONTEST NOW!

Be sure to write plainly your name, street address, city and state at the head of your list.

We cannot undertake to return any entries or enter into correspondence concerning them.

Send your list of 15 best BAB-O uses without delay to: BAB-O Contest Dept. 95, 386—4th Ave., N. Y. C.

Is there a difference in Prunes?

WHEN you want the finest in most any food, you buy by brand and package. You stick to the names you know stand for quality. You have learned it is the safe way to buy.

It's the same way with prunes. If you ask for "just prunes" you will probably get "just prunes."

But if you ask for SUNSWEETS you will get the finest prunes California produces . . . plump, tender, thin-skinned fruit, delicious in flavor and rich in natural fruit sugar, mineral salts and valuable vitamins. SUNSWEETS are gently laxative and not only good, but good for you.

Women Go Stockingless

English winters usually call for woolen stockings, but several smart women have recently been appearing stockingless in the evening.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

If You Want to Be Thought Regular—Be Regular

He calls her his "suppressed desire."

His letter is brief—and on one topic only—himself. But he consumes most of the dictionary in doing that topic justice.

He's a Flaming Youth with an Irresistible Charm—he admits it himself.

He could have any girl—without half trying—

And yet

So he'd like to know—

Knows Weaknesses

But what's the use of me trying to explain, with a Mighty Word Slinger like Super-Sheik on the air. Get in on his skit for yourself. It beats Amos 'n' Andy.

"Dear Sally:

"I have read several of your articles appearing from time to time, and I admit some of them are good.

"Perhaps this is an amazing case to you.

"I am a young fellow who does not take girls seriously at all. I have gone with many just for the fun of it. I have come at last to the greatest mystery of all.

"There is a girl towards whom I have shown much affection, and she does care for me some also. For quite a time I have been a good friend of hers, but as I mentioned, I do not take girls seriously. She cared for me a great deal, and showed it . . . but being a protagonist of making petty love to girls, I could not become an antagonist to her. In fact, I do like this girl above others.

"I have studied for a long time the alternative systems of weaknesses that girls possess, and am capable of thus assuming friendship with girls.

A Flaming Youth

"Thus my 'suppressed desire' culminates in the impression that I am a skirt-chaser.

"Her girl friends also know of my reputation, and would consider it a good show if I would surrender. Why doesn't the girl become the antagonist and I the protagonist? Then it would be a different story.

"The girl really thinks I do care for her, but is it not enough proof, that through specific actions, I would give up my best friend for her? And she knows that.

"What do you suggest? Should I resume my friendship for her?

"I can win almost any girl I want, because of my personality and disposition, but there are other things more valuable to me.

"How can I convince the girl that I am not a skirt-chaser and a cutthroat of other boys' girl friends?

"Can you solve this? I'll bet you can't!

"Remember, I know of every ruse that a girl falls for, and am myself quite a flaming youth.

"I do not take girls seriously, but this would relieve my mind of a burden.

"SUPER SHEIK."

Oh, yeah?

So you know "all the ruses"—do you? And can get any girl you want?

Then why the Big Moan?

I'll tell you why!

You're moaning because you're a flop!

Must Be Regular

Your Large Words of Praise for yourself are nothing but camouflage. You are not a riot—except with yourself. And that weak look on the faces of your lady friends does not come because they are blinded with admiration . . . but because they are busting with giggles.

You're just a silly, scared young man trying to get along—and failing to make the grade.

Because it isn't your deep, dark secret . . . you share that secret with millions of other lonely, timid, conceited, cussed, bewildered humans. Like all those others, you want to be considered Regular—but you can't put it over. Want a recipe, son? Here it is:

If you want to be considered Regular, be Regular.

Cut out the wild boasts, the conceited yawps, the elaborate false front. Act your age. Be frank and friendly and simple and sane.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, March 21

The lunar transits bearing rule over the activities of this day point to adverse and hostile situations difficult to circumvent. There is peril and danger to business interests as well as to personal safety, with threat of underhand attack or subtle machinations as well as delays and disappointments generally. It would be wise under such stellar conflict to remain quiet and aloof until the astral influences change to supporting positions.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year calling for very quiet, self-contained and cautious behavior as there are hazards to business, personal integrity and physical well-being. There are hints of subtle as well as open hostility, with duplicity, malice and even violence. Shun quarrels and keep quiet.

A child born on this day may require early training and discipline to keep in control a violent and impassioned temperament, with some erratic, subtle and vindictive tendencies. The sooner self-restraint and nobility of character are inculcated the better.

Household Hints

We remark that the trunk is so shabby and then do nothing at all about it. Wash it off well and when dry, give it a coat of clear varnish. It will improve it wonderfully.

When having coal put in the cellar be sure the cellar door leading to the house is closed. Otherwise, you will have that fine coal dust over the furniture on the first floor.

Slit the side of large fresh gum drops, insert a life-saver candy as the handle of a candle holder, drill a small hole in the top of the gum drop and insert a tiny candle. The candy candle holders make pretty favors for the child's birthday party.

Pretty Hard to Fool Any of the People Any Time These Days, Says Fay King

By FAY KING

Some folks who think they are fooling everyone would have a surprise in store if they could find out how much is known about them.

Most persons are inclined to mind their own business and not get mixed up in any trouble if they can avoid it.

But nothing suspicious goes on about them without being duly observed.

Seeing nothing, knowing nothing and remembering nothing is the safety slogan of the majority, but means nothing in most cases.

It's pretty hard to fool any of the people any of the time these days.

When you think you do it is because they prefer to have you think so.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Prompts Noel to "Play the Game."

I did not subscribe to Noel's opinion of young Mr. Cameron, although I had no liking for the conceited talkie star. I, too, had heard the usual stories of his exploits, but I knew what exaggeration there was in stories about theatrical people and discounted them heavily. A handsome, pleasing, overrated, conceited youth, who possessed great attraction for romantic young women—this was my secret opinion of him, and I smiled tolerantly at Noel's heat.

"I'm sure you are mistaken, Noel," I said. "Remember that Mr. Underwood knows the theatrical world inside out. He would not have permitted young Cameron to breathe the same air as Marion if the young man were the kind you think him to be. And I am sure your father would not have brought him either. But, dear boy," I laid my hand on his arm, "I know exactly what you're going through, and it isn't particularly pleasant for you. But the worst is over. Mr. Cameron cannot possibly monopolize Mary at the dance. She's by far the best dancer in the room, you know, and every youth will want as many chances to dance with her as he can get. And with three extra men, she ought to be rushed all the evening. Then you'll get your share of dances. You ought to be proud of her, Noel." I spoke with a sudden heat, for the boy's behavior was disappointing, especially after my explanation to him and his promise to me, "instead of—"

"I'm not jealous of her," he finished my sentence. "That is, I'm not afraid of her liking anyone better than she does me. It isn't that. I can't express it as I should. I am jealous and afraid of her ambition. There's a fool idea about this Cameron and my father in the back of my mind that I can't get rid of. I'm not going to tell you what it is now, but perhaps you'll see for yourself tonight. I hope you won't. I hope I'm mistaken, but—wait and see!"

"If you were a woman I'd call you Cassandra," I said impatiently, giving him a little shake. "But you don't look as disturbed as you did. That's one point gained. Now won't you be sensible and—"

"It's what you said about Mr. Underwood that's made me feel easier," he said. "I felt as if I couldn't stand it to have that Cameron touch Mary—dance with her—if he were the bounder I thought him. But if he's just a harmless, conceited ass I'll play up as I promised. But will you keep your eyes open and see if you don't agree with me on something when the evening's over?"

"You're very cryptic, Noel," I told him, smiling, although an inkling of his meaning, fantastic and improbable, had flashed into my mind. "But I'll watch Mr. Cameron closely."

"Watch Mary, too," he said, as I sent him away, and I stood for a second or two in speculation concerning the belief which was obsessing him. I had time for only a second, however, for there came an impatient knock upon the door, and I opened it, to see Marion and Carolyn, their lovely faces flushed, their eyes gleaming.

"Oh, Auntie Madge," Marion burst into clipped staccato speech, "aren't you ready? Mother says we mustn't go down without you, and we're all simply dying to dance. The evening is just slipping by."

"The evening is yet young, my darling," I told her, "but I shall go down this instant. Ask your Uncle Dicky to go down ahead and set the musicians to playing. Then you won't have to wait a single second after you get into the ballroom."

"That's the swellest word, 'ballroom,'" she said as she and Carolyn hurried away. "Aren't you terribly thrilled, Caro?"

"I shall have hysterics in five minutes if we don't get to dancing," Carolyn replied, but long before the time she had set she and her mates were whirling around the floor, waxed to perfection, and to the strains of an orchestra which patently, in parlance of the youngsters, "knew its onions."

I felt a bit choky at the sheer beauty of the scene, for to me there is something appealing in the sight of well-bred young people enjoying a dance. And these youngsters were not only well bred, but unusually good-looking and graceful as well. There was not a poor dancer among them, I decided, as I stood watching them, and even the least attractive of the girls, from the standpoint of beauty, was a skillful dancer and possessed of much charm.

"Mighty pretty scene," Charles Owen's voice drawled behind me. "But what's the matter with your stag line?"

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Be Sure Teeth Are Infected Before Extraction.

There is danger in every fad. An example is the indiscriminate extraction of teeth. This practice has led to a great deal of well-founded criticism.

Dr. Copeland

It has become the common belief that most ailments can be traced to infected teeth. There is no doubt in my mind of the importance in cases of such infections in seeking the causes of disease. That is one thing, but the destruction of good teeth is quite another. As in the indiscriminate removal of tonsils, too many teeth have been sacrificed unnecessarily.

I cannot refrain from telling you the tale of a man who had a severe pain in his foot. Upon consulting his physician, he was told that it would be necessary for him to see a surgeon. The surgeon believed he had an infection in his body and undoubtedly the appendix was the source of his infection. Thereupon the appendix was removed.

The pain in the foot still persisted. The patient again consulted the surgeon, who advised extraction of all the teeth. This was done.

In spite of the removal of the appendix and all his teeth, the pain in the foot persisted. In desperation, a shoemaker was consulted, who discovered a nail in the man's shoe, and thereafter the pain disappeared.

Of course, this story is a bit far fetched. Perhaps we had better call it a fable. But, at least, it carries a warning. It is all right to remove infected teeth, but obviously good ones should be spared.

No one could advocate leaving infected teeth in the mouth. But teeth are too valuable to us to permit one to be removed unless an X-ray has been taken. If that test reveals trouble, out with the tooth. But there can be no doubt too many teeth are extracted without definite indication for their removal.

It is important that every infection in the mouth be removed. There is no hurry about it, however. Teeth should not be extracted if the infection can be removed in a different way. Usually something besides extraction can be accomplished as a result of more frequent consultations between dentist and physician.

In this way many problems can be solved. There is wisdom in an exchange of views.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

When the skin is chapped it is because dead scales are being fluffed off too rapidly. Any oily application will throw on the brake, make the suicidal complexion behave. Cosmetic jellies, designed for the hands, are helpful.

The oily skin is benefited by oily cleansings. It takes oil to dig out oil, and so a good cream, rather thin and runny, should be used after the facial tubbing with bland soap and warm water. The more cold water, the better; it acts as a restraining influence on the sebaceous glands. Cut down on sweets, starches and fats; load up on fruit juices and green vegetables.

Here is the formula for an excellent tissue builder and massage cream: Melt together one-half ounce of white wax, one-half ounce of spermaceti, one ounce of cocoanut oil, one ounce lanolin and two ounces of oil of sweet almonds. Remove from heat, add one ounce of orange flower water to which a few drops of oil of lavender flowers have been added. Fluff to a cream with an egg-beater and pour into porcelain jars.

A combination of equal parts of olive oil and mineral oil, with a small amount of alcohol added, makes an ideal application to promote the growth and beauty of the hair. Apply the night before the shampoo. Alcohol heats the scalp, and the brain mat likes that.

Girls who suffer from blackheads and pimples should court sunlight. It is believed now that too-active sebaceous glands are quieted and made normal by contact with the rays of the sun. A good external treatment is the application of equal parts of boric acid and baking soda, patted dry into the skin when it is moist after the facial tubbing.

If you feel that you must have a hatrack in the hall, at least let that one be a tidy affair. Remember that the first impression of a home is a lasting one and if greeted with a hatrack piled with coats and hats, one is not apt to be impressed except with disorderliness. Hatracks can almost be classed with the old-time bustle, any way, and why not try to do without this antiquated and unsightly article?

Correct Manners

The Use of the Oyster Fork

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Lately I was given an oyster fork to eat an anchovy paste canape with. Just yesterday I was served an appetizer of tomato, anchovy, hardboiled egg and caviar. Again I was handed an oyster fork. Is this correct? I always assumed that this particular fork was only to be used for shrimp, crabmeat and oyster cocktails.

I would be very grateful if you will enlighten me on the use of the above fork. Is it correct to eat small fancy shaped appetizers in one's fingers?

May I take this opportunity to thank you for your helpful column? My husband and I both watch it with intense interest. MRS. K.

I am as much at sea as you are on how we would be expected to eat a canape or the other appetizer that you describe with an oyster fork. I am sure that I couldn't have done it. How did you manage?

You are right, of course, the oyster fork is to be used when we eat oysters, or clams, on the half-shell or served as a cocktail and with cocktails of such ingredients as shrimp, crabmeat or lobster. When we are served a canape, we should be provided with a small fork . . . the so-called "tea or buffet fork" is of a perfect size. Or a fork of luncheon size, if we have no smaller ones.

Appetizers served at table should always be eaten with a fork, or with a small knife and fork. The latter is regarded by punctilious hostesses as the perfect service. It is only when we serve appetizers with the pre-dinner beverages in the living room that we eat them in our fingers.

Correct Grammar

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Please settle an argument which arose at the breakfast table. Which is correct? "Perhaps the next time Uncle Will has tickets he will give them to Ann and I," or "Perhaps the next time Uncle Will has tickets he will give them to Ann and me?" MRS. M.

". . . He will give them to Ann and me" is correct. The preposition to is followed by the objective case, me. You can always easily test this by leaving out the first object . . . in this case Ann. You see you could say "he will give them to I."

Acknowledging the Introduction

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Should a lady, when being introduced to a gentleman, extend her hand, or should the gentleman do so first? Should he wait for her to offer her hand?

2. Is it proper to just say "How do you do" without the handshake?

3. If they meet again, what should be done? O. R.

1. When a gentleman is introduced to a lady (this is the form, not a lady to a gentleman), the lady may or may not extend her hand for a handshake as she acknowledges the introduction. But it is she who is given this privilege, and the gentleman waits for her to extend her hand. More often than not nowadays, a lady does not extend her hand.

2. Yes. This is the usual custom.

3. She may offer her hand, if she wishes, as she acknowledges the acquaintance.

"I'M going, anyway"

THE modern Miss needs no "time out" for the time of month.

If you've ever taken Bayer-Aspirin for a headache, you know how soon the pain subsides. It is just as effective in the relief of those pains peculiar to women!

Don't dedicate certain days of every month to suffering. It's old-fashioned. It's unnecessary. Aspirin will always enable you to carry on in comfort. Take enough to assure your complete comfort. If it is genuine aspirin it cannot possibly hurt you. Bayer Aspirin does not depress the heart. It does not upset the stomach. It does nothing but stop the pain.

Headaches come at inconvenient times. So do colds. But a little Bayer Aspirin will always save the day. A throat so sore you can hardly swallow is made comfortable with one good gargle made from these tablets. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Rheumatism. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking a few of these remarkable tablets. So are the little nagging aches that bring fatigue and "nerves" by day, or a sleepless night.

Nature is so inconsiderate!

POOR Alice! As old-fashioned as her mother. In mother's day there was no help for the girl who suffered every month. But this is 1931!

A million modern women have ended their monthly martyrdom to pain. They make engagements — and keep them — without a thought to the time of month.

And so can you.

If you want your periods to be painless, take Midol—a medicine made for the purpose. Take it in time, and the pain won't even start. If the pains have started, they will subside in from five to seven minutes. No matter how hard a time you've always experienced, Midol never fails.

How can anything so harmless—for Midol is not a narcotic—be so effective, and act so quickly?

Only the specialists who found this wonderful antidote for pain can answer that. But any woman who has tried it can tell you that Midol will remove your last excuse for ever giving-in to periodic pains, headaches, etc.

How "Scrappy" Lambert Keeps Coughs from Going On The Air

HAROLD "SCRAPPY" LAMBERT

The famous tenor crooner, "Scrappy" Lambert says, "It's risky to start a program on the air without a safe, quick cough remedy close at hand—one that can relieve a cough and clear up every trace of hoarseness."

That's why he uses Pertussin. It is quick and sure. Broadcasting studios use it. It is entirely free from narcotics and injurious drugs—is safe even for children. Doctors have prescribed Pertussin for more than twenty-five years because it gets at the cause of the irritation. This is coughing weather. Better watch out! Stop in at any druggist's for a bottle of Pertussin.

PENNSYLVANIA TROOPS PLAYED HEROIC ROLE IN DRIVE

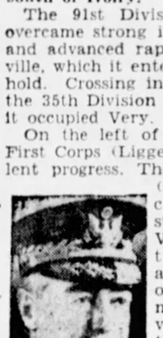
made it difficult to co-ordinate the movements of the assaulting infantry, especially of some divisions in battle for the first time, yet the advance throughout was extremely vigorous.

The 3rd Corps (Bullard), nearest the Meuse, carried the enemy's second position before dark. The 33d Division (Bell), wheeling to the right as it advanced, occupied the west bank of the Meuse to protect the flank of the army. The Bois de Forges, with its difficult terrain and strong machine gun defenses, was carried in splendid fashion.

The right of the 80th Division (Cronkhite) had by noon cleared the Bois Jure in the face of heavy machine gun fire and established its line north of Dannevoux. On its left, after an all-day fight, the division forced its way through the strong positions on Hill 262 and reached the northern slopes of that hill.

The 4th Division (Hines), on the left of the 80th, took Septsarges and firmly established itself in the woods to the north. It was abreast of Nantillois and its left was more than a mile beyond Montfaucon, but through some misinterpretation of the orders by the 3rd Corps the opportunity to capture Montfaucon that day was lost. Three counter attacks against the division during the afternoon were broken up.



Gen. Hines

Pennsylvanians Active

In the center, the 5th Corps (Cameron), with the exception of the 91st Division (Johnston), on its left, fell short of its objectives.

The 79th Division (Kuhn), on ther ight of the corps, took Malancourt, but in the open ground beyond encountered considerable opposition, and the advanced elements were not in position before Montfaucon until late afternoon.

The attack of the division launched against this strong point early in the evening was met by the fire of artillery and machine guns from the southern slopes of the hill, which held up further progress.

The 37th Division (Farnsworth), in the center of the 5th Corps, after overcoming heavy machine gun fire, pushed through the Bois de Montfaucon, and its attacks in the afternoon carried the line up to and west of Montfaucon. The left of its line, facing stiff opposition, cleaned up the woods in its front and established itself just south of Ivoiry.

The 91st Division (Johnston) overcame strong initial resistance and advanced rapidly to Epinonville, which it entered but did not hold. Crossing into the sector of the 35th Division during the day, it occupied Very.

On the left of the Army, the First Corps (Liggett) made excellent progress. The 35th Division (Traub) cleverly captured the strong position of Vauquois and took Cheppy against stubborn opposition. Elements of the division reached the corps objective east of Charpentry, but were soon withdrawn to a line west of Very.

Gen. Liggett

On the left the division captured that part of Varennes east of the Aire River, but was held up between Varennes and Cheppy. At this time a fresh regiment took the lead, giving a new impetus to the attack, and pushed the line forward to the high ground south of Charpentry.

In the 28th Division (Muir) the right brigade captured the western half of Varennes and continued about a mile farther. The left brigade, facing the eastern spurs of the Argonne, which constituted the enemy's chief defense of that forest, was unable to overcome the intense machine gun fire from the vicinity of Champ Mahaut. The 77th Division (Alexander) in the difficult terrain of the Argonne made some progress.

80th Fights Hard

The advance on the first day was rapid, as the forward elements of the German defensive zone were generally not strongly held, and had not yet been reinforced in any numbers. By the second day, however, his nearby reserves had arrived, and the enemy took full advantage of the stand at Montfaucon on the first day to strengthen his defenses.

The Germans made every use of the favorable terrain to oppose our advance by cross and enfilading artillery fire, especially from the bluffs on the eastern edge of the Argonne Forest and the heights east of the Meuse.

His light guns and the extensive use of machine guns along his lines of defense, in the hands of well-trained troops, were serious obstacles, and the advance after the second day was more difficult.

By the evening of the 27th the Fifth Corps was abreast of the First, and the Third on its flanks. The 78th Division captured Montfaucon the morning of the 27th, and on the 28th Nantillois and the Bois de Beuge were passed despite determined resistance. Twice on the 28th elements of the division penetrated the Bois des Ogons, but could not hold on.

Again on the 29th it advanced against the wood, severe casualties once more compelling retirement to the ridge north of Nantillois. Troops of the division advanced more than a mile beyond the Bois de Beuge, but were forced to fall back.

In the 3rd Corps the 80th Division had taken the Bois de la Cote Lemont after hard fighting, but attack after attack made with dogged determination across the open space toward Brieullessur-Meuse was rolled back by the galling fire of the enemy from the town and its vicinity, and by the artillery firing from east of the Meuse.

Meet Strong Opposition

The 33d Division maintained its position the 27th and 28th, and on the 29th relieved the 80th Division by extending its left along the northeastern edge of Bois de la Cote Lemont, where it occupied difficult ground under the dominating heights east of the Meuse.

The 4th Division captured Nantillois on the 27th, but was forced by enemy counter attacks to retire. The town was retaken and held on the following day by troops of the 4th and 79th Divisions. After three days of almost continuous fighting the 4th had taken the Bois de Brieulles and entered the Bois des Ogons, but could not hold the latter against counter attacks and the deadly machine gun and artillery fire of the enemy. The fortitude and courage of the 4th Division in these operations were inspiring.

The 37th Division on the 27th attempted to advance beyond the Ivoiry-Montfaucon road, but each time it reached there was driven back by heavy shelling. On the 28th, however, it pushed forward to a position north of the Cierges-Nantillois road. Cierges was entered, but not held. The following day the division again attacked Cierges, but the advance was abruptly halted by concentrated artillery fire.

The 91st Division on the 27th encountered strong opposition at Epinonville which was reached, but could not be retained. Eclisfontaine was taken but was evacuated, as an artillery barrage was to be laid on the road through the town the following day.

Epinonville was finally captured the 28th, and the Bois de Cierges was occupied after hard fighting. Two attacks of the division from the Bois de Cierges on the 29th crumbled under fierce artillery and enfilading machine gun fire, but on the third attack, despite severe losses, Genses was taken.

37th Division Stopped

The full advantage of this important gain was lost, however, through the inability of the 37th Division to advance its left. This placed the right flank of the 91st in a dangerous position, and it had to be withdrawn. During the afternoon the 35th Division was subjected to a heavy counter-attack which also involved the left of the 91st, but made no progress against it.

Three new German divisions had appeared by September 30 on the front of the 1st Corps, and the battle continued with increased intensity. The 35th Division was stopped by heavy fire soon after its attack opened September 27, but later in the day it captured Charpentry and advanced to the ridge northeast, though suffering severe casualties.

Montrebeau Wood was taken the 28th, and early the morning of the 29th a detachment reached Exermont valley, but being nearly surrounded withdrew to the starting point. Encountering very heavy artillery fire and an advance of the German 52d and 5th Guard Divisions, the 35th withdrew from Montrebeau Wood, which it had taken the day before. The 35th suffered heavier casualties than any other division during these four days of continuous fighting.

The 28th Division, though subjected to strong artillery and machine gun fire from the bluffs of the Argonne, captured Montblainville September 27. It could make slight headway against firm opposition from positions in the vicinity of Champ Mahaut, but carried them on the 28th, and also captured Apremont. On the 29th, after repulsing a German counter-attack a slight advance was made against the defenses of le Chene Tondu.

Enemy Realize Futility

The 77th Division encountered stiff resistance in the Argonne the 27th and was held to a small gain, but moved forward about a mile on the 28th. On the 29th its right was advanced with little opposition.

During the first four days of fighting the 1st Army, west of the Meuse, had made a maximum advance of about eight miles, reaching the Bois de la Cote Lemont-Nantillois-Apremont. The enemy had been struck a blow so powerful that the extreme gravity of his situation in France was obvious to him.

From the North Sea to the Meuse his tired divisions had been battered, and nowhere with more dogged determination than in front of the American 1st Army, his most sensitive point. The initial moves of the German government to stop the fighting occurred at this time, and without doubt because of the results of these four days of battle.

The enemy must have realized that the complete loss of his positions on the west bank of the Meuse was only a question of a short time. He had to hold his third defense position on our front or leave his troops opposing the French 4th Army exposed to flank attacks, thus jeopardizing his vital artery of communications. To avoid this calamity he was compelled to weaken his power of resistance on other fronts to provide reinforcements for his struggle with our 1st Army.

It should be recorded that in this dire extremity the German soldier defended every foot of ground with desperate tenacity and with the rare skill of an experienced soldier.

Germans Reinforce

The enemy quickly brought up reinforcements, one division arriving the afternoon of the 26th. By the 30th he had added six fresh divisions to his lines, with five more in close reserve. The 76th Reserve Division entered in the Argonne, the 5th Guard Division on the Aire, the 5th Bavarian Division near Nantillois, the 37th Division west of Nantillois, the 115th Division near Cierges, and the 52d near Exermont.

These were the divisions the Germans used to make the violent counter attacks against us which have just been mentioned. Our initial gains had been made against 11 enemy divisions.

The difficulties encountered by our inexperienced divisions during this phase of the fighting were not easily overcome. Liaison between the various echelons was hard to maintain owing to the broken nature of the terrain and the numerous wooded areas.

They were supported in most instances by artillery units, with which they had never before maneuvered, so perfect teamwork between artillery and infantry was not at once attained.

The question of supply during the Meuse-Argonne operations, especially in the beginning, gave us much concern. The three roads crossing No-Man's Land, over which artillery and supply trains had to move, were impassable in many places. After four years of neglect and frequent bombardment, scarcely more than traces were left. In addition to having been blown up in many places, they were further damaged by the explosion of contact mines planted by retreating Germans.

During the first four days, especially, although we had a superiority in the number of guns, the enemy's artillery had the advantage of hidden flank positions on the heights of the Meuse and in the Argonne, and its cross-fire caused us many casualties. The tremendous numbers of machine guns, located in inaccessible places, gave us much trouble.

Pennsylvanians Relieved

Telephone communications were difficult, mainly due to destruction wrought by the enemy's artillery, although somewhat due to the inexperience of our personnel. In the 5th Corps the signal battalion joined on the eve of battle, and had to learn its duties under fire. In some divisions, especially the 35th, communications were in poor condition.

The severity of the fighting, the heavy casualties and the intermingling of troops in some of our divisions were such that it seemed advisable to place in the line other divisions with more experience which had now become available. It was also thought best to limit activities to local attacks for two or three days. The 32d (Haan) and the 3d (Buck) Divisions were brought in to relieve the 37th (Farnsworth) and 79th (Kuhn) and the 1st Division (Summerall) took the place of the 35th (Traub). The 91st was withdrawn to corps reserve, and the 92d was placed at the disposal of the French 38th Corps, which was on the left of the 1st Corps.

Gen. Buck

These changes, involving the movement of more than 125,000 men over the limited routes available, already severely taxed with the transportation of ammunition, food and the evacuation of wounded, were successfully made and the army was ready for the renewal of its attacks.

Veterans Help French

It was a matter of keen regret that the veteran 2d Division was not on hand, but at Marshal Foch's earnest request it had been sent to Gen. Gouraud to assist the French 4th Army, held up at Somme Py. At no time did I refuse Foch's requests to send divisions to the assistance of the Allies, no matter how inconvenient. I always insisted, however, that these should operate as American units and should return to my command when they had accomplished their emergency mission.

It was one thing to fight a battle with well-trained, well-organized and experienced troops, but quite another to take relatively green troops and organize, train and fight them at the same time. Some of our divisions that lacked training could not have been considered available for this operation had it not been for our belief that the morale of the enemy in general was rather low, and that this was the opportunity to throw our full strength into the battle with the intention of winning the war in 1918.

During this phase and throughout the battle, I frequently visited corps and divisions to give personal encouragement to commanders and staffs, to point out deficiencies, to adjust difficulties, to keep myself directly informed of progress, and to indicate the most advantageous methods of handling the troops in future attacks.

In order to keep in closer touch with the activities of our forces, my personal staff and other officers especially qualified for this duty were sent to the front to observe the progress of the different units.

Attack With British

September 29 Premier Clemenceau visited the 1st Army. He was pleased with our progress and especially delighted at the capture of Montfaucon. He insisted on going there, notwithstanding my warning that it was dangerous and that the roads were filled with traffic. I felt real solicitude for his safety, as Mountfaucon was a target for the enemy's artillery.

The road he took was crowded with trucks that morning. He failed to reach Montfaucon and left rather disappointed, thinking, no doubt, that our transportation was hopelessly swamped, as we soon began to hear criticisms to that effect, not only by the French but even by some Americans.

The truth is that while the roads were at times congested in places, no such general condition existed.

This is shown by the fact that in the relief of three divisions by three others, more than 125,000 men were handled over the roads at this time, in addition to regular supplies. Under the circumstances the movement of the truck trains required for this purpose was especially well handled. The number of troops moved in this change was greater than the entire Northern Army in the battle of the Wilderness.

Good reports came in regarding the operations on the 29th of our Second Corps (Read), which was with Gen. Rawlinson's British Fourth Army. With both the 30th (Lewis) and the 27th (O'Ryan) divisions in line, this corps formed the main wedge in the attack against that portion of the German lines which included the Bellicourt tunnel of the Cambrai-St. Quentin Canal. This tunnel, about 6,500 yards, served as an extremely effective shelter for the protection of German troops in that sector.

Gen. O'Ryan

The Second Corps, attacking September 29 against stiff resistance, gallantly captured the ridge line of the tunnel, a part of the Hindenburg Line. The 30th Division did especially well. It broke through the Hindenburg Line on its entire front, and took Bellicourt and part of Nauroy by noon the 29th.

The Australian 5th Division, coming up at this time, continued the attack with elements of the 30th Division, and the line advanced a considerable distance.

The 27th Division, due to no fault of its own, had been unable to take full advantage of the accompanying barrage, its leading waves being about 1,100 yards from the jump off line when the attack started. Despite this handicap it took the enemy trenches of the Hindenburg Line south of Bony, had captured The Knoll and had established its line south from that position to a point just west of Gillemont Farm.

TARENTUM FIRE INVESTIGATED

Fire Marshal Thomas Pfarr today will begin an investigation of the mysterious fire which damaged a two-story frame building at Sixth avenue and Wood street, Tarentum, last night. Damage was estimated at $20,000.

The fire, according to Fire Chief John A. Hazlett, broke out in the Famous Department Store. It was followed by a slight explosion. Flames spread throughout the first floor of the building, but were checked by firemen before reaching the apartments above.

Chief Hazlett notified the fire marshal that evidence of saturated burlap sacks and inflammable liquid was found on the premises.

Hoseman Joseph June, of No. 1 Company, was cut on the right foot by flying glass. After being treated by a physician, he returned to the scene.

Fire reported caused by an overheated coal stove at the home of Albert Kler at Fort Pitt, near Walkers Mills district, partly destroyed a one-story frame dwelling early today. Damage was estimated at $800 by Acting Fire Chief John Nugent, of East Carnegie. The family was absent.

Haloed Treasures Return to Persia

LONDON, March 20.—(AP.)—A holy grail valued at $30,000,000 is being returned to the holy places of the Near East. It consists of Persian art treasures which have been exhibited before 250,000 persons.

Workmen Discover Part of Bank Loot

OXFORD, Pa., March 20.—(AP.)—Stuffed in a culvert $50,000 in mortgages, notes, stock certificates and other securities, identified as part of the loot taken from the Ridgely, Md. bank last Monday, was found by men working on the state road.

The vault of the bank was entered by robbers using nitroglycerin.

Twice the Help!

Many things people take for constipation do only half as much for them as Cascarets would do. For Cascarets are made from cascara, which any doctor will tell you acts not only on the lower bowel but the upper one as well. And it actually strengthens the muscles of the bowels. So the quick, pleasant relief Cascarets bring when you're bilious, dizzy, headachy and constipated, is lasting relief! Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how that coated tongue clears up! how your breath is sweetened; eyes are brightened and your entire system is strengthened. 20 million boxes used yearly is proof of their popularity!

Private Secretaries Seen As Heroines in Many Screen Romances

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, March 20.

As if wives already didn't suspect private secretaries enough, every studio is making one the center of a romance.

Claudette Colbert even is going to repeat herself in the role. She will be the heroine of "Secrets of a Secretary," which will be made by Paramount at its Long Island studio. She also played the business girl in the recent "Honor Among Lovers."

Claudette Colbert

A new leading man, George Metaxa, will be brought over from England for the picture. He is said to have caused a flutter in the London production of "Bittersweet," also in the Jack Buchanan role in the musical comedy, "Wake Up and Dream."

BLOOD WILL TELL

"Run along upstairs now, and say your prayers."

"No, I won't," said the youngster. "I want an audience."

TOGETHER AGAIN

In Jack Laifs "Put On the Spot," Ricardo Cortez returns to the director who started him on the way to his comeback. Tay Garnett did the trick in "Her Man," one of the best pictures of last year.

Ricardo Cortez

The new RKO-Pathe film will star Helen Twelvetrees, who also did her best work in "Her Man."

LATEST GOSSIP

Some vaudeville acts hold out their best gags when playing Los Angeles for fear they will be grabbed by studio writers. One act recently cut five minutes from its playing time in this fashion.... Mary Pickford's miniature golf course is one of the few which lasted through the winter. The star now is offering a free automobile as a teaser for business....Gary Cooper is back at work, but looks pretty weak. He's thinner than ever....Curiosity about court trials seems to be a common trait of human nature. Jobyna Ralston spent a day this week shopping for interesting testimony. Since the much-raided "Bad Babies" she says she knows all the judges by their first names anyway....Bert Kalmar, who composed "Hello Hawaii," is about to make his first visit there. This item ought to give them time to form a reception committee.... Twenty-six people appear in Bert Wheeler's "Too Many Cooks" and not one of them has less than 12 lines.

Plays, Players and By-Plays

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Next week "Strange Interlude" returns to the Nixon, where this Guild play had a run of three weeks last season. It will be followed by another Guild production, "Green Grow the Lilacs," ahead of which is a local boy who has made good in the big city, Elmer Kenyon. Elmer reports finding two color-blind dramatic editors, one of whom would have it that his play is "Green Grow the Violets," while the other stood out for "Green Grow the Lillies." Well, flowers is flowers to some people. "Green Grow," by the way, is the last of the Guild subscription series.

The number of actors whom we read about occasionally as playing while enduring agony is nothing to the number in the audience who watch plays in agony.

Seats for the second week of "Lysistrata," to begin Monday at the Alvin, are now current merchandise in the box of that theater. "Lizzie," as you no doubt have noted, was found ineligible for one of Safety Director Clark's justly celebrated whitewash baths and was ordered to "clean up." As a result of the official publicity it will—financially, T. D. Bonneville, manager of the Alvin, reports—the play, as offered, satisfied the first audience witnessing it.

Although any good actress wants to make herself plain regarding the mood she is portraying she never has any such intent as to her personal portrait.

Anne Forrest will shine as the bright particular star of "Seventh Heaven" in the Pitt next week. She will be an evening star, six nights in spite of the calendar, which gives that honor to masculine planets, Mars and Jupiter, this month. Well, Anne will show 'em up and put Venus in the ascendant. You never knew astronomy was so easy, now did you?

* * *

Small Talk says he is not to blame when his jokes fall flat because he doesn't make them—merely flits them.

Fadeout

Then count me out, my dear, if I must share you,
Your love is parcelled out in tiny bits;
And I for one have nerve enough to air you—
To say goodbye and laugh and keep my wits;
You claim I have no right to ev'ry moment,
That other lads must help to fill your days;
So be it—if I heard you right, your "no" meant—
That I am thru with you and all your ways.

Well, have your fling, I'm not the lad to stop you,
My interest in you is at an end;
Remember me as one who had to drop you—
I'm certain that my heart will quickly mend;
So, after this, when I am speaking of you,
I'll use the past and not the present tense;
My best regards to all the lads who love you—
It's tough that they're so shy on common sense!

—Young Man of Manhattan.

Gag

It is supposed to have happened in front of the Roosevelt Hotel in Hollywood last summer. Violinsky was standing near the entrance without having on a coat or hat. It was such a hot day.

"Isn't this marvelous weather?" asked another New Yorker. "Out here you don't have to wear a hat!"

Incidentally

It is George White who observes that the only people in Hollywood who wear high hats are the song writers—and the only time they take them off is when they are climbing into the upper berths on their way back to New York.

Overheard

During the performance of "The Wonder Bar," starring Al Jolson at the Bayes, the other premiere night, Mrs. Sid Silvers said to her husband:

"Isn't that actress nice—and so young? She's younger than Fanny Ward!"

"Always Belittlin' "

George Jean Nathan, the critic, was in the foyer of a theater the other night, scowling.

"What, I wonder," said a manager, "is the matter with Nathan? He seems annoyed."

A Form of Criticism

Proverb under the glass top of a press agent's desk:

Conversation After Midnight

You have a quaint effect on me!
I will not say I'd tell a lie—
At least, I'd not fib wilfully...
But when I come to make reply
To phrases put so feelingly,
I find I look you in the eye
And say—not what I mean, my dear,
But what I know you want to hear!

—ANNE CAMPBELL STARK.

The Big Mindreader

Milt Gross, the exaggerator, was in the office just now offering gags. He unfolded several of them, none of which seemed to click with the columnist.

"You don't like that one, either?" he queried.

"Nope," we nope'd.

"Oh, well," he sighed, "I guess I'm not up to my usual low standard."

Success Minus

About three years ago he wasn't important so far as the Broadway Belt was concerned. He was strictly an entertainer in a cafe. His first huge heartache happened to him there, though. The girl he adored for over two years was thefted by a money lad from downtown.

In time he got over it, as the saying goes. Because great success had favored him. He clicked in a show and his wage scale leaped. He was "in the money." His marriage to a very popular and attractive woman was the talk of the town.

The other day she left him without even so much as a ta-ta. He thinks she is merely having a mood. He doesn't know that she ran off with the man who swiped his sweetheart a few years ago, the man who keeps "dogging" him even though he has become a Somebody.

Old, But Clean

Lou Holtz, the star and producer of the "You Said It!" show, prefers the gags that rocked Broadway in the latter twenties. His favorite, he was saying last night, was the one about the smallie who was playing his first New York engagement at Loew's Delancey Street Theater in the Go-Ghetto district.

Before the matinee he sent for the tailor.

"Whatever you do," said the ham, "be sure and bring this suit back on time. I'm third on the program!"

In Fewer Words

And those who think the younger generation have no respect for old age should read the jokes in some of these columns.

Did His Face Get Red?

A boy and a girl appearing in the chorus of a New York show were in love while the attraction was trying out in the suburbs. The gal then shifted her attentions elsewhere, and on the opening night in New York the shelved fellow noticed a huge basket of flowers in front of her dressing room. He replaced the sender's card with one of his own.

Several months later when the show was closing, she mentioned it to the chap.

"Do you know," she meow'd, "I never could understand how your card got in that basket of flowers which I bought for myself?"

As If You Didn't Know

Take it from Barney (N. Y. Press) Kleig, there is but one big gag in Hollywood, and that is the other fellow's.

Passing the Test

"What makes you think he will make a good actor—because he can sleep until noon?"

"No. He has the gall to tell stale wheezes and if they flop he insults the audience—and, anyway, he can go a week without food."

Add Merciless Truths

In Reuben's George White, Lew Brown, Lee Shubert, Bert Lahr and several other stage somebodies were discussing this and that, but chiefly that.

"What is the matter with show business?" someone asked Lew Brown.

"There's nothing the matter with the food," he replied, "there's something wrong with the chef!"

Violinist, Tenor End Art Society Series

The Art Society closes its season tonight with a concert by Nathan Milstein, violinist, and George Trabert, tenor. Mr. Milstein's program will open with "La Folia," by Corelli, followed by the Bach Prelude and Gavotte in E Major, and the Goldmark Concerto in A Minor. Mr. Trabert will give the Aria from Weber's "Der Freischutz" and a group of songs in Italian, Spanish, French, German and English.

HORTON IN DUAL ROLE IN 'LONELY WIVES,' MOVIE FARCE

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Who's the goofiest—flag pole sitters or the fellows who write the farce comedies? Right now, having witnessed "Lonely Wives," new picture in the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters, we think we know.

"Lonely Wives," based on the A. H. Woods stage play, is farce on a rampage. It is bedroom, drawing room and slapstick farce. It is our idea of what the inside of a lunatic asylum is like. There's never a sane moment.

Edward Everett Horton is the principal inmate. He plays a dual role. He's a lawyer who goes goofy at 8 o'clock every night and he's a vaudeville actor who impersonates said lawyer. And the mixups in identity that ensue amount to what some dramatists call "complications."

Other inmates are Patsy Ruth Miller, Laura La Plante and Esther Ralston, who haven't been seen much since the talkies have come. Spencer Charters, who plays a boozing butler, and Maude Eburne, as a mother-in-law, who wants to hear the pitter-patter of baby feet.

Some of the lines and situations are suggestive—if your mind is like that—and this bears out the report that Pa Pitt's censors were in the well known quandary about the picture. However, had its showing been forbidden, it would have been no great public loss. But now that it is here, it doesn't look as if it'll endanger your morals. And it may entertain you.

AMUSEMENTS.

HEILMANN'S CAREER MAY HAVE ENDED

THE CAREER OF one of the outstanding baseball players of modern times appears likely to be interrupted for an entire year, if it has not actually been brought to an end. Though it was reported recently that Harry Heilmann, veteran outfielder and leading hitter of the Reds, would be back on the job in two or three months, latest information is to the effect that he is out for the season at least and possibly may never again play in the majors.

Harry Heilmann

Heilmann for some time has been a patient in the Jewish Hospital in Cincinnati suffering from arthritis in his right wrist. The attending doctors are withholding until next week a definite public announcement as to just when he will be able to get back into the game, in their opinion, but the redoubled efforts the Red management is now making to obtain a new outfielder are said to have resulted from the receipt of private information that Heilmann is lost for the year, at least, and may never recover the full use of his ailing wrist.

THIS WILL BE the first year since 1918, when he took part in only 79 games, that Heilmann has not participated in more than 100 championship contests. He has been one of the steadiest players in the majors as well as one of the greatest hitters, and except in 1918 he has missed few games through injury or illness since he came up to stay in 1916. Until he came over to the National League to join the Reds last year all of his major league service was with Detroit in the American League.

Heilmann has ranked with the best righthand hitters of the present era. In 2,131 big league games he has made 2,652 hits for a grand average of .342. He has batted better than .300 every season in the last 12 years, and once, in 1923, he went over .400. He led the American League in batting four times, or oftener than any other player except Ty Cobb, topping the list of hitters in that loop with .394 in 1921, .403 in 1923, .393 in 1925 and .398 in 1927. Last year, in his only National League season, he batted .333.

YOUR OLD FRIEND, Johnny Morrison, having kicked away a chance to be with a pennant contender in Brooklyn this year, is back in the minors, having just signed to pitch for the Atlanta Crackers in the Southern Association.

It was from Birmingham in that circuit that Morrison came to the Pirates in the fall of 1920, though at the start of his career in 1915 he was with Madisonville in the Kitty League. During his stay with the Bucs from 1920 to 1927, Johnny won 89 and lost 71 games. He was one of the few Pittsburgh pitchers ever to win 25 games in a season, which he did in 1923.

AN OUTSPOKEN CHAMPION of the new baseball is Pitcher Lloyd Brown, Washington southpaw. He is enthusiastic about the possibilities for manipulating the sphere with the raised seams, and says the better grip obtainable has improved his pitching so much that he expects to win more than 20 games this year, against 16 victories in 1930. Clark Griffith and Walter Johnson pronounce Brown the most improved lefthander in the American League, whether it's due to the ball or not, and hint that he may be given the assignment to pitch the opening game on April 14. Another Washington hurler who says the new ball has helped him is Bump Hadley. It has enabled him to develop a curve which is said to compare favorably with that of George Earnshaw.*

Tex White

THE POSTPONEMENT OF London's hockey game with Detroit, scheduled for last night, killed the possibility of Pittsburgh's place in the International League playoffs being clinched at that time through a defeat for the Tecumsehs, but there is a good chance that the Yellow Jackets will attend to the clinching matter themselves tonight by defeating Buffalo here in the final game of their regular season.

Buffalo is the only club in the circuit which the Jackets have not beaten, but tonight there is likely to be a departure from the previous order of things. The Bisons have nothing at stake and are saving themselves for the playoffs, whereas the locals will be extending themselves to sew up fourth place, and in view of the fine stride in which Tex White and his mates have been playing the chances appear to be in favor of a Pittsburgh victory.

IF THEY COME through the Yellow Jackets will be one of the few clubs in the history of professional hockey to make the playoffs with a record of having scored fewer goals than opponents. The Schooley skaters have made only 99 goals against 108 by the enemy.

But that's due only to the early losses before the home club was built up and became settled. Anyhow playoff places are not awarded for number of goals scored, and the record that the Jackets have made otherwise is decidedly pleasing to local fans and a refreshing change from the Pirate finishes of recent years. There's a whole lot more satisfaction in being a playoff contender in a minor league than in being a chronic tailender in a major loop.

Two defeats at the hands of Vince Dundee have left Len Harvey farther from a world middleweight championship match than he was when he arrived in this country, even though both decisions were questionable, but the English fighter will get a chance to make a fresh start tonight when he meets Ben Jeby for 12 rounds in New York. Jeby is tough and can hit, and may make the going interesting. With only 32 fights behind him, however, he looks too inexperienced to win. Harvey vows he'll take the first boat back to England if he doesn't grab the verdict. "If I can't beat a comparative novice like Jeby I'll know I'm on the downgrade and cannot hope for any further chance in this country," he said. "What's more, I'll not be deserving of it."

A MINOR LEAGUE rookie named Jess Webb gets the decision over Art Shires, Dizzy Dean and other shrinking violets. A story from Memphis says he was tried out for a pitching berth under Doc Prothro, former major leaguer, but suddenly he disappeared.

The next information about him came in the form of a note from the recruit in which he wrote: "I did not think that the club was good enough, so I left. Yours for better baseball, Jess Webb."

ANDREW MYRON SULLIVAN, welterweight battler, who meets Izzy Grove in Detroit tonight, says it is his ambition to prove himself worthy of a place in a long line of famous fighters produced by his home town—St. Paul, Minn.

Clarence DeMar

It may not be stretching the facts to say that St. Paul has produced more ringmen of the top grade than any other city of its size. There were Mike Gibbons, Tommy Gibbons, Mike O'Dowd, Billy Miske, Jock Malone, Johnny Ertle, Jimmy Delaney, Tony Caponi, Bart Connolly, Johnny Shauer, Billy Whelan, Bobby Ward and many others of lesser note.

BOYS WILL BE boys. Clarence DeMar has just sent in his entry for the thirty-fifth annual American marathon race which the Boston A. A. will conduct the afternoon of April 20 (Patriots' Day) over the usual course from Hopkinton to Boston. DeMar is only 44 and has won the Boston Marathon only seven times, but with a little more experience he may be able to make a name for himself. Seriously, the remarkable veteran is reported in great shape to continue the great record he has been making in defiance of Father Time. He hopes to better the clocking of 2 hours 38 minutes 48 1-5 seconds which he made in the Hub event in 1930, and says he means to stick in the game until he has made the American Olympic team and won the Olympic Marathon in 1932.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—Fireworks will pop at the new home of the Seals this afternoon when the Cubs and Pirates jump off in the first battle of a four-game series. Rogers Hornsby led his snappy Bruins into the Golden Gate City this morning to entertain the Native Sons through Sunday. Morning and afternoon contests are on the books for Sunday.

Ervin Brame and Andy Bednar are slated to pitch against the Cubs this afternoon. The tall Kentuckian sprained an ankle yesterday while chasing fungo lofts, but this morning he was quite sure he could go to the slab.

PIRATES SERIOUS

Manager Ens notified his men there is to be nothing except serious efforts on the battles pending with the Bruins. The contesting players, however, do not need any urging whenever they clash, there being a natural rivalry. One year ago they had all kinds of excitement as they staged a series in Los Angeles.

The serious demeanor of the Pirates was reflected as they won a brilliant battle from the Detroit Tigers in the Seals' stadium. The players fought so hard the verdict did not come until the tenth inning, when Tommy Thevenow scored the winning run on a base on balls to Augustine Dugas. The score was 4 to 3.

The Tiger certainly went down fighting. He battered his way to a deadlock in the ninth, when the Pittsburgh chances hung in the balance. A little loose play behind Claude Willoughby placed the winning run on the sacks, but the Buccos were able to stay on an even footing at this late hour.

Lack of control on the part of John Wyatt, a speedball rookie of the Tigers, enabled the Pirates to romp off with the game in the first extra round.

WHITEHILL EFFECTIVE

The Pirates, being the home club, came up after holding the enemy in the tenth. Thevenow opened with a walk, and he moved ahead on Grantham's sacrifice. Wyatt then lost his sense of direction and his three successive passes to Traynor, Suhr and Dugas brought the contest to an unusual close.

Glenn Spencer and Earl Whitehill were the opening pitchers and the two little fellows proceeded to stage an interesting duel. While Whitehill is the veteran southpaw who wore Pirate regalia for a few weeks, about 10 years ago, he is one of the most effective of the lefthanders in the American League.

Adam Comorosky was in the

TOMORROW: THE GREATEST IMPOSTOR IN HISTORY.

LOCAL VICTORY WILL CLINCH FOURTH PLACE

By CARL W. SHATTO

The Yellow Jackets, who ordered a fine collection of laurel wreaths when they handed the Tecumsehs a knockout wallop in London on Tuesday, will attempt to fit 'em to their noble brows at Duquesne Garden tonight when they meet the Buffalo Bisons in the locals' final game of the International Hockey League's regular campaign.

Ordinarily the last game of the season means little more than the formality of playing out the schedule, but tonight's final game will be fraught with drama and saturated with possibilities. By winning, the Jackets can clinch a place in the title playoffs, kill the jinx which has denied them a decision over the Bisons this season, and bring their goals total to 100 or more.

MANY POSSIBILITIES

A Pittsburgh defeat will mean that the Schooley skaters will have to look to Detroit and Syracuse for assistance in getting into the money circle, for London, trailing by only three points, will have an opportunity to annex four points in meeting the Stars on Sunday and the Olympics on Tuesday. London originally was carded to play in Detroit last night, but the game was postponed until Tuesday. A London defeat at the hands of either Detroit or Syracuse would be enough to put the Jackets over the top.

In the event that Pittsburgh wins over Buffalo tonight or London loses in Syracuse on Sunday, Cleveland will appear here next Tuesday for the first game of the title playoffs. Buffalo and London victories will mean that the disposal of fourth place (the last playoff berth) will hinge on the outcome of the London-Detroit game Tuesday, and Cleveland's debut in the playoffs will have to be postponed until Thursday.

The only other possibility (yes, there is one more) is a Pittsburgh-Buffalo tie. Should the Jackets deadlock the leaders, the best London can do is tie the locals for fourth place.

DRAMATIC FINISH

The postponement of the Detroit-London game set the stage for a dramatic Pittsburgh finish to a sensational campaign, and made it possible for the Jackets to do their own playoff-berth clinching. A rather sour finish also was made possible by the postponement, however, for it made a Pittsburgh victory absolutely imperative if all uncertainty is to be erased.

A sour finish is well within the realm of possibility, for Pittsburgh has gained nothing better than two ties in seven previous meetings with Buffalo, the only club in the circuit that the Jackets have not downed. Their last three engagements, however, were extremely close, and Pittsburgh's greater victory incentive should result in the termination of the Bisons' reign. Buffalo has had first place sewed up for some time, and another victory will profit the invaders nothing.

Local hockey interest has been at fever heat for several weeks, but today it is at a new peak. Thousands of fans are eager to acclaim their favorites for their successful fight in London, and to cheer them on in the effort to take the last hurdle. The size of the crowd will be limited only by the capacity of the Craig street arena. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh.		Buffalo.
Cox	G	Taugher
Fraser	D	Lederman
Reise	D	Cain
Rodden	C	Voss
McGuire	W	Gross
Gregg	W	Martin

BELMONT TOPS BILLY ALGER

ALGER FLOORED

In the first round, Jimmy floored Alger with a hard left hook to the jaw, but Billy was up before a count could be started and withstood a barrage of rights and lefts to the head during the remainder of the round. Belmont weighed 148¾, against 149 for Alger.

The semi-final bout, scheduled for six rounds, came to an abrupt end after one minute and 40 seconds in the opening round, when Sunny Jim McVey, of Braddock, shot over a hard right to the jaw of Bruno Sala, of Donora, flooring the Monongahela Valley lad for the full count. He was out for several minutes and had to be carried to his corner. Sala weighed 165 against 170½ for McVey.

CARPENTIER BEATEN

Joey Bazzone, young McKeesport Italian, punched his way to a decisive victory over U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, in the second bout of the evening, winning all the way. The Tube City lad had a five-pound weight advantage, coming in at 137.

The officials split wide open in the first bout, between Jimmy Loizes, of McKeesport, and Johnny Montebano, of Braddock. Referee Red Robinson calling the go a draw after Lou Meininger, one of the judges, voted for

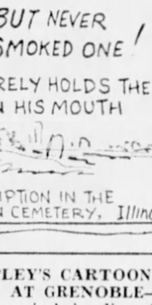
SPORT VIGNETTES

BASEBALL fans of Wampum and Ellwood City are very much interested in the plans of Dominco Mundo, 19-year-old pitcher of those two towns, who is to be farmed out by the Boston Braves, likely to a Class AA or A circuit . . . Bill McKechnie, manager of the Braves, has had his attention called to young Mundo's possibilities by Nat Moll, former local athlete and announcer at Forbes Field, now baseball umpire, boxing referee and all-round sports handy man . . . Nat worked a game in which Mundo pitched for Ellwood City against the Homestead Grays last season and is loud in his praise of the youngster, who is a six-foot right-hander with a lot of natural stuff . . . Mundo worked out with the Pirates a few days last fall, but did not connect up here.



Dominco Mundo

Incidentally, Moll, who knows a lot of good stories about the big leaguers from his association with the Pirates across several seasons, tells one about the arrival of Lloyd Waner to visit his brother, Paul, before being taken on by the Bucs and farmed out to Columbia in the Sally League . . . Moll drove to the railroad station in his car and picked up Lloyd and took him to Forbes Field . . . Paul, not so long in the big show himself, was badly fussed as he tried to show Brother Lloyd the ropes, according to Nat, becoming so rattled that he finally introduced Earl Smith to Lloyd as Jack Onslow and Onslow as Earl Smith while snickers of merriment went around the dressing room.

Now that fouls have been legislated down to a minimum at boxing shows, and smoking is almost nil, how about carrying the campaign a little further and doing something about the resin peril? . . . And it is a peril. Boxers knocked down often get an eyeful of the stuff with serious burning effects and a few have been blinded by the stuff . . . And there's always the cloud of resin dust that gets down the throats of the ringsiders, causing them to cough and splutter and have their clothes brushed a second time within 24 hours . . . It even has been known to annoy boxing writers who go to sleep with their chins resting on the ledge of the ring while the crowd in the back stands up and tosses chairs and wild left hooks about . . . How about it? No smoking, no fouls and now how about finding a substitute, if any, for resin, which is used presumably to keep the fighters from slipping, but has been known to aid and abet slipping when dampened by a shower bath from careless seconds in a corner?

Jules Beck, matchmaker for Motor Square Garden, has a perfect alibi for the fact that his preliminaries didn't click so well last Monday night . . . Neither do his teeth, now that he has had six of them extracted within the last few weeks . . . A few more and he will be charging admission to show folks a miniature Grand Canyon . . . But, as he says, that's nothing to look down in the mouth about.

BRADFORD MEN ROLL 2,709

BUFFALO, March 21.—So near and yet so far was the wail of Bradford pinsters, who shot in the team event of the annual American Bowling Congress tournament here last night, for one of the four teams from that city hit off a 2,709 count through games of 919, 908 and 882. Four splits in the last game stopped these lads from climbing into the money, they being about 25 sticks shy.

The best that Pittsburgh's two teams could offer was a 2,553 by Kempton's Luggage. Old Timers totalled 2,548. None of the four teams representative of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association was able to bang away into the prize money.

The best figure Pittsburgh mustered was 2,613, by the No. 1 team. Had it not been that these lads started off with a lowly 788, things might have been different, for they perked up in the next game to a 919 and closed with 906. R. Barney did the feature pin spilling for this team as he crashed out games of 201 and 221 in his last two attempts. No. 4 team rolled 2,348, No. 3 a 2,245 and No. 2 a 2,530.

One Erie pair went well up into the doubles money, L. Reagan and F. Weiss putting over a total of 1204 through games of 379, 410 and 415. Schauble and Fox rolled 1065 and Hauth and Hall 960. In the singles Hauth had 569, Schauble 554, Fox 472, Reagan 561 and Weiss 544.

Scoring games of 913, 931 and 988, Witter Razz, St. Louis, took fifth place in the team event with a total of 2832. Pat Spencer, veteran A. B. C. performer, led the Mound City five with a 622 total.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

BILOXI, Miss., March 20.—Starting tomorrow evening, the Giants and White Sox open a series of night ball games in Texas. The boys will get a bunch of floodlights for a Saturday night bath. I understand they are sore about this candlepower series. They figure the moon was doing all right on the job, and should have been left alone. Our club hasn't played under the midnight mazdas yet. But when they do I'm going to demand a pink spotlight and two sopranos to assist me in my work.

Nick Altrock

If I have to stand nine innings under broiling arc lights, I got to have a parasol or I am liable to look like a piece of raw steak. I can't afford to lose my sex appeal, even at Saturday night prices.

COLLEGE OFFICIALS IN BIG CONFERENCE HERE

Duke Preps Wins, 17 to 13, in National Catholic Floor Tourney

ARMY PLEASED TO BE ON PITT GRID CARD

By JESS CARVER

Everything is serene along the shores of the Eastern Association for the Selection of Football Officials. At the same time, the Army (West Point) is tickled to death on Pitt's schedule, or to have it on its schedule and, if at all possible, the Cadet Corps of 5,000 men will be present when the Solons and Panthers clash on the gridiron in the Pitt Stadium next November.

Yesterday, the members of the Eastern Association met in winter session here, heard the report of Commissioner Walter E. Okeson, of Lehigh, passed on it, discussed methods to improve the officiating, and then had a swell time at the Duquesne Club as the guests of W. Don Harrison, athletic director at Pitt, and Coach Jock Sutherland.

MEETING SECRET

The business meeting of the association was a star chamber session, newspapermen being passed out on their figurative ears, with the resulting bump on the figurative pavement softened by the invitation to come back in half an hour, eat, talk and be merry.

Maj. Ralph Sasse, head coach at West Point, and Maj. Philip Fleming, the graduate manager of athletics, improved their time while in the city with completing plans for the Pitt-Army game, being in session with Don Harrison most of the day. Both majors, a pair of fine fellows, expressed themselves as being very happy to have been party to the inauguration of athletic relations with Pitt, and Maj. Fleming, who has a fair part of the say at the Point, told this correspondent that if it was at all possible the colorful Cadet Corps will be brought along next November.

Pittsburgh was host to the most celebrated list of college officials that it has ever been the pleasure of the city to entertain. Yale, Harvard, Princeton, Dartmouth, Penn State, Army, Navy and Syracuse were represented.

SASSE ELATED

The representatives, which included the colorful Lou Little, of Columbia; W. L. (Bill) Bingham and Easkle Clark, of Harvard; Bob Higgins, Neil Fleming and Hugo Bezdek, of Penn State; Cy Thurston, of Syracuse; Asa Bushnell, of Princeton; Jack Cates, of Yale; W. L. Benson, also of Columbia; Commander Bill Reinecke, of Navy, and Jack Cannell and Harry Heanage, of Dartmouth, were entertained during the forenoon and noontime period by alumni associations of their respective schools, and then gathered at the Duquesne Club for a dinner and meeting in the afternoon and evenings as guests of Director Harrison, Jock Sutherland and C. W. Wettach, chairman of the athletic council of Pitt.

Maj. Sasse, who will be in charge of the Army team against Pitt next fall, one of the best coaches in the East, and a fine fellow in all ways, expressed himself as being particularly pleased with having the opportunity of matching his team against Pitt, and also expressed the hope that the gridiron relation between the two institutions will be continued.

RING TITLES AT STAKE

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., March 20.—(AP.)—On the eve of the eighth annual intercollegiate boxing tournament, which will start at Penn State College tonight, local dopesters were picking the home team to win their third consecutive championship.

The big threat to the Nittany boxers is the Navy, the only team to beat State in a dual meet this year. The Middies are scheduled to arrive early today with 150 graduates and friends to support them.

MANCHESTER AT I. K. S.

The Manchester Community Lyceum passers will help the I. K. S. lower the curtain on its basketball season tonight when they clash on the I. K. S. floor.

Fight Results

At McKeesport, Jimmy Bernoff defeated Billy Kaye, 10 rounds. Kenny Jim McKay knocked out Bruno Bale, 1 round. Joey Bazzone defeated Lou Carpenter, 6 rounds. Jimmy Estes and Johnny Montebano drew, 6 rounds.

DUKE NETMEN OUT MONDAY

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Formal initiation of spring activity in the Steel City district is set for next Monday, when, at 3 p. m., Coach Grant Siverd will assemble his 1931 Duke varsity racqueters in inaugural meeting and outline to them plans for training and competition for the impending court campaign. Duquesne, blessed with the facility of asphalt rectangles, is able annually to get out-of-doors for practice several weeks before rival squads can get under way on turf surfaces, and it is the intention of the Bluff mentor to take full advantage of this circumstance in order to bolster several weak spots that loomed conspicuously in his outfit a year ago.

The Hill-toppers have lost not a performer from their array of 1930. Capt. Andy Smeaton, undefeated in a dozen singles starts last season, is back and will undoubtedly be awarded another spell at the helm when the election of a leader is staged at the close of Monday's conclave. In addition to the rangy Edgewood ace, veteran material will include brother Bill Smeaton, Ray Boland, Regis Bullion, Jimmy Campbell, Frank Casey, Al Berkowitz, and Joe O'Neill.

The Red and Blue lads will be forced to prime for stacking up against the toughest opposition they have ever been called upon to encounter. Although Graduate Manager John Holahan did not officially release his net schedule before he embarked for Paso Robles the night before last, it is generally understood that the Dukes will engage in their customary number of matches—12—but that the calibre of the hostile contingents will be high enough to keep Smeaton and company on their toes from first gun to last.

It is known that the Bluffite opener will be with Geneva on Wednesday, April 29, and that the scene of hostilities will be the Hill enclosure. Thereafter the Siverd troupe will battle such powerful aggregations as Pitt, Carnegie Tech, Grove City, Allegheny, and Waynesburg. The Panthers and Tartans are the lone newcomers to the Duquesne card, but Pitt, headed by Eddie Jacobs and Billy O'Loughlin—former Duke prepper—carries a broadside of extra-heavy artillery, while Carnegie can be counted upon to step in with her usual well-balanced delegation.

P. I. A. A. SERIES DATES SET

The opening games of the P. I. A. A. title floor series will be played tomorrow night, with Scott, of North Braddock, opposing Westinghouse, at the Stadium; Windber vs. Hollidaysburg, at Johnstown, and Dubois vs. Farrell, at Greenville, it was decided at a meeting held in the Fort Pitt Hotel here last night.

The winner of the Scott-Westinghouse game will meet the winner of the Dubois-Farrell game at the Stadium Tuesday night and the winner of this game will meet the winner of the Windber-Hollidaysburg game at the Stadium on March 28.

FIRST ROUND
Morning Games

Shinnston	37	Logan	15
Hundred	43	Marlinton	17
Wheeling	23	Montgomery	15
Huntington	33	Terra Alta	12

Afternoon Games

West Union vs. Beckley, 1:40.
Washington Irving vs. Princeton, 2:00.
Charleston vs. Buckhannon, 2:00.
Clarksburg vs. Shepherdstown, 3:20.

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 20.—Hundred High School started its drive to retain the West Virginia State interscholastic basketball championship here today by defeating Marlinton in a first-round battle, 45 to 17.

At no time during the contest did the Marlinton passers offer any serious threat to the 1930 titlists. Coach Berdine used his subs during the last half of the game. The lineup:

Hundred—45		Marlinton—17
Massun	F	Bigle
Bartrug	F	Marshall
Hupp	C	Rumsey
Shultz	G	Moore
Keffer	G	Tolley

Substitutes—King, Kuhn, Church, Field goals—Massun, 5; King, Bartrug, 2; Hupp, 4; Shultz, 4; Church, Bigle, 2; Marshall, 2; Rumsey, 2. Fouls—Hundred, 1; Marlinton, 3.

SHINNSTON TRIUMPHS

Shinnston easily won the first game of the tournament, defeating Logan 37-15. Big Joe Stydahar, giant center of the Shinnston five, ran wild, scoring six field goals, and Cubbon, forward, scored five.

The score was tied, 5-5, at the end of the first quarter. At half-time, Shinnston led 15-5, and at the end of the third period, 29-9. The lineup:

Shinnston—37		Logan—15
Rotunda	F	F. Williams
Bartolo	F	Barnett
Stydahar	C	E. Adkins
O'Connor	G	Yeager
Bartolo	G	Sheridan

Substitutes—Scudders, Slusser, Martino, Fiocole, Wilson, F. Benson. Field goals—Scudders, Rotunda, 2; Cubbon, 5; Stydahar, 6; O'Connor, Bartolo, Martino, E. Williams, E. Adkins, 2. Fouls—Shinnston, 3 out of 11. Logan, 9 out of 14.

WHEELING ADVANCES

Wheeling advanced to the trifinal round by defeating Montgomery, 23 to 15. The game was a slow affair throughout, with Wheeling holding a slight margin at every stage. The first period was 4 to 2, Wheeling, and the half, 11-8. Coach Smith used subs in the last period.

TERRA ALTA BEATEN

Huntington turned back Terra Alta in the last game of the morning round, 33 to 12. The Cabell County team was ahead all the way, but Terra Alta's snappy little team pushed the winners throughout. Huntington led at half time, 16 to 8, and steadily increased the margin during the final two quarters.

WOOD BREAKS BOAT RECORD

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 20.—(INS.)—Gar Wood, American speedboat king, broke the world speedboat record on Indian Creek here today with a speed of 100.6 miles an hour in two official trials.

The old record was 98.76 miles an hour, set by the late Maj. Henry Seagrave, of England.

Three times Wood sent his 2,200-horsepowered Miss America IX over the mile straightaway on Indian Creek at a terrific speed, going 100.54 miles an hour the first time, coming back 99.86 on the second clip and then flashing south once more at the fastest speed ever attained by man in a motorboat, 101.351 miles an hour.

In establishing the record, which was timed by Odis Porter, representing the American Power Boating Association, Wood used his last two trials.

DOWNTOWN COPS MEET

The Downtown Y swimming team defeated Uniontown in a dual meet at Uniontown last night, 35 to 24.

Tonight we shall see just what we shall see about the ability of Jocko Walters, the hard-hitting Negro middleweight sensation, of Springfield, O., as he boxes Pal Silvers, Jewish veteran, of New York, in the main bout of the weekly show in the Moose Temple.

In two previous appearances in the downtown arena, as a preliminary performer, he has knocked out Jimmy Thomas, of Cleveland, and Al Becker, of Sheraden, in such speedy fashion that we know nothing about him except that he can hit like nobody's business. It remains to be demonstrated that he can retain the steam in his punches if forced to travel more than a few rounds.

Mose Butch Johnny Warner

SILVERS A VETERAN

Silvers, who recently was knocked out by Paul Pirrone, of Cleveland, when he subbed on short notice at Motor Square Garden, is anxious to redeem himself for that showing, and, properly trained, should put the young Negro thumper to the acid test. Silvers has met some of the best in New York and has been hit by experts. His experience and generalship figure to make matters tough for Jocko, unless the latter is one of those fellows who is apt to knock out anyone he can hit early or late in a fight. The winner has been promised a bout in the same ring with Buck McTiernan, reigning king of the local middleweights.

Mose Butch, Oakland southpaw bantamweight, and Johnny Warner, of Clairton, will meet in another 10-rounder in the semi-final, after three previous attempts to bring them together at the Moose fell through due to illnesses and injuries of the principals. They met seven times as amateurs, with Butch winning four of the bouts.

FLANAGAN BOXES NOLE

Billy Flanagan, of Braddock, and Marcus Nole, Negro southpaw middleweight, box the second bout, and Terry Waner of the North Side, and Steve Senich, of Homestead, are in the six-round opener. Frank Klaus and Battling Nelson, former world champions, will second Flanagan.

Between Rounds

Ben Jeby, young New York middleweight, who boxes Len Harvey, the English champion, in a 12-rounder in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight, is a touch baby and may give the Englishman a rough session, although he is very much the under-dog in the betting. He holds wins over Tony Vaccarelli, Harry Ebbets, Joe Dundee, Nick Palmer and Charley Rosen.

Harry Fine, local Jewish lightweight, has returned to his former home in Detroit to prepare for an eight-round windup with Jack Dresser at Mt. Clemens, Mich., next Tuesday night. He has been one of the busiest boxers around here in the two months he has been in Pittsburgh, boxing twice at Motor Square Garden and five times at the Moose Temple, and he has several other matches pending here and one at New Castle.

Joe Sekyra, of Louisville, has been signed to take the place of Emmett Rocco, of Kilwood City, against Benny Touchstone, of Detroit, in the 10-round heavyweight main bout at Motor Square Garden next Monday night. Rocco canceled because of injuries received in a losing bout with Sekyra at the Castle Rowl, New Castle, last Monday night. Sunny Jim McVey, Braddock Negro, will box Pat Le Blanc, of Brooklyn, and Sammy Vogel, of Clearfield, Pa., in the second bout. Dominick Petrone, of New York, and Pittsburgh, and Steve Nugent, of Cleveland, are in the eight-round semi-final, and Larry Conners and Anson Green open the show.

Seven bouts make up an attractive inter-city amateur boxing card at the Keystone A. C., downtown, tonight, with a team from the Al Sands A. C., of Uniontown, meeting one from the Robins A. C., of Cleveland.

ST. JOHNS MUTUELS

ST. JOHNS, Fla., March 20.—(Special.)—The mutuels on the seven races at the St. Johns Park race track yesterday paid a total of $258.90.

Booth, Yale Grid Leader, Made Floor Captain

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 20.—(AP.)—Albert James Booth, better known as Albie, Yale's midget athletic star, last night received his second successive captaincy of a Yale team when he was elected leader of the 1931-32 Elis quintet. Booth was recently chosen to captain the 1931 football team.

LOCAL PASSERS SNAP DE PAUL WIN STRING

CHICAGO, March 20.—The Duke Preps, of Pittsburgh, winner in a recent Pennsylvania state Catholic scholastic tourney conducted by Duquesne University there, won an impressive victory over De Paul Academy, of Chicago, 17-13, in the last game of the first round of the National Catholic Interscholastic basketball tournaments here today.

Pittsburgh baffled the locals with a long-passing attack which netted them five "sleeper" baskets from under the hoop. Birch, lankey center, controlled the ball from the tip-off and connected four times from the field. He also had one charity toss to his credit. Malek, guard, helped the cause of the Preps to the tune of seven points. His passing also held the Chicagoans at bay.

CATHEDRAL NEXT FOE

Creighton	F	Caspers
McCaffrey	F	Gavin
Birch	C	Sand
Fleckenstein	G	Wendt.
Malek	G	O'Connor

Substitutions—Cwiklik for Fleckenstein, Phelps for Gavin, Yost for Sand. Field goals—Birch 4, Malek 3, Phelps, Wendt 2. Fouls—McCaffrey 1 out of 1, Birch 1 out of 1, Malek 1 out of 1, Fleckenstein, 0 out of 1, Creighton 0 out of 1, Phelps 2 out of 3, Caspers 1 out of 1, Wendt 4 out of 4, Sand 0 out of 3, Gavin 0 out of 1.

WHEELING FIVE BEATEN

Central Catholic High School, of Wheeling, W. Va., was eliminated in a second-round game today. The West Virginians were beaten by Catholic High, of Washington, Ind., 34 to 21.

St. Joseph High, of Huntington, W. Va., and LaSalle High, of Cumberland, Md., were defeated yesterday. St. Joseph bowed to Campion Academy, of Prairie Duchien, Wis., 55 to 12, and LaSalle was beaten by Jasper (Indiana) Academy, 32 to 19.

CAULS REJOIN BEAVER LOOP

By TOM BIRKS

With the organizing of the Beaver County Baseball League, Ambridge fans following the sandlots again will have a representative club battling for the title in the P. J. Cauls.

Backed by the well-known Ambridge sportsman, and carrying his name, the coming season will be the third in which the Cauls have been represented in the classy Beaver loop.

P. J., as Caul is known to the sports lovers of the Ohio Valley, and Coach Jimmy Patterson have been working for weeks lining up a classy aggregation to keep the opposition stepping.

The infield on the Ambridge entry will be built around Meetzie, at the initial sack, Neeley at second base, Scanlon at shortfield, and Bayuse at third—completing one of the best looking infields the river town has had in years.

Ciganstai, rated as the best catcher in the Ohio Valley, will be back on the job handling the slants of Miller, Troupe, Sovich, Zaneski and Direnzo.

The Cauls operated in two leagues last season.

Loizes and Fred Lux cast his ballot for Montebano. The fight was practically even, with any edge going to the Braddock boy. Loizes weighed 128¾ against 130½ for Montebano.

PLATTE ON JOB

THREE FRENCH STARS IN NET SEMI-FINALS

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Three Frenchmen and a lone American are involved in the doubles final of the national indoor tennis championships today, while two more American stars are slated to clash in the semi-final of the singles for the right to tackle Jean Borotra, leader of the French cohorts, in tomorrow's singles final.

Only Clifford Sutter, young New Orleans player, is left to represent America in the doubles. With his French partner, Pierre Landry, he opposes Borotra and Christian Boussus, of France, for the championship. Yesterday Sutter and Landry were carried to five sets, three of them deuced, to beat William Aydelotte and Perrine Rockafellow, of New York. Borotra and Boussus won in three sets from Berkeley Bell, of Dallas, Tex., and Merritt Cutler, of New York.

In the singles semi-final, Bell, the third seeded American player, meets Frank Shields, who tops the list. They won their quarter-final matches handily yesterday, Shields eliminating Landry and Bell beating Aydelotte. Borotra, a round ahead of his rivals, went into the final by a three-set triumph over Rockafellow.

LEADERS TIED

The Knickerbockers tied the Ray Schneiders for first place in the West Penn League last night when they defeated the North Siders by a score of 20 to 17. The Schneiders won the first half title and needed last night's game to clinch the second half.

∵ Rookie Tales ∵

NO. 8.—LEE IVOR JOHNSON.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—You have read of the soda pop boys of the major league parks who rose to diamond fame in the big show, and you have heard much of the bat boys and mascots who thus were infused with the baseball fever, but Lee Ivor Johnson, clean-cut Swedish lad with the Buccos, had his first intimacy with the game in a still more romantic manner.

The white-haired Mormon pitcher from Salt Lake City was a little toddler around his home town when Salt Lake City supported a good Coast League team. Lee wanted to see in action the boys whose pictures he had seen many times in the home paper, but, like many another youth, he lacked the wherewithal.

Lee Johnson

"But I could shinny up a tree with the best of the boys," said the young Viking. "Outside the leftfield fence at Salt Lake City there grew a row of friendly poplar trees, towering high above the enclosure.

RUMLER HIS HERO

"Bill Rumler was our hero in those days. This big fellow was a home run king and you know how those fellows appeal to kids in grammar school. Well, Bill had me so worked up I decided I would build myself a seat in may favorite tree. I finally got myself fixed o. k. and was up there sittin' pretty when Bill came to the plate.

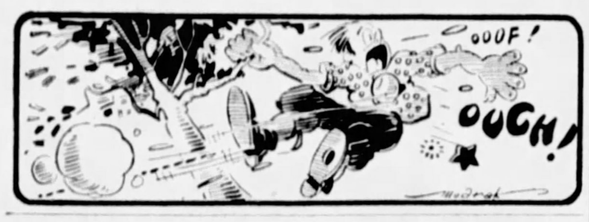
"You don't have to believe this, but Rumler let drive with a wallop that came sailing high over that fence and right toward my seat. I was so small the thing scared me, and, a moment later, the ball socked me in the ribs, knocking me out of my seat. I started to fall out of the tree, but, fortunately, I was able to grab some branches, and in this manner managed to stay in the tree.

FAST BALL PITCHER

"Yes, sir, Mister—my hero almost knocked me out of the game when I was just gettin' the fever. Years later, I got so I could play ball pretty well, and, two years ago, the Hollywood club asked me to report. And I had a big thrill when I rode into camp on the same train with Bill Rumler. I got acquainted with him on the train and when I told him about the incident he gotsa kick out of it."

Johnson, aged 22, is well over the six-foot mark and a boy of fine behavior and brightness. And—get this—the Mormon youth is a crackerjack tap dancer.

So far the Swedish pitcher has shown great speed. Otis Crandall, new Pirate coach, is of the opinion the lanky twirler is due to travel far in the sport.—CHARLES J. DOYLE.



GLOVER CHOSEN FLOOR CHIEF

M. R. Glover, former graduate manager of athletics at Geneva College, today was appointed commissioner of the Tri-State Associa for the selection of basketball officials. The appointment was announced by Clarence E. Overend, graduate manager of athletics at Carnegie Tech and president of the board of directors of the new association.

The duties of the commissioner are similar to those of Walter Okeson, of the Eastern Association for the selection of football officials. Glover will appoint all officials for collegiate basketball games in the tri-state district next season.

game long enough to deliver a potential single. Tommy's hit in the second scored two Pirate runs. Roy Johnson tied it up for the Junglers in the fifth, when he singled with two of his mates in the scoring zone.

Lyceum League Series Arranged

The series will get under way next Wednesday at the South Side Market House. The second game will be played in St. Joseph's Lyceum on Saturday, March 28, and the third, if necessary, in the Duquesne University gym on Tuesday, March 31.

BELTZHOOVER CHAMP

Beltzhoover won the grammar grade school basketball championship of the city yesterday when it defeated Forbes in the final contest of the eliminations at Fifth Avenue High School, 13 to 10. The lineup:

Beltzhoover—13.		Forbes—10.
Thompson	F	Luvara
Falfatti	F	B. Klein
Nedetsky	C	Hickey
Mierhofer	G	Galto
Evan	G	Gaetano

Field goals—Thompson 3, Gaetana 2, Hickey. Foul goals—Beltzhoover, 7 out of 11; Forbes, 4 out of 7. Referee—Wilhelm.

SPORT SHORTS

ORMOND BEACH, Fla.—J. W. Marsh, of Pittsburgh, won the men's putting competition over Harbour oval here yesterday. He turned in a card of 18-16-34 for the 18 holes to lead the field by a single stroke. Elsie Sellick, of Glen Ridge, N. J., won the women's event with 18-15—33.

TIONESTA, Pa.—Edwin Thomas, promoter of the recent three-day basketball tournament in Forest County, probably will lose the hearing in one ear for all time. Thomas, playing on the Tionesta team, suffered a ruptured ear when his head struck the floor as one of the games was in progress. Doctors are in doubt that hearing will be restored. Thomas was unconscious more than an hour after the accident.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—A. M. Cullum, of Pittsburgh, failed to survive the second round of match play in the annual Florida winter champion-ship here yesterday, succumbing to C. E. Young, of St. Augustine, 3 and 1, in the second 16. J. Philip Perkins, of New York, former British amateur golf champion, sustained his record-breaking run of sub-par golf in winning from Ray Singleton, freshman at the University of Florida, by 7 and 6.

NEW YORK.—(AP.)—Percy N. Collins, of Chicago, took undisputed possession of first place in the national amateur 18.2 balkline billiard championship by defeating Ray V. Fessenden, of Madison, Wis., 300 to 276, in 26 innings yesterday. H. T. Galey, of Tulsa, Okla., defeated D. H. Goslin, of Los Angeles, 300 to 242, in 46 innings.

CHICAGO.—(AP.)—Tony Canzoneri, world lightweight champion, has agreed to meet Jack (Kid) Berg, British challenger, in a 10-round bout with the title involved at the Chicago Stadium next month. The date was not set, but it probably will be April 24. Jack Sharkey, Boston heavyweight challenger, has agreed to meet the winner of the Tuffy Griffith-Tommy Loughran fight, March 27, at the Stadium.

LOS ANGELES.—(AP.)—Forrest Twogood, Southern California freshman basketball and baseball coach, a holdout, has signed his contract with the St. Louis Cardinals and will join them in Florida immediately.

HAMILTON, Bermuda.—(AP.)—Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, of Philadelphia, continued toward the Bermuda championship by defeating Louise Iselin, of New York, 7 and 6, yesterday. She was joined in the semi-finals by Nancy Pearman, of Bermuda; Mrs. J. N. Pew, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Maud Ross, of Ottawa.

MIAMA BEACH, Fla.—(AP.)—Gene Sarazen, he of the speedy golfing finishes, opened a new bag of tricks yesterday to count an early advantage in opening 18-hole play of the $15,000 La Gorce open golf tournament, and snatched the lead at the quarter mark of the 72-hole classic with a 32-36—68.

ST. LOUIS, March 20.—(AP.)—The condition of Ban Johnson, former American League president, was complicated further yesterday by the beginning of diabetic infection in his other leg. One leg was already infected and amputation had been suggested several times, but Johnson refused his consent.

PINEHURST, N. C.—Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parson, Youngstown, O., won the low gross prize in the annual mixed two-ball foursomes championship tournament of the Silver Foils Club yesterday with a 75. Mrs. F. G. Fauntleroy, Evanston, Ill., and Robert G. Morrison, Pittsburgh, won the low net trophy with gross 78, handicap 10, net 68.

STOCKTON, Cal.—(INS.)—Found guilty on a charge of reckless driving, Mark Koenig, Detroit shortstop, today had been fined $200. Koenig was charged with crashing his automobile into another near Lodi, Cal.

VOLLEYBALL TOURNEY

The Downtown Branch Y. M. C. A. is holding its annual invitation volleyball tournament at the Downtown Y. M. C. A. Building tomorrow at 6 o'clock. Teams from the Wilmerding Y. M. C. A., Wheeling (W. Va.) Y. M. C. A., Oil City Y. M. C. A. and Westinghouse Alumni Club will compete in a round-robin schedule.

Buick Sales Increase With Same Models

—By B. C. FORBES—

YOU AND I are supposed to crave new things, to itch for change, to insist upon switching to new styles.

Is that assumption correct? Are we being cured of such habit? Has depression sobered our aspirations, our thirst for casting off possession to acquire something brand new and different?

Mr. Forbes

Buick's experience may contain a reply.

EARLY THIS year Buick notified all Buick owners:

"Because of its importance, we decided to inform you now that the present line of 1931 Buick straight eights will not be replaced by new models this summer. Buick, as you know, has introduced its new cars on August 1 year after year, but inasmuch as these new straight eight models have met with such spontaneous approval by thousands everywhere, Buick has decided to continue manufacturing the present eight throughout the summer and coming fall."

President E. T. Strong, of Buick, as well as other General Motors executives, were anxious over the probable effect of such a policy. Would it help or hurt sales?

EMMERSON J. POAG, assistant sales manager, when in New York from Flint the other day, gave me these astounding—and gratifying—figures:

"Our message to Buick owners first appeared on February 7. Deliveries during the second period in February rose from 1,530 in the first period to 2,025. That was promising. In the third 10-day period sales increased to 2,545, a gain of more than 66 per cent over the first period.

"Although sales for the industry as a whole have not been comparing favorably with a year ago, Buick was able last month to go over the previous February's top by 7½ per cent.

For example: Buick has sold, all told, fully two and a quarter billion dollars' worth of its cars—2,250 millions.

There are in operation 1,500,000 Buicks today.

People have invested $800,000,000 more in Buicks now in operation than in any other car in its price field.

There are 750,000 more Buicks on the road than any other make in its price range.

Since the introduction of the new straight eight in August, Buick has sold as many cars as all other manufacturers of eights of similar price combined.

Buick has increased its position in the $1,000 to $2,000 range 80 per cent during the last four years.

No fewer than 88 per cent of Buick's customers buy Buicks again and again.

How's that for "satisfied customers" and repeat orders?

SAYS MR. POAG:

"Buick owes its unique record, not merely to the ability of its designers, engineers, executives, dealers, etc., but to the intense loyalty of every Buick man. Visit the plant any hour of the day or night, and any day of the year, including the most scrupulously observed holidays, and you would find men poring over some task, lost to everything, totally engrossed in their problem. Our historic slogan, 'When better cars are built, Buick will build them,' is more to Buick men than a slogan; it is their creed. It is their daily ambition. It is woven into the very fabric of their beings.

"You may think 88 per cent loyalty among customers a phenomenal record—it is; but among Buick men loyalty is 10 per cent, full measure running over.

"That's the key to Buick's undisputed leadership in its field—loyalty, loyalty, loyalty, faith, infinite faith in the product by every man engaged in making it."

NOTWITHSTANDING its colossal size, General Motors has demonstrated it knows how to inspire and retain wholehearted enthusiasm throughout the whole organization. President A. P. Sloan once told me:

"I never give orders."

Perhaps that is part of the explanation. He does not attempt to ram his ideas down the throats of other executives. He works with them, they with him, not for him. There is co-operation, not coercion; discussion, not domination; self-respect, not self-repression; fealty, not fear.

It works.

Noranda Mines, Ltd., Makes Gold 'Finds'

MONTREAL, March 20.—Noranda Mines, Ltd., has made important gold "finds" on its properties, James Y. Murdoch, president, stated yesterday in reply to inquiries on the subject. Drills have located ores assaying from $9 to $16.20 per ton. It is understood more detailed information as to the "finds" will be available for the annual meeting next week.

Steel Output Aided by Motor Production

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

INCREASED AUTOMOBILE PRODUCTION and moderate gains in construction activity have been major factors in further improvement in steel mill operations. Production of steel is between 55 and 60 per cent of capacity. This is far from satisfactory, but it is encouraging since the rate of output has been slowly gaining since the beginning of the year.

Steel reflects the state of nearly every major industry. Ingot production offers one of the most accurate indices of the rise and fall of general activity. While the improvement shown this year has been steady, it is still difficult to determine whether the industry is merely going through a period of seasonal expansion or whether it is reflecting a general change in the business trend.

The automobile makers have been cautions in their buying but their requirements have been steadily expanding. This has helped production of glass as well as steel. A production of about 700,000 cars is expected in the United States and Canada during the first quarter and it is generally believed that the peak of output will be attained in a later month than usual.

Earnings Doubtful

WHILE THE STEEL INDUSTRY is making progress in pulling out of the depression of last year, too much should not be expected of earnings in the first half. The major share of the first quarter has been passed with a production of only slightly more than 50 per cent of capacity. This alone makes attractive earnings statements improbable.

Prices prevailing on the actual steel products shipped during the first quarter have been at practically the low levels for the current depression. While nominal advances in quotations have been made, most of the increased prices are still to be tested by actual sales. Steel is an industry with a narrow margin of profits. Naturally earnings for the first and second quarters will reflect low production rates and depressed prices to a marked extent.

Prices Advanced

THE CLUMSY METHODS of making price changes on steel are materially retarding the recovery of earnings. Advances of $1 a ton in the prices of plates, shapes and bars, announced last December are still untested. Buyers were allowed to place contracts for first quarter shipments at the old level of 1.60 cents a pound.

The steel producers are attempting to make the increased price effective on second quarter shipments but it is still too soon to determine the success of this move. Carnegie Steel has announced that it will accept contracts for second quarter shipment at 1.65 cents a pound but any business placed after April 1 will only be taken at 1.70 cents. This further advance of $1 a ton will not become effective until the third quarter since nearly all business to be shipped up to July 1 will be placed at the old quotations.

Quotations Uncertain

THAT THE VOLUME of business in the steel industry has not reached a level which makes it easy to establish price advances can be seen from the weakness which has developed in sheet prices. Quotations have been shaded from $1 to $2 a ton.

The events of the next two weeks will have a far-reaching effect on steel earnings for the balance of the year since the present period is a critical one for prices. If the producers are able to make a definite stand on quotations, it may be assumed that earnings will show a continued improvement throughout the balance of 1931.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remained steady; demand good, supply nominal with slight changes in quotations.

The poultry markets rested firm; demand fair, supply adequate with few changes in quotations.

Carlot supplies were nominal with 284 cars on track. Arrivals included 8 cars of apples, cabbage, cauliflowers, 1 chicory, 1 grapefruits, 1 kale, 7 lettuce, 6 onions, 7 oranges, 2 pears, 1 peas, 12 potatoes, 1 spinach, 1 strawberries, 3 sweet potatoes and 1 turnips.

Harvard Business Dean Undertakes to Launch Economic Revolution

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER,
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, March 20.—Wallace Brett Donham, dean of the Harvard graduate school of business administration, has undertaken to launch a quiet economic revolution.

Dr. Donham, who gave up banking 12 years ago to take up higher educational work, has attempted to invent a formula for converting the genius of American business into a world civilizing force. In his forthcoming volume, entitled, "Business Adrift," Dean Donham, not wanting business to be either a racket or a mere avenue for private gain, has laid out the course whereby co-ordinated private enterprise may better serve the social needs and cultural aspirations of the American people.

Mr. Rukeyser.

Mr. Donham's concern is not with the present depression, from which he thinks business is gradually emerging, but with a workable program which will minimize future breakdowns of prosperity.

The Harvard savant and business executive seeks to provide an intellectual basis for achieving a permanent co-operation of the type that President Hoover brought into play at the White House conferences in November, 1929, to meet a temporary emergency.

Mr. Donham's plea for a higher standard of living looks beyond mere material comforts to intangible benefits, such as security, provision for old age, and self respect. He opposes doles and instead sets forth a program designed to provide work for every one.

HOME MARKET

As a result of his 12 years of intensive research, he departs from his modified free trade policy, and concludes that the hope for America is not primarily in the export field, but in the more rational cultivation of the home market consisting of 125,000,000 souls.

Mr. Donham points out candidly that, unless the benefits of technological improvement are passed along in the form of a progressively rising standard of living for the average family, that capitalism, as we know it, is doomed. Mr. Donham's book gives his answer to the Russian challenge. In place of the present riot of planlessness, Mr. Donham would take a leaf from the book of experience of the Soviet and encourage our democracy to make a co-ordinated industrial plan, whereby private business and government may effectively co-operate.

Hachmeister-Lind Six Months' Report

Hachmeister-Lind Company reports for the six months ended December 31, 1930, net profit after depreciation and taxes of $75,569, equivalent after preferred dividends, to 13 cents a share of 74,400 shares of no-par common. The company was consolidated with Pruett-Schaffer Chemical Company as of July 1, 1930.

On December 31, 1930, cash was $38,862, and total current assets $768,393, against total current liabilities of $80,583. On February 28, 1931, cash was $42,012, and total current assets $785,955, against total current liabilities of $58,082.

MARCH INCOME TAXES LOWER

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(INS.)—Treasury Department officials figured today that the government will collect about $375,000,000 in income taxes and other receipts during March—a $75,000,000 drop from their previous estimate. Collections during March, 1930, totaled $559,500,000.

Receipts for Wednesday, two days after the current income tax became due, were $88,691,500, against $214,534,500 collected on the same day last year.

Receipts for the first 18 days of March amounted to $194,945,800, a reduction of $120,000,000 from those during the same period in 1930, and for the fiscal year, from July 1, to March 18, $1,366,300,000, a reduction of $200,000,000.

Central Ohio Steel Nets $1.63 Share

Central Ohio Steel Products Company reports for 1930 net profit, after depreciation and federal taxes, of $52,234, equal to $1.63 a share on 32,000 shares of common, compared with $100,277 after depreciation, but before federal taxes, in 1929.

The company is conserving its cash and does not consider it expedient to pay further dividends on the common at this time.

On December 31, 1930, cash amounted to $37,649, and total current assets were $367,685, exclusive of marketable securities worth $2,090, against total current liabilities of $142,974, compared with $324,477 and $52,642, respectively, at the end of 1929.

7% —AND THESE SIX REASONS— POINT TO AN INVESTMENT IN

Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.

7% CUMULATIVE PARTICIPATING CLASS A STOCK

Preferred as to Assets and Dividends

1—SECURITY

This investment represents a participating interest in twelve strong and profitable publishing enterprises of William Randolph Hearst, including ten great metropolitan dailies, the American Weekly Magazine and the American Newsprint Company. They serve large, growing key cities strategically located throughout the nation. Valuable holdings of downtown real estate, modern plants and printing equipment strengthen the investment quality of the issue.

2—PARTICIPATION

7% cumulative dividends, payable quarterly—and in addition, the right to participate with the common stock in additional dividends, as declared, up to an extra 3%.

3—STABILITY

The newspaper is not only an ingrained daily habit of America—but it is a valuable source of revenue through the need of merchandisers to advertise their products. It is today one of the great industries of America. During 1930, a year of generally quiet business conditions, the publishing enterprises comprising this group earned over $4 a share, available for dividends on all the Class A stock to be presently outstanding, against regular dividend requirements of $1.75 a share—a record which testifies to the stability of this investment under all conditions.

4—DIVERSIFICATION

Income of the newspapers is derived from both the Atlantic and the Pacific seaboards, from the industrial areas around the Great Lakes and from Western Pennsylvania—while the American Weekly Magazine has the greatest circulation of any periodical in the world, reaching weekly over 5½ million people scattered throughout the United States—truly nation-wide diversification.

5—MARKETABILITY

Application will be made to list this stock on the New York Curb and the Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchanges.

6—TAXATION

Price $25 a Share

This stock may also be purchased on the payment plan—$5 down and $2 monthly per share. All payments earn 7% from the day received.

Where can you duplicate this nationally diversified investment in old-established, uninterruptedly profitable, growing enterprises that will return 7%—with security—and afford opportunity for a generous additional participation?

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Bears Routed | Local Stocks Stronger

BEARS ROUTED AFTER SHORT FROLIC

Persistent Buying of Some Selected Issues Proceeds Despite Breaks; Rails Gain

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Bears were again forced into retreat in today's stock market, after taking advantage of dividend doubts to cause momentary unsettlement.

Persistent buying of selected issues went ahead despite sharp breaks in a few spots during the morning and pivotal industrials were well supported. By early afternoon shorts began to cover in the rails, and this group, which has recently weighed heavily on the market, turned upward.

Bears found no assistance in the overnight news of a $94,000,000 gain in weekly brokerage loans, the largest upturn in nearly a year. The quietly sagging tendency of the market during the period covered by the figures caused Wall street to look elsewhere for clues to this large addition to the loan total. A big gain in loans is not unusual over quarterly tax settlement dates, and a rather general conclusion was that traders borrowed against brokerage accounts to pay their taxes, that discount houses borrowed to carry blocks of the new government securities, and that loans called by sources not included in the tabulation were replaced from sources covered by the figures.

The drops in U. S. Industrial Alcohol and National Cash Register looked like bear selling on the basis of expected dividend actions. Alcohol directors meet around April 1, and Wall street would not be surprised if the current $6 dividend rate is modified. National Cash Register directors have already deferred action on the quarterly payment, pending return of the president from Europe.

Bulls insist, however, that the shrinkage of dividends at this time has been largely discounted, that it is a characteristic of the lag end of depression, and even of the early stages of recovery. The bond market overcame its recent sluggishness and developed a firm tone, which was reassuring. Credit continued in excessive supply, with call loans freely offered outside at 1 per cent.

Columbia-Radio Deal Nearer Completion

NEW YORK, March 20.—The long pending merger of two leading British phonograph and radio companies—Gramophone Company, Ltd., which is controlled by the Radio Corporation of America, and Columbia Graphophone Company, Ltd., which has an American subsidiary, was nearer fruition today.

Announcement was made that the directors of the two concerns had agreed in principal to an amalgation in a new company through an exchange of stock. The proposal is subject to the acceptance of holders of both ordinary and preference shares of the two companies. The two British companies cover a large part of the world with their products.

General Refractories
Other Income Shows Increase.

Attention has been called in financial quarters to the increase in other income of General Refractories. That represents the larger amounts being received in dividends on its investment in the Northwest Magnesite Company, which owns the only large deposit of magnesite in this country. Other income in 1925 was $60,000 and rose to $258,054 last year. Because of the dominating position of Northwest Magnesite in its field, it is considered likely that the profits of Refractories will be increased further from that source.

The business of Lambert Company in the first two months of 1931 showed a moderate increase over that done in the corresponding period of 1930. In the first quarter of 1930, Lambert earned $2.75 a share, so that if the better business is maintained during March, the company probably will show an increase over the share earnings for the first three months of last year. The increased business has resulted in a greater demand for stock, which currently is selling for less than 10 times last year's earnings of $8.25 a share.

Among the first of the railway statements to appear, the February report of Pere Marquette shows that road again operated in the "red" through the second month of the year. Gross revenues were off more than $1,000,000 by comparison with the same month of 1930, standing at $2,180,832 and after charges there was an indicated net loss of $146,926 contrasted with net income of $507,929 in February last year. For the two months gross ran about $1,800,000 under the same period a year ago and the road had a net loss of $445,004, as against net income of $238,637 in the first two months of 1930. Kansas City Southern's figures for February showed both gross and net operating income under the same period a year ago.

Indications are that the steel shares will be favored by another constructive piece of news some time early next week. Though earnings from the Radio City business placed with the Steel Corporation Wednesday will probably not reflect in the income of the company for many months to come, it will serve nevertheless to bolster the backlog of business on its books, and thus it has its immediate bullish influence. Report current had it that the big pending steel order of the Pennsylvania Railroad, for materials to be used in its construction program, will be announced probably on Monday. It was the understanding in such quarters that the bulk of this business will probably go to the Bethlehem Steel Corporation.

General Gas and Electric A stock holds the position of being the lowest price dividend paying utility on the board, selling around $8 and paying the equivalent of 30 cents in either cash or stock at the option of the holder. The company's recently completed Saluda hydro-electric development is now generating current and is making deliveries under long term contracts to the Carolina Power and Light Company and the Duke Power Company. In addition to its directly controlled operating utilities, General Gas has also substantial investments in a number of similar companies including Associated Gas and Electric and Utilities Power and Light.

With General Motors in the van of the movement, the automobile shares were apparently chosen to carry the banner of the bull contingent yesterday, displacing the utilities for the time being at least from the position of market leadership. Heavy trading in the automobile shares contributed very substantially to the marked expansion in the day's share turnover. The prominence accorded General Motors and Chrysler, the two most active issues in the group, bespoke rather plainly the operations of formidable bull aggregations in those two issues. Gossip had it that two well-known operators, who had been active in the market sponsorship of General Motors several years ago, are again playing a formidable part in the direction of the stock's present demonstration.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

NEW YORK, March 20.—A few curb stocks were active and higher today, but the general market was more indifferent to the proddings of the bull faction than on Wednesday.

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP.)—Following is the list of transactions on the New York Curb Exchange, giving all stocks and bonds traded in; 000 omitted in sales column of stock list; 000 omitted in sales column of bond list):

Mary Lou Goes to Jenny's Party With Travers

CHAPTER XXXI.

Dressing for Jenny's party that evening, after the car had taken Margaret and Doctor Mathews in to town for their mysterious—to Lorrimer—amusement—Mary Lou looked about her room and sighed, deeply, wondering how long she would live in it—now that everything had happened and anything might still happen. She loved her room, it seemed especially hers. It had taken on much of her personality, as rooms will, it had been the arena for many silent struggles and battles with herself, a place to which she came for sleep and dreams, in which the four walls mutely reflected her love and amazement, her suffering and her faint, forlorn hopes; walls which knew something of the capacity of youth for grief, the capacity of youth for resilience, for living in the present, for ignoring the future and banishing the past. Her room.

She leaned her rounded, dimpled elbows on the smooth glass of her dresser and stared absent-mindedly into the face which confronted her. White and rose, the curling red-gold hair in arrant, charming confusion, the very blue eyes grave as a child's, hurt as a child's, frightened as a child's. From the dresser a little cloud of fragrant powder arose, and the scent of delicate, spring-like perfume. . .

Lovelier Than Ever

After a while, fresh and gleaming from her bath, her face glowing from its treatment of first hot, then ice cold water and a gentle massage with a brush, she put on the delicate wisps of lingerie which were laid out on her bed, peach colored crepe de chine, tailored and sheer and fine, brushed her hair into its halo of soft waves and curling tendrils, floated a film of fine powder over face and neck and arms and shoulders and finally stepped into her very newest party dress, a tight little bodice of peach and silver shot taffeta, with a full, rather long skirt, uneven in hemline, a great black and silver rose on the shoulder for the only contrasting color.

She looked lovely. Had never, perhaps, looked lovelier. But a close observer might have seen the faint shadow beneath the brave blue eyes, the wistful drooping of the red mouth.

She touched the slim stopper of a perfume bottle to ears and hair, forced her lips into a smile, as Lorrimer whistled outside her door, caught up her wrap of peach velvet collared in white fox and the evening bag of seed pearls which had been Jenny's Christmas present to her, and went out of the room.

"If it weren't so idiotic," she thought to herself, "I'd say I felt like a ship drifting, going on the rocks, sinking—well, I'll go down with colors flying!" thought Mary Lou.

"Gosh!" exclaimed Lorrimer, like a youngster, when he saw her, "you're a public menace, Delight! I ought to lock you up in a glass cage where no one could see you but myself!" He laughed as he said it, but his eyes were serious, a little jealous even.

"I'd hate that," she told him, "no fresh air, no galloping over a good road and sailing over a fence. Yes, I'd dislike it very much, Lorry. I'd feel like a gold fish with all its proverbial privacy made immortal by Mr. Cobb."

Lorrimer looked very well himself, his broad shoulders held well back, his face, which had filled out these last months, eager, lighted with interest, the fine textured skin smooth and healthy with good color. His brown eyes smiled down into hers as they went to the waiting car together and his voice was vibrant with the renewed joy of living.

"Warm enough?" he asked doubtfully, "I'll phone the garage and have Simmons bring up the town car if you're not."

Would Fight for Her

"I'm all right." She shrugged herself deeper into the warm white collar of her coat. Better drive in Lorrimer's roadster with him at the wheel, than to have Simmons, the second man, drive them in the town car, in which she would have to sit close to Lorrimer in the intimate darkness. Far better, she thought, unhappily.

She got in the car, Lorrimer's hands were steady on the wheel, they went down the drive and out of the gates and turned into the road which would lead them to the Wynnes'.

"Too bad mother missed the party," Lorrimer was saying, "but she was set on seeing this fool show and so was Doc Dan. She told me she hadn't been to a first night for so long she'd almost forgotten how exciting it was . . . I've been a selfish beast," he added remorsefully.

"Yes. And you—you're—wonderful tonight," he said quietly. "I'm a darned lucky fellow," he went on, "far beyond my merits . . . To have you—for I have you, Delight; after all, you can't get away from me yet a while; you can't escape me . . . I'll put up a fight if you try," he said, half laughing, half very grave . . . "Do you—want to go?" he asked her suddenly.

"Oh, please Lorry—!"

"I've been pretty patient," he reminded her.

"I know." She touched his sleeve. A fleeting touch, and one that she couldn't help. She had to. Had to feel him near, just for a moment. "Oh, I mustn't!" she thought despairingly. "If I couldn't before—how much more important it is now that I—?"

Mary Lou Popular

She broke off, in her thoughts. Drew away her hand. Sat back in her seat and closed her eyes. It was all so hard—too hard.

Jenny's great house was gay with lights, gay with laughter, with young people, vocal with the crooning orchestra which had come out from town to celebrate—at a price—with Jenny. Jenny herself was adorable, a golden girl, in a straight little frock, all gold, and her amber hair in distracting confusion. Larry, who confessed in a stage whisper to Lorrimer, that he'd been seized with an inferiority complex, was, nevertheless, completely the life of the party. There was dancing and silly games and a gorgeous buffet supper with the elder Wynne's wandering through the colorful maze of lights, flowers and people like benevolent and very good-looking denizens of Olympus.

Once Larry, dancing with Mary Lou, whispered:

"They got off all right?"

"Yes. Dined in town. Took Rodgers and the big car."

"Lorrimer didn't suspect anything?" he pursued.

"No—"

Mary Lou had never, perhaps, looked lovelier.

"I don't know," said Mary Lou. Her feet were light on the polished floor, but her heart was lead in her breast.

"You—game kid!" said Larry.

Mary Lou was very popular that evening. There were dozens of more or less idle and eligible young men out from town only too anxious for an introduction, a dance. She forced herself out of her heavy abstraction and gave them her blue, friendly glance, her quick smile, set herself the task of moving, in their arms, to the heavenly music, the task of responding to admiring comment, serious discussion, witty wisecrack. It was by far the longest evening she had ever spent. She had been playing a role for a long time, however, a role that had become part of her and all too real; she must, it seemed, play it a little longer.

"What a knockout!" said the admiring young men.

She avoided Lorrimer as much as possible. But shortly before supper he danced her right out of the big room and into the indoor flower garden which was Mrs. Wynne's special hobby. This was a sort of modernized conservatory and perfectly charming. No Mid-Victorian atmosphere of gleaming palms and cluttered ferns, but an octagonal room, which in daylight caught all the sun, and, at night, was indirectly lighted, with a synthetic sunlight, soft, golden, flattering.

The floor was of broken flags, moss grown. On one wall a wall fountain trickled into a stone basin. Flowers were everywhere, in boxes and pots; between the great windows gayly painted lattice-work covered the stone walls and ivy grew upon it, rooted in great stone pots. It was all green glamour, color, perfume and light, with the silver voice of the fountain speaking through it all. There were swinging couches in cool green chintzes, ash trays, curious modern ones, and metal tables. There was, even, in one corner a very modern metal bookcase for the inclusion of which Mrs. Wynne had been teased by her friends. "Well," said Mrs. Wynne, "it's a grand spot to read in . . . why not a bookcase, then?"

"You need a rest," he informed her, "and dancing with you is not so good—two turns around, or a turn and a half and some idiot cuts in!"

"Idiot?" she asked. Risky, this light give and take. But her answer was almost mechanical.

"No. Of course not. Very wise young man. But after all, I shall have to lock you in that glass case, dearest," said Lorrimer . . . smiling.

"Can't you," he asked her, very gently, "can't you make up your mind? You—don't dislike me, I'm sure of that, somehow. Sometimes I think you care a little. Surely you must. You loved me once. Is it so hard to love me again?"

DAILY TRUE STORY—Sally's Dance

It was almost the end of a perfect day for the little town of Rockport—this, it's fiftieth anniversary. There had been all kinds of stunts: A parade, led by a swooping airship; a home-grown carnival, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, and now, last of all, a street dance with an imported orchestra. A gay imitation mardi gras.

Sally North stood at the edge of the crowd, wedged uncomfortably between a baby buggy and a wheelchair. The dance had begun. A wailing tenor saxophone carried the melody straight to her heart. Her tingling feet tapped the pavement. She wanted to dance—oh! how she wanted to dance. The desire was so acute, it was almost a physical ache. She had begged John, her husband, to come with her.

"Sorry, Honey, but I can't leave the store," he had said. "There is a salesman coming in—he is an old friend and I want especially to see him. But" he added, "why don't you go down and look on a bit?"

Doubts Husband's Story

In her heart she doubted the existence of the salesman. She knew that John considered street dances and their ilk quite beneath the dignity of a rising young merchant, who was moreover a member of the aforementioned Chamber of Commerce.

Well she was "looking on" and it was certainly no fun. She wished someone would ask her to dance, but she could not see any of her "crowd" and the younger men naturally would not ask an old married woman. Why they thought being 26 was really antique!

Ah, now they were throwing confetti, and funny little horns and "squawkers" appeared miraculously out of thin air to add to the din of the jazz and the giggles. Sally loved confetti; she wanted some on her hair and down her back. The very first time she had ever seen John he had thrown a handful at her laughing face. She had choked on a bit of it. He had been so concerned—so dear.

"I wonder what's become—" they sang plaintively, croonингly.

"Oh," cried poor Sally, "my own song." Her eager heart was almost bursting. It had been so long since she had had a gay good time. John did not like to dance, unless it were perhaps a "good old waltz" and their amusements were very apt to be a concert, a foursome of golf or bridge. A little sob filled her throat. It was one of those nights that breathe romance. The sky was full of stars that they jostled one another until they fell, thickly. A fat orange moon hung low.

"——Ever since the day

Accepts Invitation

The tenor saxophone player was singing—in a voice as clear and high as his own instrument.

"Why here is Sally," said a gay voice at her side. She looked up at a tall debonair young man who was smiling down at her. He had the bluest eyes she had ever seen. "You are Sally, aren't you?"

"Oh, yes," she smiled back. But how did you know?" Then she blushed he had meant the song of course!

"Will you dance?" he said simply. Without hesitation she placed her hand on his arm, and soon they were in the thickest of the crowd. He was a marvelous dancer, and skillfully kept her from getting trampled. They did not talk—it would have been useless—the noise was terrrific. They danced again and again. Finally a little breathless, they paused.

"A little," she admitted.

"My car is right here, lets go around the block and cool off." Mrs. John North had disappeared it seemed, and so it was not a sedate married woman who followed the blue-eyed young man to the swanky roadster and climbed gaily in. It was a joyous and laughing girl—a girl name Sally; a girl who liked confetti down her back.

He evidently had not meant a "city block" for the car turned towards the country.

The moon had climbed higher and the night birds made funny little chirping sounds. The car came to a gentle stop in a quiet country road. She stirred.

Foolish Act

"Well, here we are," he said softly—then drew a long breath. You are the dearest thing I ever saw. It seems a great pity," he indicated her wedding ring which gleamed in the moonlight. Back somewhere in Sally's mind something stirred, something urged her to say that it was not a pity at all, but really very nice. But perhaps something else feared to break the spell, for instead she blushed delightfully and her lashes fell—lashes extraordinarily long and thick.

"Black butterflies," she said softly and put out a forefinger to touch them. Mischief stirred in Sally. "Would you like a butterfly kiss, kind sir?"

"Yes—oh, yes! And so, impulsively, she did something remarkably foolish.

She leaned over until her soft cheek touched his. The long silken lashes rose and fell—brushing his cheek in a soft caress, delicate as a butterfly's wing.

"You little Devil!" The man seized her in a passionate hungry grasp; his hot mouth touched her throat. She shivered at the touch, her dream of romance rudely vanished. The girl Sally slipped away and Mrs. John North sat rigidly in the car, her eyes blazing.

"No—no—no!" she said. Take me home please. I want to go home."

"You what?" he obviously was astonished.

"I want to go home." She was sure of that. Home—how remote—how safe and lovely it seemed.

"Oh! well, what did you come for anyway?" he asked brutally.

"I wish you would take me home—please," she merely repeated quietly. How could she explain to this angry man, when she hardly knew herself, of what she had been in search.

Asks Forgiveness

Without another word he started the motor and they sped back to town. Presently he asked where she lived and without thinking she gave him the address. The next minute she could have bitten out her tongue. For John would undoubtedly be sitting on the porch waiting for her. She wanted to beg him to let her out at the corner, but pride forbade, so they came to her very door. And John was sitting on the porch. He came down the steps.

"Oh, hello there. Good boy, Jim, you found her I see. Come up and rest awhile. I'll get another chair." He hurried hospitably in to the house.

Sally faced him.

"You knew—all the time, who I was?" she gasped.

"Yes, I knew. You will have to forgive me. You see John was busy and sent me down to dance with you." He went on hurriedly. "He said I would know you because you would be the most beautiful girl there in a white dress! He had told me so much about how wonderful you were, and how good, some demon made me want to find out about the rest. But I am glad," he added under his breath as John came out with a chair, "that he was right about all of it!"

"It looks gay, but it's cheap—as cheap," she said soberly to herself, "as the things I did. Never again! But oh—I do hope I can persuade John to join the dancing club."

Prompt Action Desired

There Will Be Disappointment If Voting Machines Are Not Available for the Primary.

It is to be hoped the County Commissioners will act within the next few days on the voting machine matter. If the contract for the machines is not awarded for a week, there will be no chance, it is reported, of their being available for the primary election.

It will be a keen disappointment if the citizens are forced to vote on paper ballots again this autumn, and the commissioners will be indifferent to public sentiment if they do not take every reasonable step to prevent it. The primary promises to be a hotly contested election, and the machines are needed as a safeguard against fraud.

There are, of course, many things to be considered in making the award; but it would seem that the study the commissioners have given the subject during the past year, together with the experience gained from the court action invalidating their previous contract, would have placed them in a position to proceed without further delay.

Commissioner McGovern points to a clause in the proposed election code which permits concealment of the dials of voting machines from all except members of the election board. Col. McGovern argues that this is a dangerous "joker." It may be well, then, to oppose it in the Legislature. But it should not be considered as offering justification for postponing the award of the voting machine contract.

A Wilderness Story

Game Commission's Report Indicates There Is Still Much to Learn About Our Native Animals.

The State Game Commission has just issued a report on an interesting incident which calls attention to the wildness of certain parts of Pennsylvania and also indicates that there is still much to learn about our native animals.

Two trappers were following a wildcat in the Black Forest of Potter County not long ago. They saw it approach an old tree stump, then jump about 10 feet in the air, and disappear.

Curious as to what had so excited the wildcat, the trappers examined the tree stump, and found in it a she-bear in hibernation with three little cubs. The cubs were active enough, but the mother bear was sleeping so soundly that she did not object to the men's stroking her.

Learning of the discovery, a party of officials connected with the Game Commission visited the place and took photographs of the bears. The mother, however, although still only semi-conscious, would not permit the officials to obtain a stethoscopic record of her heart action.

So there still remains an opportunity for someone willing to apply the stethoscope to the heart of a hibernating she-bear to make an original contribution to science!

House-Cleaning Time

McKeesport Presents an Inspiring Example of What Can Be Done to Improve Conditions.

House-cleaning time is near; indeed for some families it has already arrived.

The job should be more thorough this year than usual; everything that requires repair should be repaired; all untidy premises should be rid of their rubbish, and made neat and orderly.

The reason for making an exceptionally good job of it this year is that there are many persons seeking work who could be employed to advantage in the repairing and cleaning-up tasks. Another reason is that materials are exceptionally cheap.

The Pittsburgh Housing Association calls attention to an inspiring example of what can be done. A block of houses in McKeesport, near the junction of the Monongahela and Youghiogheny rivers, was in such a run-down condition that it was proposed to evict the tenants and board the buildings up. The owner of the property was appealed to, however, and consented to have the houses reconditioned. The result is that a group of unemployed men now have jobs cleaning, repairing and painting.

There are many houses that call for similar work.

Grading Maple Syrup

Pennsylvania Product Now Stands Better Chance of Receiving the Recognition It Deserves.

Calvin Coolidge was in sentimental mood when he penned his salute, in the Sun-Telegraph yesterday, to the opening of the maple sugar season. In addition to being sentimentally interesting the subject has practical importance—in Pennsylvania as well as in Vermont.

Word comes from Somerset County that the maple syrup yield this year promises to be record breaking. One grove in Elk Lick Township is producing 12 barrels of sap an hour.

Pennsylvania is one of the five leading states in the production of maple products, and often produces more per tree than any other state. Unfortunately, poor business methods have been employed by Pennsylvania farmers in marketing their maple products, with the result that they have failed to win the recognition they deserve.

It is gratifying to note an improvement this year. Tentative color standards and grades are being adopted, the State Department of Agriculture reports, in accordance with the best Vermont practice. This will make it easier to fill orders from hotels and restaurants and other large buyers of maple syrup, who want to know the color and grade when they make purchases.

Interest in Civics

Supplies Department Scandal Has Served Good Purpose of Stirring Up the Citizens.

It is an ill wind that blows no good. The saying is recalled by the interest that is being shown by the citizens in municipal government, as exemplified by the plan to engage a special train to take a delegation to Harrisburg next Tuesday for the hearing on the city manager bill.

The taxpayers have been stirred by the Department of Supplies scandal and are asking what can be done to promote efficiency, economy and honesty in the management of the city.

It is regrettable that it has taken a scandal to stimulate this interest.

A way should be found to maintain it at its present high pitch. If the citizens were always as much concerned as they are now to see that their tax contributions are expended wisely, there would be less corruption and incompetency in the municipal administration.

THE MISLEADING LIGHT

By Nelson Harding

Dire are the consequences
Following upon the lighting
Of the false, misleading beacon
That mistaken zeal has kindled,

Misdirecting the frail vessel
Of the younger generation
To the hidden rocks and shallows,
Wrecking all that dash upon them.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Mrs. Solomon Says—

Hear now the petition of a Spring Bride, oh my Daughters, which she chanteth in her secret heart.

Grant me, oh Lord, the spirit of a sportsman, that I may meet with fair play, life's greatest Sporting Proposition. For a Good Wife is, first of all, a Good Sport. And the ideal marriage is a square deal.

Give me the faith of Mahomet, that I may trust mine husband better than mine own eyes, and believe whatsoever he saith, even when I know him to be lying, and all the evidence is against him.

Give me the patience of a duck-hunter, that I may face with fortitude my days as Lady-in-WAITING and my nights as "Sister Ann upon the watchtower." For, no man ever arriveth on TIME for anything—save his own funeral.

Bestow upon me the strength of an Amazon, that I may never weary of picking up his towels and garments, hunting for those buried treasures which he hideth from himself, gathering up his newspapers, dosing him with bicarbonate, patching him with court-plaster and binding up his wounds.

Grant me the optimism of a small boy, that I may hearken joyously unto his vows of reformation upon "the morning after," delight in all his promises and his "never-agains," listen sweetly to his "reasoning" and accept, without question his "explanations."

Give me the nerves of a cold potato and the agility of a fireman, that I may be ready, at a signal, to plunge into a backless gown or a pair of knickers, and to go anywhere, from a Broadway night club to darkest Africa, at a moment's notice.

Give me the unfading charm of Ninon de L'Enclos, the chic of a Fifth avenue mannikin, the diplomacy of a prime minister, the discretion of an archbishop, the glamor and chumminess of a chorus girl, the placidity of a pet cat, and the wisdom of Solomon, that I may be all things unto one man—and that one, HAPPY!

* * *

For verily, marriage may once have been a Soft Snap; but now it hath become a game of skill, requiring a level head, cast-iron nerves, a cool temper, a poker face and a knowledge of all the cards!

Greatest Exploration Feat of the Age

By Archibald Henderson

The stirring news has recently reached the world of newspapers that Bertram Thomas, an English explorer, had accomplished the arduous task of traversing the Great Southern Desert of Arabia. He is the first white man to cross Ruba-el-Khali. The journey took 58 days, and was made from Dhofar to Dohah on El Katar Peninsula. Thomas arrived with his small caravan at Dohah on February 21. This 900-mile journey has been hailed by geographers and explorers as the greatest accomplishment in individual exploration in our time.

Bertram Thomas, Orientalist as well as explorer, was particularly well equipped to make this historic journey. During the World War he served in the Mesopotamian campaign under Sir Arnold Wilson, former British Civil Commissioner on the Persian Gulf. Five years ago he began to make preparatory excursions in Oman, Arabia, in anticipation of the great attempt to cross Ruba-el-Khali. Last year he made an extended journey from Dhofar on the Indian Ocean, extending some 200 miles into the interior. From this experimental tour he derived much knowledge of the interior, in particular the system of dry water courses heading toward the remote central sands.

The caravan originally consisted of 30 Arabs and 40 camels, commanded by Thomas. In the early stages of the journey, attack from Hadramaut raiders was considered as not unlikely; but once this danger was passed, Thomas gradually decreased the size of the caravan until it numbered only 13 Arabs and 18 camels. The early part of the journey lay over the Oara Mountains, rising to the altitude of 3,000 feet—this being familiar as the frankincense country of the Bible. From Shisur, southward along the desert's edge for 100 miles, where no water was to be found, lay a country populated only by antelopes, and formerly the habitat of the ostrich, now extinct in that region.

Strange legends of a city unknown to history, the Urbar of the prehistoric Addites were encountered. Dimly confirmatory evidence of the possible truth of these legends was found by Thomas in the form of deep depressions, the supposed remains of ancient caravan tracks, pointing to centuries of usage in ancient days. The Bedouins still refer to these caravan tracks as the highway leading to the legendary city of Urbar. This city, if the legend be true, lies buried beneath the sea of sand, a sort of lost Atlantis of the Unknown Desert.

Strange features of the journey will be described by the explorer in some comprehensive publication. Notable were the singing sands, a strange noise booming out across the desert with eerie effect, similar to the sound of a ship's siren, and attributed to the play of the wind among the sand cliffs. Another striking geographical feature was a lake of salt water seven miles long. Part of the region was strewn with sea shell fossils, and north of the twenty-third parallel, where the altitude is about sea level, there were evidences that the region had been beneath the sea, perhaps in late geologic times. Much wild life was found, both birds and beasts. And beautiful examples of protective coloration were shown in the case of all the mammals, including wolves, wildcats and rats, which were of the color of the surrounding yellow sands of their habitat.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

"New faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."—Hebrews XI-1.

FAITH—I never thought much of that virtue.

Seemed to me a poor, weak-kneed, sniveling sort of attitude. The sort of pose you adopted when you didn't have any gumption left in you.

Me—I liked to fight! I said to myself that maybe when I was 90 years old and didn't have any scrap left in me, I'd slump down and try this faith stuff. But in the meantime—I was going to put all my bets on my two good fists, my good old bean and backbone. If you studied and fought and worked and loved hard enough you ought to be able to do what you wanted with life—that's what I thought.

I was young and strong and very ignorant. I really believed what I said. And I set out to tackle life armed with that belief.

You certainly can do a lot and go a long way with just these fighting tools. Even though I have found a better armor now, I'm not going back on all that original belief. I still think you've got to put up a good scrap if you want to get anywhere.

But I've found something that will get you there faster than the stiffest backbone or the heartiest brain or the hardest wallop. I've found Faith—the Biggest Medicine of all.

I didn't find it until Life had knocked me out and I had taken the count. I got up sick and groggy, but I still wanted to go on with the game. In fact, I wanted to go on with it more than ever before. I felt a desperate need of finding out if it was really worth while. Was it possible that Love and Courage and Honor really counted for anything after all. Were we just a superior sort of vegetable, and did we cease forever when our silly bodies died or our luck failed? Could either Life or Death blot us out like that without a comeback?

I needed desperately to discover that but I couldn't fight any more, either with brain or fist. There was darkness ahead of me—a darkness my limited wisdom could not pierce nor my courage shatter. What lay behind that darkness? I felt that Truth and Justice and a greater Life lay behind it, but I couldn't prove that by my old equipment. Yet I had to prove it, or go mad with bitterness.

Then suddenly something came to life in me and reached out—like a great arm from my heart—reached out and out into the darkness, and as it reached, the darkness fell away. Exactly as if I had grown a third arm, a spiritual arm, infinitely stronger and more clever, but just as real as my two arms of flesh.

The arm of Faith. My new fighting equipment.

Hold out your arm as you read this. Hold it out as though you reached for something with fierce determination — FOR SOMETHING WHICH YOU WERE SURE YOU WOULD GET. Shoot all your vigor, all your hope and enthusiasm and desire into that arm. Hold it with splendid assurance as though your dearest dreams were about to be dropped into your outstretched palm. Get the pose? Well, that's Faith.

That's how Faith reaches out to you when you're finally ripe for it.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Wisdom's Store

The bee-hives stand in a shaded row
Beneath the great elm trees
And all day, hasting to and fro,
Flit busy ranks of bees;
Unceasingly they wing their way
Through every sunlit hour,
Aerial bandits, bold and gay,
Wrest spoils from each bright flower.

And so it is the eager mind
Sends on mercurial wings
Thought's questing legions out to find
Truth's fragrant, hidden things.
Until, full-freighted, they return
Unto the hive once more
To bring the fruits for which men yearn
Ripe wisdom's honeyed store.

Text For Today I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth: And though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God.—Job, xix:25, 26.

Earthquake's Power

Unconquerable Human Cheerfulness.

WHAT THE EARTHQUAKE DID IN NEW ZEALAND.

Hearing is one thing, SEEING is another.

The picture above shows what an earthquake can do and how grateful we should be for the marvelous stability of this old earth. It has existed for more than a thousand million years, rolling around the sun with never an accident, absorbing by friction of its atmosphere or the waters of its oceans, great rocks or meteors that fall into it from space.

Human beings have lived on this earth for 40,000,000 years at least, first as primitive, monkey shaped creatures, now as beings, ALMOST civilized.

Instead of complaining when disaster comes we should be filled with wondering gratitude at our safety.

Think of our earth, a solid ball 8,000 miles in diameter, 25,000 miles around, weighing as much as though it were made of solid steel, flying through with the sun, turning on its axis, 1,000 miles an hour, going around the sun, more than FIFTY

NO EARTHQUAKE CAN DESTROY CHILDHOOD'S CHEERFUL COURAGE.

THOUSAND MILES AN HOUR. And in addition, flying through space WITH the sun at terrific speed toward Vega, the blue star above our heads—and all in perfect safety.

Instead of complaining about an occasional earthquake, windstorm or tidal wave, we should be on our knees thanking Providence for taking good care of us.

They think earthquakes are "great fun" and having your picture taken in an earthquake-stricken house is also great fun.

Happy is childhood, wonderful is youth, bringing to earth again the joy and courage that fade away in old age.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, March 20.—Thoughts while strolling: Who remembers when walnuts were cracked on the bottom of flat irons? Osgood Perkins' name combines Mayfair with a touch of the backwoods. All mirror stocking stores with ravishingly beautiful sales girls. And that hilarious clown, Dr. Rockwell, Thyra Samter Winslow, a Fort Smith, Ark., girl, who made good in the city. Jack Benny, so nonchalant on the stage, looks shy off. The wealthy salesman of advertising blotters who has backed several shows. David Belasco's far away look. A window of frisky wire haired puppies.

Those chunky pugilists with smacked down noses, lumpy ears and thin tenor voices. And who sit in the front row at the Palace on Sunday nights. A musical comedy wants 30 adagio dancers. Rookie "dese, dem and doze" cops. The late Jimmy Hussey coined, "O, Nerts!"

Former "jungle buzzards" who now play the bread lines. And ex-magistrates who used to wear paper hats and pound clappers in the night clubs. German kitchens featuring apple strudel. Associated Writers, Inc. They will write anything, any time on any subject. Hooray!

The Santa Claus types who work in the doll mending shop on Sixth avenue. Judith Anderson. Who remembers the old parlor game "Red Rover?" Grover Whalen without a gardenia. Just a few years ago Jimmy Durante was "Rag Time Jimmy" of the Coney beer halls. Isabella Leighton.

Few artists paint the real American girl so well as McClelland Barclay. They will soon be hanging the screen kitchen doors out yonder. I'm still twittery over that story I heard last night. Three men of high standing in an English village saw a man in the road vanish in thin air.

Maybe they did it with mirrors. Marie Cahill as chipper as a flapper. Knobby dressers in all black. Helen Gould's home is the only brown stone front left on the avenue. Overheard: "She married but I'll catch her on the rebound." What became of rock candy on a string?

Paris ran a temperature this winter over a female impersonator at the Cirque Medrano. He was known as Barbette and come from a whistle stop in Texas—of all places. His entrance was preceded by a band and he appears in a costume composed of 50 pounds of ostrich plumes. He neither sings nor dances, but merely glides gracefully and slowly down a long white carpeted stairway, a la Dolores.

It was interesting to catch a close up of an experiment in Broadway's deftest art—gold digging—at the theater last night. They sat directly in front. He was a heavy lidded yogi of the flesh—bald, fat, phlegmatic. She was a cherry-lipped baby talker—the type who replies to every remark with a simper and a snuggle. In the play appeared a beautiful lady swathed in a gorgeous ermine. "Daddy," cooed the gold-digger, "babykins want pretty coat like booful lady." He pretended not to hear so she repeated. And all through the play she would entreat with such lispings as: "Does babykins get pretty coat?" "Will Daddums make babykins very happy?"—and so on ad nauseum. The happy ending was revealed out front after the play Calling to a member of her glossily bright sisterhood from a limousine she trilled: "I won't be able to see you tomorrow, Mildred. I'm looking at ermine coats." Babykins won. They usually do
